COAL PARLEYS BREAK DOWN

Asks Probe of Plan to Cut Midwest Gas

550,000 SOVIET TROOPS WIPED OUT, NAZIS SAY

Berlin Radio Tells of 4 Battles.

LONDON, June 9 [Wednesday]—(AP).—The Berlin radio last night made an unconfirmed assertion that German forces had "annihilated" 25 Russian infantry and 12 tank divisions totaling about 550,000 men in four great battles in the western Caucasus in the last 45 days.

The tank units first were described as brigades, but later were identified as divisions.

A Trans-Ocean dispatch, recorded by the Associated Press, quoted an unidentified "military spokesman" as asserting that the Russians had battered vainly at the Kuban bridgehead around the Black sea port of Novorossisk in four offensives since April 4.

Tells of Attacks.

Two attacks lasting four days were said to have started April 4 and 11. A 12 day battle was said to have begun April 29 and the fourth drive "which now has ended" opened May 26.

"The Kuban bridgehead is naturally of importance for the Germans as a possible platform for a new German offensive," the broadcast said.

German communiques have reported large soviet attacks in the Kuban from time to time, but nothing to suggest battles of the magnitude described by the Berlin radio.

Two river battles—with the Germans driven across a river on the central front and repulsed at a waterway south of Kharkov—were reported by the Russians early today. The midnight communique recorded by the soviet monitor said German airports and the soviet industrial city of Gorki were pounded again in the aerial war.

In the river battle on the central front, Red army units attacked Nazi forces entrenched on the left bank, and "as a result of the fighting the enemy suffered heavy losses and were thrown back to the right bank of the river," said the communique.

Blast German Airports.

The Germans attacked in the Lisichansk area, 125 miles southeast of Kharkov, attempting to cross the northern Donetz river, but Russian troops wiped out the enemy troops in their boats, the bulletin said.

The Moscow radio said "large forces" of Russian long-range bombers blasted German airports Monday night, successfully bombing "a large number" of German planes, ammunition and fuel dumps.

The broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, said German planes again attempted to raid Gorki, 250 miles east of Moscow. Bombs struck dwellings, and seven enemy bombers were shot down, according to the broadcast.

A MYSTERY OF WAR.

Military observers regard the German claims of a big battle in the Kuban area of the Caucasus as one of the mysteries of the war. The claims have even been branded as absurd by some commentators.

As far back as April 1 the Russians have been announcing successes. On April 29 a German military commentator said the Russians launched their "expected large scale attack" in the Kuban district. On May 1 the Nazis reported 150,000 Red army troops were attacking.

Again on May 28, the Berlin radio said 150,000 Russians had temporarily cracked the German lines in the Kuban area. At no time, however, have the Russians announced they were mounting an offensive.

Try to Draw Parallel.

Some military experts attempted to draw a parallel between the Russian campaign and the battle for Tunisia.

The allies started their final offensive in Tunisia against the axis troops of Col. Gen. Jurgen Von Arnim, the German commander, on April 18. At the same time the Red army was attacking German troops in the Caucasus, according to the Nazis. It was suggested that both attacks may have been timed by the Russians and their allies in North Africa to prevent the Germans from reënforcing their armies fighting in Tunisia and in the Caucasus.

HALLECK RAPS 'MISERY LOVES COMPANY' IDEA

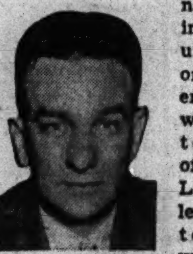
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. Halleck.

Washington, D. C., June 8.—A full investigation by congress into the need, if any, for imposing a pleasure driving ban on middle western motorists was demanded today as the office of Harold L. Ickes, petroleum administrator for war, warned that such a ban may be ordered momentarily.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck [R., Ind.], in a speech on the floor of the house, asserted that, before any action is taken, a thoro inquiry should be made to determine whether lower gasoline rations for the midwest would free any gasoline for eastern motorists. Pleasure driving is now prohibited in 12 eastern states.

Raps "Misery" Idea.

Expressing doubt that any material increase for the east would result from new restrictions in the middle west, Halleck warned that drivers "should not be asked to go along with further curtailments just because misery loves company."

"They [middle western motorists] accepted gasoline rationing in the first place not because of a gasoline shortage, but because they were told rationing was necessary to conserve rubber.

"Would the cutting of the value of gasoline coupons in the middle west or the prohibition of all pleasure driving put any more gasoline in the tanks of eastern drivers?" Halleck asked, "or would the further restrictions merely mean that car drivers in my part of the country would suffer and the eastern driver would not be benefited in the slightest?

"There should be no restrictions imposed on Indiana and other states merely to compel motorists in eastern states not to suffer alone."

[Chicago oil company executives say middle west has plenty of gasoline. Story on page 2.]

Hold Conferences.

A spokesman for Ickes said that conferences are now being held with oil and transportation industry officials to determine how much shipments of oil products to the east could be boosted by slashing midwest rations.

If it is found that deliveries to the east can thus be increased, new restrictions will be ordered immediately for other areas. He predicted that the pleasure driving curb, if imposed, will cover all states east of the Mississippi river.

Gas Output Down.

Latest estimates show, he added, that the output of automobile gasoline is now running about 1⅓ million barrels a day, compared with 2 millions before the war. Shipments of oil products to the east coast were 1,298,000 barrels daily in the week ended May 15, compared with 1,100,000 barrels early this year.

J. R. Parten, transportation director for PAW, yesterday told a group of congressmen that he favors the new ban on the midwest. He estimated, however, that a 25 per cent cut in basic gasoline rations would mean a net gain to the east of only 15,000 barrels a day, or slightly more than 1 per cent of shipments to the east coast states.

Track Down Race Fans.

Springfield, Ill., June 8 (AP).—Estimating that 25 per cent of the automobiles checked at the Fairmount race track near Collinsville were displaying only "A" gasoline stickers, altho they had been issued "B" and "C" supplemental rations, OPA Director Carter Jenkins announced tonight that he would establish hearing commissions "to review violations of the mileage rationing regulations." Use of supplemental—B and C—rations is a violation of OPA regulations.

Jurors Seek More Facts in Chaplin Case

Los Angeles, Cal., June 8 [Special].—Illegal operations and other aspects of the tangled ramifications surrounding the Charlie Chaplin-Joan Berry paternity suit were discussed today by the grand jury which passed a resolution instructing the district attorney to continue his investigation of the entire affair.

At the same time it was disclosed that the white haired comedian's two sons—Charles Jr. and Sid—were questioned Monday in an attempt to shed light on conflicting reports of gun play in the actor's home last December.

Another revelation was District Atty. Fred W. Howser's questioning of Oona O'Neill, 18 year old daughter of Playwright Eugene O'Neill, as the first of a series of film notables to be quizzed regarding the red haired Miss Berry who claims Chaplin is the father of her unborn child.

Prosecutors Confer.

The grand jury's consideration of the case came after Howser had conferred during the morning with Chief Deputy District Atty. Herbert V. Walker, Chief Trial Deputy Daniel Beecher, and Deputy District Atty. Vernon L. Ferguson who represents the district attorney with the inquisitorial body.

Ferguson informed the jury, it was learned, that evidence of a possible criminal nature is not quite complete.

"If the investigation warrants placing the matter before the jury it will be so placed at the next meeting, June 16," Howser said, adding "I want to place it before the jury, if possible."

It was indicated the jury's interest in the case revolved about two assertedly illegal operations mentioned by Miss Berry in her statements to investigators, the handling of the case by Beverly Hills police, and the alleged gunplay in Chaplin's home.

Sons Are Questioned.

Questioning of Chaplin's sons in the latter matter was conducted in the offices of Chaplin's attorney, Loyd Wright, with Phil Tower and Herbert Rissman, district attorney's investigators, present.

The two boys were said to have been in the actor's palatial Benedict canyon home at the time of the incident, but did not see any of the events that occurred.

Two versions of the story include Miss Berry's explanation that she tried to commit suicide and the opposite report that she allegedly threatened Chaplin.

Meanwhile, it was announced that the .25 caliber Spanish-type pistol held by Beverly Hills police was purchased Dec. 22 by Miss Berry from the Hollywood Gun shop.

Hunt for Second Gun.

Towers and Rissman also were working on another report that the 23 year old ex-protégée of the English mimic had bought a similar gun 10 days earlier from the Rosslyn Gun shop. She will be questioned, they said, to see if the report is true and if she still has the weapon in her possession.

Regarding the questioning of Miss O'Neill, who visited the district attorney with her mother, Howser said the mother and daughter identified themselves as "very good friends" of Chaplin but denied knowing anything about his personal affairs with Miss Berry.

Howser said other film notables also will be questioned in connection with the paternity suit instigated by Mrs. Gertrude E. Berry of New York, mother of Miss Berry, in behalf of the child-to-come.

She asks $10,000 for Miss Berry's medical care, $2,500 a month for the support of the infant, and $5,000 to cover costs of the suit. Chaplin denies paternity of the infant.

CHINESE VILLAGERS RAISE $262 TO AID INJURED U. S. FLYER

CHUNGKING, China, June 8 (AP).—Capt. Robert Costello of Los Angeles was given a hero's welcome after his plane was forced down recently near Yuanling in Hunan province, and residents of the town raised 5,000 Chinese dollars [$262] to buy him "comforts," it was announced today.

Costello was injured in a forced landing after a battle with Japanese Zeros in the Ichang area June 2. With other airmen he was patrolling the sky as comrades attacked a retreating Japanese column and troop laden river craft. Costello drew first blood when six Zeros rose to the challenge, downing one.

His gas tank was empty by the time he was back over Hunan province. In the forced landing he suffered bruises. He was taken to Yuanling and placed in a hospital.

A Mystery with an Odor Has a $22,500 Angle

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8 (AP).—The state board of agriculture has its operatives on the scent of a $22,500 mystery. Agents are trailing cows in western Oklahoma, watching them eat. Cream from the cows' milk tastes and smells like good cream should, but when churned into butter it develops an offensive odor. Dairymen suffered an estimated $22,500 loss last month because of the odor.

F. D. R. to Ask Congress for Added Taxes

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—President Roosevelt today announced he will make new and stringent tax recommendations to congress before that body takes a two months' summer recess about July 1.

The move for new, stiff taxes was announced by Mr. Roosevelt as he told his press conference he will sign the pay-as-you-go tax measure, which many members of congress had believed would hold off any attempts to increase income taxes for two years.

The chief executive shied away from any mention of the amount of taxes that he would ask congress to impose. Asked if the 16 billion dollar figure which has been mentioned would be revised upward, he said he could not tell until he gets ready to send a message to congress.

Opposes Sales Tax.

He reiterated his opposition to a tax as a sales tax.

He cited heavy British levies on cigars, cigarets, tobacco, and liquor as an example of excise taxes that should not be classed as a sales tax. British consumption of tobacco has not dropped as a result of the heavy taxes imposed, he said. He added he thought the same is probably true of liquor consumption.

There, he asserted, is an excellent method of closing that tax gap.

Discusses Enforced Savings.

Mr. Roosevelt said that enforced saving might be necessary as well as an increase in taxes. He emphasized that he had no definite program in mind as yet.

The problem is not a new one, he said, as every one realizes we have the gap of increased savings since the war—a gap that causes inflation and increases prices. Too much money in the peolple's hands can only be taken up by enforced savings and taxes.

The details of closing the gap are up to congress, the chief executive said, but the quicker it is closed the better. He indicated that he would merely set the amount needed and let congress devise the means of raising the money.

On the pay-as-you-go tax, Mr. Roosevelt said the treasury has known that he expected to sign the tax bill and has begun preparations to put the 20 per cent withholding tax into effect.

It has been known that the treasury has been studying half a dozen plans for raising additional revenue. The figure most often mentioned as the new tax goal is 16 billion dollars.

Zoot Suit War Grows; Army and Navy Act

Los Angeles, Cal., June 8 [Special].—The zoot suit gang war against the army and navy flared to new heights today with the blackjacking and stabbing of one sailor and the mass pummeling of two others as army, navy, and civilian authorities sought means of stamping out the three day old outbreak.

The navy acted first with a terse order from Rear Adm. D. W. Bagley, commandant of the 11th naval district, declaring the entire city of Los Angeles out of bounds for all the men under his direction. Army men remained barred from the Main street section where most of last night's fighting between service men and zoot suited hoodlums occurred.

Suits Grow Suddenly Rare.

Zoot suits were a rarity on downtown streets tonight as cruising police cars sought for signs of a renewal of the rioting.

Garment designers here described the zoot-suit as a Los Angeles phenomenon, asserting that it had its genesis here about 10 years ago when it was discovered that young Filipinos had a liking for extreme styles in clothes. Altho the vogue did not last long with the Filipinos, young Mexicans and Negroes began to wear the styles and to insist upon increasingly bizarre designs, it was said.

From this demand there evolved the knee length coat with a deep vent in the back, pleats, many buttons, and cuffs on the sleeves. The trousers swelled out to barrage balloon size with the cuffs so small that in some cases zippers were necessary to permit the wearer to get into them.

Resent Pushing Around.

Police explained that the zoot suit, elsewhere merely a garment affected by jive-bitten adolescents, has become here in the last few months a uniform for roving gangs of Mexican-Americans and Negroes from 16 to 25 years old. The flareup between the zoot suiters and soldiers and sailors is attributed to several attempts by zoot suit groups to "push around" lone men in uniform and to molest their girls.

Today's violence began shortly after noon when Donald J. Jackson, 20 years old, and James R. Phelps, 19, sailors, were attacked by an estimated 15 zoot suiters who leaped from automobiles at 1st street and Evergreen avenue.

Jackson was felled with a blackjack and received a five inch knife wound in the abdomen, while Phelps fought his way clear of his assailants and escaped by fleeing. At Georgia Street Receiving hospital it was reported Jackson's condition was serious.

Suspects Rounded Up.

A roundup of suspects by Hollenbeck Heights police was under way when police of the Newton street district got a report that another sailor, D. A. Mainhurst, 21, who had just arrived in the city from San Diego, had been beaten and kicked by a gang of Negro zoot suiters at Central avenue and Olympic boulevard.

Mainhurst said he was waiting to board a bus when about eight men attacked him from behind and be-

BARE LEGGED SALES GIRLS DEBATED IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

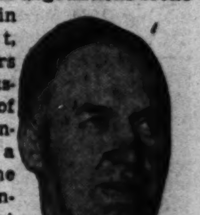
LONDON, June 8.—Whether sales girls could be compelled by their employers to wear stockings came up in the house of commons today in a brief exchange between two labor members and Hugh Dalton, president of the board of trade. Dalton refused to be drawn into such a delicate matter and the question is still to be fought out.

The row started a week ago when officials of the Bourne and Hollingsworth department store forbade their sales girls to come to work bare legged. The girls threatened to walk out and the dispute spread to other stores.

Dalton told commons he was unable to order employers to allow their salesgirls to go stockingless, but hinted that it was their patriotic duty to do so. He pointed out that the British treasury issued a circular two years ago suggesting that government departments set the example by instructing their women that stockings need not be worn.

BOTH SIDES CRY 'FARCE' AT END OF DAY'S TALKS

Lewis Finds Insult in Owners' Stand.



Edward R. Burke.

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Soft coal contract negotiations broke down tonight in disagreement, with operators and miners accusing each other of turning their conference into a "farce" and the operators planning to report failure to the war labor board tomorrow.

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, emerged from an afternoon bargaining session declaring that it was "a farcical proceeding in every way" and "a stultification of collective bargaining."

"The sullen, morose attitude of the operators is an insult to the coal miners and the national interest," he said as he made his way thru reporters with his hat jammed over his eyes and strode from the hotel.

Burke Blames Lewis.

Later, former Sen. Edward R. Burke of Nebraska, president of the Southern Coal Operators' association, said it was "a farcical procedure" because Lewis made it so.

"No attempt was made on the part of the miners to discuss the issues," Burke said. "There was no purpose in having a meeting unless the miners were prepared to make an offer. But they stood fast to their original offer."

Burke said the UMW delegation "went thru the farce of holding a caucus" in the joint conference today. He said Lewis announced that "'the miners would now like to hold a caucus, but don't you gentlemen leave, we'll hold the caucus while you're right here.'

Advise: Avoid WLB.

"They went thru the forms of discussing the operators in the caucus and then Maj. [Percy] Tetlow [of the UMW] formally reported to the chair that the caucus was over and that the miners' advice to the operators was to stay away from the war labor board because no good could come from the war labor board."

Burke said the operators' report to the WLB tomorrow would discuss the case issue by issue and would ask an oral hearing.

"The board asked us for a report on the issues submitted," he said. "We will say that no agreement was made on the issues and that the parties are too far apart to get together thru collective bargaining."

Hold Meet Today.

The operators and miners had been directed by the board to resume negotiations and report back in 15 days. That period expires tomorrow.

The joint wage conference is scheduled to resume at 10 a. m. tomorrow, but participants indicated that the meeting would be held merely in conformity with conference rules. The miners reportedly are unwilling to break off relations formally at this time. Under the rules, no motion can carry if there is a dissenting vote.

During the day there were reports the operators were ready to toss back to the WLB the controversy over pay for underground travel—a step which may lead to WLB settlement of the dispute or a new production stoppage crisis.

UMW May Ignore Order.

Lewis steadfastly has refused to recognize that the board has jurisdiction over the case or to accept orders from it. If the board should take action displeasing to him he and the UMW policy committee may ignore it and make no modification in the work order under which the miners went back to their jobs yesterday after a week's strike.

This order directed that they were to work "up to and including June 20."

On May 25 when the WLB ordered direct negotiations on the question of portal-to-portal pay, Chairman William H. Davis said that if the union and owner representatives could not agree, the board would "try to help them" reach a settlement.

Lewis first demanded $2 a day pay for underground travel, but during the negotiations came forward with an offer to accept $1.50 a day temporarily with a final settlement to be reached after a commission determined the actual time involved in underground travel.

The owners rejected this, but Illinois operators, with some exceptions, have accepted a similar proposition.

The union contends the average travel time is 90 minutes a day. However, a government study of several years ago placed it at 48 minutes. There was speculation that WLB might use this latter figure as a basis for proposing temporary pay rates pending a new study.

Meanwhile, an employé of the bureau of labor statistics said that the loss from recent mine strikes totaled more than 2 million man-days, or more than triple the loss caused by strikes of all kinds in April. His figures covered the period since May 2, when President Roosevelt made his radio appeal to the miners to go back to their jobs.

RE-EMPLOYMENT GROUP PLEADS FOR EXTENSION

Claiming a saving to Illinois taxpayers of $3,400,000 during the two years of its existence, Gov. Green's committee on reëmployment is seeking continuation of legislative authority to carry on its work during the next two years.

Less than half of the original appropriation of $150,000 has been expended by the committee since it began work July 1, 1941, said George Crawley, committee member, and the unexpended balance of the original appropriation will be sufficient to see the committee thru the next two years.

In its two years of work the committee has been instrumental in removing 6,800 persons from state relief rolls and placing them in industry. On the basis of a minimum of $500 paid to each relief recipient, the saving to the state was estimated at $3,400,000.

Crawley pointed out that federal and state employment programs, aimed as they are at pushing war production, help very little in providing employment for those on relief rolls.

WMC PLEDGES AID IN 48 HOUR WORK SCHEDULE

Full assistance of war man power commission facilities to officials of all branches of the steel industry to accelerate adoption of 48 hour work week schedules in the midwest was pledged yesterday by William H. Spencer, WMC director for Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

Spencer ordered copies of new WMC interpretations of the order establishing the 48 hour work week for blast furnaces, steel works, and rolling mills of the iron and steel industry mailed to plant and labor officials.

He explained the new instructions permit regional WMC directors to grant temporary exemptions only for reasons beyond the control of the employer. "Before the regional director shall approve or initiate release schedules," he said, "or before applications for exemptions or for hiring additional workers can be approved, we must consult with representatives of management and the labor union which has been recognized as the collective bargaining agency in the establishment."

OPA PENALIZES GAS DEALER FOR IGNORING RATION

W. M. McFarland, regional chief hearing commissioner for the office of price administration, yesterday tentatively suspended for 60 days the license of Saul Weiner, operator of a gasoline filling station at 629 West Lake street, to deal in rationed commodities. Weiner was charged with selling 30 pounds of butter without ration coupons and of delivering gasoline without coupons.

The suspension order becomes effective July 1. Meanwhile, Weiner will be permitted to request a stay if he can demonstrate to the commissioner that he will collect ration coupons from the trucking companies he services.

Weiner told McFarland that some of his customers have refused to coöperate in surrendering gas ration coupons. He explained the butter sales as an expedient to dispose of some excess butter he had left over after purchases for his family.

STEAL $350 FROM CLEANERS.

Burglars broke into the office of the Gragg rug cleaners, 915 East 75th street, yesterday, and stole $350 in cash and $435 in checks, according to a report made to police by Raymond Gragg, company owner.

PUT OFF ACTION ON COMPROMISE ANTI-STRIKE BILL

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Senate and house conferees, bogged down two days over disputed terms of anti-strike legislation, tonight deferred action on a suggested compromise eliminating provisions for a secret ballot and a 30 day "cooling off" period before walkouts could be ordered.

In exchange for house withdrawal of those provisions, the senators may decide to accept a requirement that all labor unions register with the national labor relations board and file financial statements, as well as a ban against political contributions by unions.

Senators oppose the "cooling off" and strike vote requirements on the theory that they might be interpreted as giving sanction to strikes in government operated war plants or mines.

House conferees have accepted virtually all the senate bill sponsored by Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], including a provision for a fine or imprisonment for any person who instigates or aids in interrupting production in any plant taken over by the government, or any one who abets or encourages another in instigating a strike.

LAUNDRY LABOR PROBLEM GROWS IN CHICAGO AREA

Labor shortages in Chicago area laundries threaten the supply of sanitary cleaning facilities for most of the area's 800,000 war workers and their families, John T. Toomey, secretary of the Chicago Laundry Owners' association, said yesterday. He added that the government may have to take some measures to provide workers for laundries because of the continued drain of labor to other industries.

Laundry owners, according to Toomey, are utilizing every means of augmenting their present inadequate labor force by hiring boys, older persons and handicapped workers. Recent hot weather, he added, created a wave of absenteeism in the laundries, forcing some plants to fall as much as two weeks behind schedule.

One hundred thirty-five plants normally employ 12,000 persons and do 85 per cent of business, but the labor force has dwindled to 8,000 in the face of a 25 per cent gain in volume.

House Committee Kills Share-the-Tax Measure

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—By a vote of 15 to 9, the Illinois house revenue committee today put a "do not pass" label on the bill to rebate 25 per cent of state sales tax collections to the county governments. The counties, in turn, would have been required to reduce their real estate levies by like amounts. Observers agree that the bill is virtually dead.

ILLINOIS MINE UNION DEMANDS INQUIRY ON WLB

Congress Asked to Act; Bias Is Charged.

As negotiations began yesterday on a new wage contract for 23,000 Illinois miners, the scale and policy committee of the United Workers of America, district 12, issued a statement demanding a congressional investigation of the war labor board.

At the same time, Ray Edmundson, state UMWA president, disclosed that parleys leading up to the agreement for an Illinois wage increase, announced Monday, were conducted with the utmost secrecy to avoid a countermove by the labor board to block the agreement.

Wary of Telephones.

"The miners and operators did not use the telephone at any time in conducting the negotiations," Edmundson said. "We have learned from experience that, whenever we conduct any telephone discussion with union officials in the east, our discussion is followed in a few hours by some statement or countermove by the war labor board."

The committee's statement assailing the WLB charged that the members of the board had prejudged the issues involved in the mine workers' demands.

Charges WLB Disqualified.

"They have disqualified themselves as being fair and impartial and therefore have served their usefulness insofar as impartial representatives of government is concerned," the statement continued.

The joint conference of UMWA officials and heads of the Illinois Coal Operators' association held a brief organization meeting yesterday in the operators' office at 307 North Michigan avenue. Edmundson was elected permanent chairman and Fred S. Wilkey, secretary of the operators' association, was named permanent secretary. The group will resume its session this afternoon in the Union League club.

Portal Pay Agreed On.

The Illinois miners and coal producers have agreed on a portal to portal pay of $1.50 a day, which would give the miners $42.50 for a 5 day, 35 hour week, or $54.50 for a 6 day week, at the basic rate of $7 daily and time and a half for Saturdays.

This would be retroactive to April 1. Edmundson estimated that if back pay were distributed now, on the basis of the new agreement and other recent concessions, the Illinois miners would receive more than 2½ million dollars.

The mine union chief said the question of whether Illinois miners would continue work after the June 20 truce deadline set by John L. Lewis, head of the UMWA, would be decided by the union's national policy committee, but he indicated the Illinois workers would not resume the strike as long as negotiations with the operators were under way.

Work Conditions the Issue.

A spokesman for the operators said that with the portal to portal pay agreed upon, the only issues remaining to be threshed out were local working conditions.

In Terre Haute, Ind., Louis Austin, president of district 11 of the UMWA, said his group had sent a proposal to the Indiana Coal Operators' association for a new contract based on the Illinois formula of $1.50 daily portal to portal pay. Harvey Cartwright, commissioner of the operators' association, said his group was not yet ready to comment on possible negotiations.

OAK PARK DEFEATS BOOST IN TAXES TO RAISE EMPLOYES' PAY

Oak Park voters, in a special election yesterday, defeated, 4,017 to 1,516, a proposition to increase village taxes to provide a 10 per cent pay increase for 300 village employés, including police and firemen.

The proposal was to increase the tax from 66⅔ to 87½ cents per $100 of assessed property valuation. A campaign for the measure, launched at a massmeeting April 6, was supported by many civic organizations.

Robert McMaster, president of the village board, said he was astonished that the proposition was defeated. He said he feared Oak Park would be unable to keep employés in low pay brackets, and warned that it might become necessary to charge residents for garbage collection service.

OIL EXECUTIVES RAP GAS RATION SUFFERING PLAN

Call on Congressmen to Wake Up.

Chicago oil company executives yesterday sharply criticized the reported plan to impose further restrictions on automobile driving in the middle west. There is plenty of gasoline in the middle west, they said, and the only reason for more curtailments would be to make the middle west suffer just because the east is suffering on account of lack of transportation facilities.

If further restrictions are imposed, said the Chicago oil men, who because of fear of refusals by the New Deal against their companies refused to allow use of their names, it will be because the middle west's representatives in congress are not a match for the easterners.

East Puts on Pressure.

"The eastern congressmen, because of the pressure their constituents are putting on them, are crying about the 'inequality of sacrifice' which exists in the middle west,' one company official said. "The politicians are anxious to ease the pressure on themselves by having middle westerners suffer, too."

"There is plenty of gasoline in this part of the country," he added. "We are shipping all we can. All the gasoline required for military use abroad is being shipped to the full extent of available facilities."

Plenty of Auto Gas.

"Production of high octane gasoline for aviation use does not greatly affect the supply of the ordinary grades used in automobile engines," he explained. "One is a by-product of the other and you can't make one without getting the other.

"It's like taking a sirloin steak out of a steer. When you take out the sirloin steak, you have the rest of the beef in the steer. Likewise, when you take the high octane gasoline out of a barrel of oil, you still have the other constituents, including the ordinary gasoline."

Another official of a large company said that there is plenty of gasoline in the middle west. He recalled that the original restrictions were imposed for the avowed purpose of saving rubber.

GENERAL LEAPS BY PARACHUTE IN WAR MANEUVERS

Accompanies Paratroops in Mimic Attack.

BY HAROLD SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Field Headquarters, 2d Army, Lebanon, Tenn., June 8.—A general and his chief of staff dropped from the skies with several hundred of their paratroopers today to inspect at close range the absorption of lessons being taught in the 2d army maneuvers here. They expressed high satisfaction with what they saw.

The high officers who shared with their toughened men the long leap from high planes are Maj. Gen. W. C. Lee, commander of the air borne troops participating in the problem, and Col. E. D. Raff.

Both are experienced parachutists. It was Gen. Lee's seventh jump and Col. Raff's 25th. Col. Raff commanded the American paratrooper raids in North Africa last year, one at Oran on Nov. 8 and the other at Youks Les Bains on Nov. 15. Jack Thompson, Chicago Tribune correspondent, made the latter leap with Col. Raff's forces.

Two Units Dropped.

Gen. Lee turned his command over to a fellow staff officer and made the leap as an observer, which gave him immunity from capture in the parachuters' raid on "enemy" forces.

The air borne units were dropped in two groups of several hundred each far behind their opponents' lines to bedevil a large detachment of retreating Red troops trying to rejoin their mythical main force north of the Cumberland river.

The first group dropped during the morning and a second battalion spilled from their carriers shortly after noon. They carried food and ammunition to last them several hours. Late in the day gliders carried replenishments.

Casualties among the parachute fighters were surprisingly few, being confined almost entirely to such slight injuries as turned ankles and scratches from branches of trees thru which some of them plunged.

One enterprising paratrooper tried vainly to manipulate his shroud lines so he would drop onto an inviting haystack but, as he disgustedly explained later, "I landed 10 feet away like a sack of potatoes."

Shortly after they landed the paratroopers organized into a formidable harassing force that darted thither and yon "destroying" bridges, capturing 41 Red vehicles, and otherwise making trouble for Red troops.

N.Y. JUDGE CALLS IT CRIMINAL TO BE COMMUNIST

Jerome Davis Jury Cited High Court Ruling.

New York, June 8 [Special].—Supreme Court Justice John F. Carew, entrusting the $250,000 Jerome Davis libel suit to the jury, today declared that it is a crime under the laws of New York state and the United States to be a Communist. He said "no man has a right to be a Communist."

The justice asserted that this view had been upheld by the court of appeals, the state's highest tribunal, in the conviction of Ben Gitlow, former Communist leader, and by the United States Supreme court. He maintained his stand despite defense objections.

The jury of seven women and five men took the case late today after a trial which began May 13. An hour after giving the case to the jury, Justice Carew ordered a sealed verdict to be opened tomorrow morning.

Suing Publishing Company.

Dr. Davis, former president of the American Federation of Teachers, charges he was falsely portrayed as a Communist by the Curtis Publishing company and Benjamin Stolberg, writer.

The justice defined Communism as an effort to overthrow the government. He said that up to 1940 the American Communist party was an agency of Russia.

He read sections 160 and 161 of the state penal law, making criminal anarchy a felony, and section 5, title 18, of the United States criminal code, forbidding correspondence with a foreign government.

Justice Carew told the jury that his ruling allowing a $100,000 increase in damages requested during the trial should not be taken to indicate "any suggestion of intimation on my part that you should give damages."

Demands $250,000 Damages.

Earlier, Arthur Garfield Hays, Davis' counsel, demanded full damages of $250,000 as a "public service," and cited 14 instances in which, he said, Dr. Davis differed from the Communist party line.

He declared "every Communist I know follows the party line on everything" and said Davis veered from that ideological path in his religious life, his opposition to violence, advocacy of the Ludlow peace referendum, appeal for pardon of Fred Beal, resignation from the league of peace and democracy, membership in the league for industrial democracy, support of President Roosevelt from 1932 on, opposition to the Russo-German pact, support of civil liberties, and writings attacking aspects of the soviet régime.

"Invited to White House."

Hays displayed huge charts in his summation, listing Dr. Davis' labor activities, his employers, and former associates. One point read: "Invited to White House frequently. Mrs. Roosevelt came to New Haven [Conn.] to speak at his invitation."

[Dr. Davis is a former faculty member of Yale university at New Haven.]

Hays said Davis now is director of war prisoner work in Canada.

"That means," the lawyer said, "that he has been investigated by the federal bureau of investigation—and you know, when the FBI is thru, if he had been a Communist, he would never have been recommended for war work."

Annapolis, Md., June 8 (AP).—Miss Marilyn Sandquist, 18 years old, of Chicago, proclaimed the United States naval academy's 16th company the "color company" at one of the more spectacular ceremonies of June week today.

Miss Sandquist, the academy "Color Girl" during commencement week activities, honored the company commanded by Midshipman George Frederick Jubb of Corpus Christi, Tex., for its triumph during intercompany drills held during the past year.

The color girl traditionally kisses the commander of the winning company, but Miss Sandquist did not kiss Jubb, who chose her to be color girl.

Miss Sandquist is the daughter of State Representative and Mrs. Elroy C. Sandquist Sr. of 4239 North Whipple street, Chicago. Her brother is Midshipman Elroy Charles Sandquist Jr., also a member of this year's graduating class.

U. S. AND LIBERIA SIGN AGREEMENT ON LEND-LEASE

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—A lend-lease agreement between the United States and the Negro republic of Liberia in West Africa was signed today in New York city, the state department announced.

The agreement "on the principles applying to mutual aid in their common defense" was signed by Henry Serrano Villard, special representative of the United States, and Walter F. Walker, Liberian consul general in New York in the presence of President Edwin Barclay and President-elect William V. S. Tubman of Liberia.

An exchange of notes which accompanied the agreement confirmed the understanding of the two governments that the agreement carries out general principles concerning defense areas in Liberia on which the governments agreed at Monrovia on March 31, 1942.

SECRET MISSION TALKS POST-WAR RUBBER POLICIES

Discusses Past Sources in London Visit.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—America has a secret rubber mission in London, it was learned today, discussing what is to be done with the British and Dutch plantations in the western Pacific after the Japanese are driven from this former source of 90 per cent of the world's rubber.

The mission is headed by T. Ross Cissell Jr., assistant chief of the defense materials division of the department of state. Rubber, a factor in international economic and political acrimony for a generation before the war, is still a diplomatic problem, especially among the post-war planners.

Bicknell Also in Party.

Also in the party is John W. Bicknell, vice president of the Rubber Development corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation which has been spending undisclosed millions in stimulating wild rubber production in Latin America. Vice President Henry A. Wallace has encouraged this jungle boom as part of his program for a quart of milk a day for every one in the world.

Others in the mission include Harry Ryan and Richard Myer of Rubber Director William M. Jeffers' office which is developing an 800 million dollar synthetic industry in America with a production capacity greater than peace time consumption in this country.

The British-Dutch rubber interests still lie in their former Pacific colonies. The plantations, worked by 14 cent a day native subjects, produced a crop that was marketed by an international cartel that controled world prices. America, as the main customer, was the chief victim of periodic price inflation.

Objectives Not Disclosed.

The appointment and departure of the American mission were unannounced. After its existence was learned by chance reporters were unable to learn of its objectives except that they were not to be made public.

Jeffers has told congressional committees that the synthetic rubber industry is here to stay. At present he is on an inspection tour of synthetic plants.

One of his associates speculated that British and Dutch rubber interests cannot hope for a return of pre-war conditions. Some officials of companies making synthetic rubber believe that synthetics, produced under healthful conditions by well paid workmen, can compete economically with the plantation production of low paid labor.

PROBE WEDDING OF CHILD, 12, TO MARRYING JUDGE

St. Louis, Mo., June 8 (AP).—The marriage of 12 year old Genevieve Marie Boschert and George R. Hart, 46, former justice of the peace who claims he performed 72,000 wedding ceremonies, was under investigation today in Missouri and Illinois.

An affidavit obtained in Illinois was the basis on which a license was issued in Boonville, Mo., for the April 20 midnight marriage at Sedalia, Mo.

The affidavit set forth Miss Boschert was 18. It was executed April 5 before Mrs. Mather R. Luly, Alton, Ill., notary public. State's Atty. C. W. Burton of Madison county said he would investigate execution of the affidavit.

Missouri statutes prohibit issuance of a marriage license to any one under 16 without a court order.

Mine Strikes in 6 Months Cost British 213,990 Tons

LONDON, June 8.—In six months, Nov. 1, 1942, to May 1, 1943, there were 308 work stoppages in British coal mines causing the loss in the output of much needed coal for war industries of 213,990 tons, according to figures given in the house of commons today by Maj. Lloyd George, minister of fuel and power. He said the majority of the stoppages were due to labor disputes in Scotland and lasted one day or less.

BILLS ADVANCED TO CREATE NEW REVENUE AGENCY

Phil Collins Slated to Be Its Chief.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—Bills to create a state department of revenue, with Phil W. Collins of Chicago slated as director, were reported out to the floor of the house today by the committee on efficiency and economy after Democrats failed to break up the meeting by questioning presence of a quorum.

Democrats are suspicious of the powers to be invested in the new agency which will take tax collection duties from the finance department headed by George B. McKibbin.

Collins is conceded by all sources to have the support of Gov. Dwight H. Green for the $6,000 job. One of the so-called "kingmakers" in American Legion politics, he is considered a member of a bipartisan Legion group which has obtained great benefits. When Edward J. Barrett, Democrat, was state auditor, Collins got the bonding business of the office.

Close to Stelle.

Collins also is close to Former Gov. John Stelle, Democrat. He has been associated for many years with Col. Frank L. Smith of Dwight, whom the United States senate refused to seat on grounds that Smith got campaign contributions from Samuel Insull while he was chairman of the state commerce commission.

One power of the revenue department would be to subpena witnesses and documents "pertinent to any tax assessment, levy, excise, investigation, inquiry, or hearing." Another power is to examine records in any local taxing body and to require information of local officials.

Collection powers would include the sales tax, public utility tax, liquor tax, cigaret tax, motor fuel tax, and oil production tax. There is to be a $6,800,000 appropriation to run the department.

Explained by McKibbin.

Finance Director McKibbin told the committee that the new department would not have any powers not already possessed by his department and the state tax commission, which is to be abolished.

"What are you going to do with the tax commission members?" Rep. George Brydia [R., Prophetstown] asked.

"They will be legislated out of office," McKibben said. "We will have one director at $6,000 instead of three commissioners at $5,100 each."

Collins is now commission chairman. Other members are Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator in 1938, and Paul C. Rosenquist of Rockford.

"The sole purpose is to divide the finance department and to integrate collection functions with those of the tax commission," McKibbin said. "When the finance department was created, practically all state revenue came from the property tax. It has grown tremendously."

Total appropriations for both revenue and finance departments will be $200,000 less than the finance department expenses for the current biennium, he said.

Rep. John Kuklinski [D., Chicago] twice raised the question of a quorum, but there were Republican committee members outside who dashed in to give the meeting the required size. Vote on the bills was 7 to 1 in favor, all G. O. P. members voting for them.

Oppose Carbondale Expansion.

An attempt to stop the bill to expand the teachers' college at Carbondale was beaten down, 16 to 12, in the house education committee. Already passed by the senate, the bill would authorize the school to give degrees in any courses except law, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, engineering, or agriculture.

Dr. Arthur J. Klein, dean of the college of education of Ohio State university, warned the committee that other states have become entangled in almost insoluble difficulties because of having rival state universities. Careful planning on a statewide basis should precede any move such as that being made by southern Illinoisans, he said.

Veterans Fund Fails.

Not enough votes could be rounded up to adopt the Gorman resolution to lower voting age from 21 to 18. As a measure to submit to a referendum a proposed constitutional amendment, it required 102 votes. The resolution won a moral victory, 79 to 47, that did not follow party lines.

Rep. Thomas A. Bolger [D., McHenry] failed in his attempt to discharge the executive committee from further consideration of his bill requiring that 25 per cent of the sales tax receipts be frozen in a special veterans' compensation fund. He fell six short of the 77 votes needed to carry his motion.

Sponsored by the five Negro house members, a bill to ban restrictive covenants in real estate transactions remained in a subcommittee today despite a fight to place it on the calendar. The vote was 66 to 36 in favor of discharging the committee, but the motion required 77 votes to be successful.

FLYER WHO WON DFC FOR BOMBING TOKIO RECEIVES AIR MEDAL

Capt. Knobloch.

Capt. Richard A. Knobloch, son of William F. Knobloch, post chief operating engineer at Fort Sheridan, who won the distinguished flying cross for participation in the Doolittle bombing raid on Tokio, now has received the air medal after 25 bombing missions over Burma, according to a letter received yesterday by his parents. The Chinese government also decorated him for distinguished service last October.

On May 27, Mr. and Mrs. Knobloch received a letter written 20 days earlier from somewhere in India, where their son has been stationed for a year. The day they received the letter was also their son's 25th birthday.

Capt. Knobloch told his parents in the birthday letter that he had been flying Lt. Gen. Joseph Stilwell and Chiang Kai-Shek, whom he described as "the two old men," over the battle lines and that on one mission with a twin-engine bomber he and his bombardier destroyed a railroad bridge in northwest Burma to cut the single Japanese line of communication.

APPROVE PEGGED LEVY BILL FOR PARK DISTRICT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—A bill to make permanent a Chicago park district pegged levy of 10½ million dollars a year was recommended for passage tonight by the senate committee on municipalities. Absence of several Republican members gave the Democrats a committee majority.

Robert J. Dunham, park district president said that about 2 million a year had been lost to the park district, in effect, by cessation of the works projects administration. Higher costs meanwhile have increased expenses he said.

Douglas Sutherland of the Civic federation told the committee that the pegged levy should be cut to 9 million a year.

HOOVER URGES ARMY LEND FARM BOYS TO FARMS

Part of Plan to Boost 1944 Plantings.

New York, June 8 [Special].—Former President Herbert Hoover proposed tonight that farm boys be sent back to the farms in army uniforms as part of a plan to boost 1944 plantings by 40 to 50 million acres over this year.

In an address before a meeting of the American Farm Bureau federation at Hotel New Yorker the food administrator of World war I. advanced a definite nine point program for victory on the food front. His address was broadcast over a nationwide hookup.

Key points in Hoover's program were abolition of retail and wholesale price ceilings, simplification of rationing, provision for adequate farm machinery production and the fixing of prices at the farms thru collective bargaining with a war committee on prices appointed by the farmers themselves.

Asks End of Parities.

The former President called for abandonment of "parities" and for suspension for the duration of "left wing reforms in our food economy." He denounced the current trend toward the use of subsidies to bolster the price structure, asserting that subsidies not only add to inflation pressure but operate to strangle production.

In regard to the performance of farm work by men in uniform Hoover said that adequate food production in 1944 is dependent upon increasing farm man power to a higher level than before the war.

"Public pressure upon our farm boys to join the forces is very great," he said. "They are not slackers and do not want to be called slackers. They do not want their gates painted yellow. They are doing a great and an indispensable service.

Great National Reserve.

"If we are to save the situation, I believe farm boys should be called to the army from the farms immediately after this harvest; that the farm boys should be called up from industry; that they should be given some military training. Then as many of them as necessary should from time to time be ordered back to the farms with their uniforms."

Such a body of men, Hoover said, would constitute a great national reserve both for the production of food and the direct military effort. While working on the farms, he said, they should be paid by the farms.

Suppression of the manufacture of farm machinery has theoretically used up one-twelfth of our supply, Hoover said, basing his figure on an estimate that agricultural machinery lasts about 12 years. This must be replaced and there must be large additions to make possible the cultivation of increased acreage, he declared.

Denounces Price System.

"Price fixing in a great food producing country must begin as near as possible to the farmer and controls proceed from there on by regulation of the trades against profiteering," he said. "We must regulate the flow of water at the nozzle instead of chasing the drops from the shower."

He said that under such a price control system food prices rose only 17.9 per cent in the 17 months after we declared war in 1917, whereas the present system has permitted in the 17 months since Pearl Harbor an increase admitted by Washington statistics to be 24.3 per cent.

"The housewives will admit a rise of at least 35 per cent," he added.

Hoover contrasted optimistic statements from Washington regarding food production with newspaper headlines from all parts of the nation reporting shortages and black markets.

Hoover said we and our allies were saved from a food disaster this year by the bumper crop of 1942, but that prospects for 1943 are for a normal rather than a bumper yield. In order to match last year's production we would have had to increase plantings by 15 per cent, he said.

Doubts Bumper '43 Crop.

Altho government surveys have predicted about a 4 per cent increase in acreage this year, Hoover said his independent view, based on a canvass of agricultural authorities in leading farm states, is that even this increase will not materialize. He predicted a drop of 10 to 15 per cent in the national grain crops under 1942.

Recovery of acreage taken out of production in the last several years by government restriction is essential to meeting our own and the world's food needs, he said. Between 1932 and 1939 acreage in 17 leading crops was reduced by 47 million acres, and by 1942 only 9 of these 47 million lost acres were back in production, he asserted.

"We have increased our flocks and herds beyond our ability to feed them without the lost 47 million acres," he said. "The agricultural experts are estimating a shortage of 10 to 15 per cent in full supply of feed for our animals during the next year.

"We can get some food from Canada, but it appears that we'll have about exhausted the surplus of feed of the whole North American continent during the next 12 months. Already we are feeding large amounts of wheat to our live stock and we are using it for industrial alcohol. By this time next year we will have little surplus of bread grains beyond our own needs.

Farmers Not to Blame.

"Thus our supply of food is declining while at the same time our demand is dangerously rising. And these decreases cannot be blamed upon the floods which have destroyed less than ½ of 1 per cent, nor upon the weather, for that promises about normal crops. Nor can they be blamed upon the farmer."

Hoover said American farmers have done a heroic job in planting the 1943 crop with little help, asserting that an agricultural army of 3,500,000 city folk promised last January has not yet arrived on the food front.

Summing up his conclusions regarding the food situation between the present time and the 1944 harvest, Hoover said that our cities will have less food supply during the next winter and spring "even than they had in the last few months."

He declared that "we will not starve," and that "we can, by better organization and by tightening our belts, continue to feed our allies," but added that if the war in Europe should come to an end within the next 12 months we will have no consequential food supplies with which to meet the needs of 3 or 4 hundred million starving people.

Asserting that remedy during the 1943 harvest year is now impossible because the planting is mostly done, he said that we must begin now to build up the harvest of a year from now.

Hoover said we must realize that our food shortage will last for a minimum of four and possibly six years.

Organizing the food front means far more than just increasing acreage, man power, and farm machinery, because it also requires wise coördination of prices, of processors, of distributors and rationing, he said.

Must End Obsolete Methods.

"There is only one course which will clear up this muddle of uncontroled food prices, local famines, profiteering, black markets, and stifled farm production," he declared. "That is to abandon the obsolete methods now in use which were proved a failure in other nations in the last war, or are copied from the British whose situation is wholly different from ours.

"We should start with the system which proved a success under the Americans in the last war and improve it."

Regarding the food situation in the last war, Hoover said:

"We steadily increased our food production. We shipped more food to our allies monthly than is being shipped today. We had no local famines in the United States as we are having now. We had no black markets. We had a people zealous in a moral crusade to help win the war with food instead of lots of people trying to beat the game."

"Too Little and Too Late."

Efforts of the government to increase food production were described by Hoover as "too little and too late." These included the deferring of some farm workers from the draft and authorization of a modest increase in farm machinery.

Decentralization of authority over food production and distribution was deplored by Hoover, who said nine agencies now share powers which should be concentrated in the office of the secretary of agriculture.

"There are too many cooks for too little food," he said.

57 FEWER TONS OF PAPER USED IN PHONE BOOK

Despite the fact that 25,000 new listings have been entered in the new Chicago alphabetical telephone directory, streamlining of the book has resulted in a saving of 57 tons of paper, officials of the Illinois Bell Telephone company announced yesterday. The new book contains 790,000 listings.

By eliminating running headlines at the top of pages, 10 listings have been added to each page, thereby saving 32 pages in each directory.

The company has requested subscribers to examine their old directories carefully before they are taken up to make certain no war bonds or other valuable papers have been left in them.

CALLS SUBSIDY PLAN PERIL TO FOOD INDUSTRY

Predicts Break Down in Distribution.

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Fresh vegetables were put next on the list for price rollbacks today while some congressmen were attacking the whole theory of food subsidies and representatives of grocery interests were telling a congressional committee that OPA regulations already in force threaten to "break down" the country's food distribution system.

Shirley Haas, general manager of the Ohio Valley Grocery company, testified before the house small business committee that if the purpose of the office of price administration is to "break down the food distribution system of this country," it has "certainly made lightning speed in that direction."

Appears Foe of Business.

"Do you consider OPA the enemy of American business?" asked Rep. Walter C. Ploeser [R., Mo.].

"It's certainly taken on that complexion, sir," Haas answered.

Meanwhile a spokesman for livestock and meat organizations announced that he had had no success in persuading Economic Stabilization Director Fred Vinson to block a 10 per cent rollback of meat prices already ordered into effect by means of producer subsidies.

Judge Joe Montague of Fort Worth, Tex., carried the protest to the OES chief, but said he was informed the subsidy would go into effect as planned.

Vegetable Plan Revealed.

The vegetable price plan came out in a hearing before the senate banking committee, which was inquiring into how far the OPA planned to go in rolling back food prices. Retail butter prices are due to drop about 5 cents a pound this week under a subsidy plan, and subsidies of 2 cents a pound on dressed carcasses, intended to compensate producers for an average retail reduction of 3 cents in retail meat prices in a few weeks, began yesterday. Coffee is also on the list for a retail price cut.

Richard Gilbert, economic adviser to Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown, told the committee regulations for additional rollbacks were being drafted, with vegetables next in line. He said the vegetable project included no subsidy plans to compensate producers.

Taft Disputes Theory.

General effectiveness of the OPA and the whole theory of subsidies and price rollbacks were attacked by senators in the banking committee hearing, but Gilbert retorted that the nation is faced with the threat of a rise of 2 to 5 per cent a month in living costs. He asserted that OPA proposed to use subsidies "only enough to get the production we ought to have and to stabilize the cost of living."

"If we don't roll back the cost of living," the economist added, "we'll have to permit compensating increases in wage rates."

"I don't see that at all," protested Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.]. "That's all statistics—not facts."

Still another committee inquiring into prices heard a defense of the OPA program as "at last beginning to show its muscle" in the rollback.

Donald Montgomery, consumer counsel for the United Automobile Workers, and Jack S. Zucker, Washington representative of the United Shoe Workers, another CIO union, told a senate agriculture subcommittee that opposition in congress to food subsidies is blocking the President's stabilization program.

Benjamin Marsh, executive secretary of the People's Lobby, Inc., told the agriculture committeemen that congress created OPA, gave it an impossible task, curtailed its powers, and "is now trying to blame OPA for the stupidity or cupidity, or both, of congress."

SEN. BANKHEAD LOSES NEW FIGHT ON FARM CEILING LIMITATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—A new effort by Sen. John Bankhead [D., Ala.] to bar the inclusion of benefit payments in figuring farm price ceilings failed today as the senate considered an 821 million dollar agriculture department appropriation bill.

Majority Leader Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.] was sustained on an objection to Bankhead's amendment, which would have provided that no soil conservation payments made under the bill could be considered part of prices received by farmers. McNary called the amendment an attempt to legislate in an appropriation bill.

Bankhead said he would move tomorrow for a suspension of the rules to consider his amendment. President Roosevelt sent a veto message to congress April 2 on a bill by Bankhead to forbid the deduction of parity and soil conservation payments.

Earlier today, the senate voted 49 to 20 to boost the soil conservation appropriation from 300 to 400 million dollars.

OPA CALLS FOOD DEALERS' MEET OVER MARKUPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The office of price administration, giving heed to growing criticism of its attempts to control food prices, today invited more than 50 food wholesalers and retailers to a capital conference June 15 and 16 to discuss overall revisions of its regulations.

Officials said special attention will be given to current orders fixing markups for canned fruits and vegetables. These markups have been criticized by grocers' organizations as being so low that many merchants are threatened with extinction.

Among those invited from the Chicago area are A. U. Hunt of the Jewel Tea company, Barrington, Ill.; Sherman Sexton of John Sexton & Co., Chicago wholesalers, and J. Frank Grimes, Chicago wholesaler.

GLOOMY PICTURE OF DIET OUTLOOK PAINTED BY U. S.

Milk, Egg, Potato, Fish Shortages Seen.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—A warning that unless crop prospects improve measurably during the next two months, civilians must expect further restrictions on their diets was given today by the department of agriculture.

Shortages of milk, eggs, potatoes, fish, and poultry and most other unrationed products next fall appear inevitable, the department reported in its regular monthly summary of the national food situation.

It observed that present crop prospects indicate there won't be sufficient live stock feed produced this year to meet all requirements and government restrictions on meat production by the end of 1943 are in prospect.

Vegetable Crops Off.

Commercial production of early vegetables this season is running about 13 per cent below last year, it said. The production of soft deciduous fruits [apricots, cherries, peaches, plums, and prunes] is expected to be "materially smaller" than in 1942 as a result of winter and spring freezes, it reported.

Only two optimistic comments appeared in the entire report. One was the opening statement that "stocks of most rationed foods, together with prospective production, probably will be adequate to maintain the present level of consumption until the end of this year." The other was the report that "the outlook for farm labor, equipment, and supplies continues to improve. If present labor programs are fully realized, farm production in 1943 may not suffer from lack of labor as much as had been feared earlier," the department said.

See Greater Rationing.

The statement that reserve supplies of unrationed commodities are low and the situation "is less favorable with respect to the outlook for supplies later this year," raised speculation over the possibility of an extension of rationing to milk, eggs, potatoes, and vegetables.

It is known that the department of agriculture has asked the office of price administration for egg rationing as soon as a rationing program can be worked out. Development of such a program, however, involves almost insurmountable obstacles, agriculture officials have reported, because it would be almost impossible to control all sources of supply.

All major dairy products, except fluid milk, already are rationed and it is known that war food administration officials want milk rationing.

PAPER MAILERS SEVER TIES WITH PRINTERS UNION

Cincinnati, O., June 8 (AP).—The Mailers' Trade District union, claiming representation of 6,500 newspaper mailers thruout the nation, today severed its 44 year affiliation with the International Typographical union and set up its own temporary international mailers' union.

Delegates from 31 of 86 locals were present here at a special convention authorized by the group last year at Colorado Spring, Colo.

Thomas J. Martin, Cleveland, O., president of the M. T. D. U. and third vice president of the I. T. U., said mailers had been "dissatisfied with their status as subordinates." Walter Wiseman, president of the Cincinnati local, was selected temporary chairman of the new union.

JAP YIELDS ONLY TO U. S. BAYONET, WRITER FINDS

[Eugene Burns, Associated Press correspondent with American troops who wrested Attu in the Aleutians from the Japanese, sizes up the Jap fighting man in the following account.]

BY EUGENE BURNS.

Seattle, Wash., June 2 [Delayed]—(AP).—I'm scared of the Jap. After flying more than 25,000 miles in 15 days over and around Attu and landing at both the Massacre and Holtz bays fronts, I am convinced the Jap is the toughest foe in the world. The Nazi doesn't come any tougher.

Essentially, Attu was the easiest Jap-held or Jap-owned island in the Pacific we will ever take away from him. It took us, with overwhelming force, three weeks—and yet the Jap is fighting in the hills to the last man. Kiska, where the Japs are about 5 to 10 times as strong, will be harder.

Doubts Japs Will Fold.

Many strategists have said "the Japs will fold up in six months once we have unquestioned air superiority and have sunk the Jap fleet."

It Attu is an example, that is buncombe.

At Attu we had the air and we had the sea, and with fog helping, an unopposed landing. That will not happen often.

Air superiority is not enough to beat the Jap. Both Kiska and Attu have been pounded unmercifully. It did not deter the Jap at Attu and it does not seem faze him at Kiska. He still is digging in.

Naval superiority is not enough. We had the sea to ourselves except for a few submarines.

At Attu the Jap was whipped at the point of the bayonet.

Only Two Prisoners Taken.

When I left Holtz, May 22, two Jap prisoners had been taken. Even with Chichagof in our hands today the Jap is fighting in isolated outposts. Is there anywhere a possibility of a mass Jap surrender as at Tunisia?

Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner Jr., head of the Alaska defense command, told me:

"The Japs are tough. We must take a corkscrew and jerk each one out of his rat hole."

That prediction was true at Attu.

If Attu, Guadalcanal where I saw him fight in the jungle with equal determination, and New Guinea, where I was bounced in an airplane by his flak, are examples of Jap tenacity and will to fight, then we must expect similar resistance elsewhere—and more.

DEMAND FOR JAP WORKERS RISING IN MIDDLE WEST

County School of Nursing to Hire Six More.

Four Japanese Americans are now at work at the Cook county school of nursing and six more are on their way there to help fill the gaps in the corps of dishwashers the union has been unable to fill.

Miss Mary Dempsey, business agent of the School Lunchroom Attendants' union, who protested the hiring of the Japanese to nursing school officials earlier in the week, said yesterday no direct action is planned to move the Japanese out of their jobs, because the protest made the position of the union clear and a basis has been established for employment of union members if and when the union can supply them.

Housing Bars Migration.

Elmer L. Shirrell, regional director of the war relocation authority, said increasing demands are coming in from employers in the Chicago area for Japanese workers released from the 10 relocation centers of the country. The speed of relocation, he said, will be governed largely by the ability of war relocation authority officials to find housing for the incoming Japanese Americans, rather than any limit on the number of jobs available. Housing is acute, he said, in every city where jobs are available.

Shirrell reported that as of June 1, more than 6,200 from the 10 Japanese centers had taken jobs in all parts of the country. Many are in the middle west on farms and in professional work, domestic jobs and industries. Demands for Japanese help from hotels and country clubs have been heavy lately.

Shirrell said 78 young Japanese Americans were stranded last week in St. Paul, Minn., when the national youth administration, after first asking for the Japanese, suddenly refused to carry out their training program. These Japanese youths are now being placed in farms and industries in and around St. Paul, Shirrell said.

Says Each Investigated.

Recent charges by investigators of the Dies committee that potential saboteurs are being allowed to leave the relocation camps have done little harm to the relocation program, Shirrell said. He emphasized again that every Japanese released from any of the 10 centers has been thoroly investigated as to loyalty, both in the camp and prior to the time the Japanese were evacuated from their homes by the army, thru the FBI and with the intelligence services of the army and navy.

There are some Japanese in the camps, Shirrell said, whose loyalty is questionable. These will never be released until after the war.

At least 70,000 Japanese in the camps are American citizens and when they are released from the camps to take up work of any kind they regain all the rights of citizenship.

REVEAL VAST WASTE OF FOODS AT JAP RELOCATION CAMP

Los Angeles, Cal., June 8 (AP).—A witness today told a Dies congressional subcommittee investigating Japanese American loyalty that on occasions considerable food was wasted at the Poston, Ariz., relocation center. Ralph M. Gelvin, associate director at the Colorado river relocation center at Poston, told the committee that the waste could be attributed to new and inexperienced help.

Asked how much garbage accumulated at the center each day, Gelvin estimated it at "enough to feed about 2,000 head of hogs a day." Gelvin described a strike at the camp starting last Nov. 18 and lasting three and a half days, in which he said about 9,000 of the evacuees participated.

Asked what caused the strike, Gelvin said he thought it was "the reaching of the boiling point growing out of the general evacuation plans."

NOTIFY CHICAGO COUPLE OF SON'S DEATH IN ACTION

Pvt. Renaldo Mattel.

Pvt. Renaldo T. Mattel, 22 years old, 237 Goethe street, has been killed in action in the North American area, according to war department notification received by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Foreman. Pvt. Mattel enlisted last October and was assigned to the paratroops, but later transferred to the infantry. He formerly was employed by the Columbia Statuary company.

Navy Lists Three Dead; One Is from Hillsboro, Ill.

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—The navy announced today 11 casualties, including 3 dead, and 8 missing. Among the dead was Walter James Dietl, member of the navy, son of Clarence J. Dietl, Hillsboro, Ill. The list brings to 23,253 the total of navy, marine, and coast guard casualties reported to next of kin since Dec. 7, 1941. The grand total includes 7,392 dead, 4,713 wounded and 11,148 missing.

QUITS OPA POST; NOT ALLOWED 'TO DO A FAIR JOB'

Cincinnati, O., June 8 (AP).—John K. Westberg, a price executive of the office of price administration, said today he was resigning, effective July 3, "because I was not permitted to do a fair, honest and complete job."

In a speech before the Ohio Grain and Feed Dealers' association, Westberg said:

"OPA was forced to do many things we knew were not right, because somebody at the top did not have guts enough to cross a political bridge. I have resigned and am leaving Washington July 3 because I was not permitted to do a fair, honest, and complete job, which means fixing equitable ceiling prices at every level of production and distribution."

Asserting that "price control has received less support than anything in this war," Westberg said, "People are ready to criticize hell out of it. . . . In such control there should be no listening to pressure groups, to John L. Lewis and his gang, and not even to the farm bloc."

An Expectant Father Also Expects a Ration Book

Louisville, Ky., June 8 (AP).—One Kentucky father believes in being foresighted. After listing 10 children on his application for war ration book 3, he added in the margin: "Anna Ruth will arrive July 1, 1943, and is hereby applying for war book 3." His application was set aside for special consideration.

U.S. PLANES SKIP BOMBS ACROSS LAND INTO CAVES

Blast Enemy's Hideouts on Pantelleria.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, June 8 (AP).—Italy's anti-invasion outpost at Pantelleria, 180 miles from the Italian mainland, underwent air attacks again yesterday. It was disclosed that American fighter bombers have a novel technique to blast the enemy from underground hideouts in the island's volcanic mountains.

Adapting the tactic of low level "skip bombing" used against enemy ships at sea, United States flyers have begun hammering Pantelleria's subterranean aircraft hangars by aiming steel shelled packets of explosives against the cave entrances.

[The dispatch did not elaborate, but apparently the new mode of attack was designed to strike directly at the cavern hangars, skipping the bombs across the land like pebbles across the water, instead of attempting to smash thru deep layers of rock by direct overhead assault.]

Dawn to Dusk Raids.

It was the 16th successive day of aerial bombardment of the island, which lies about midway between Tunisia and Sicily on the trans-Mediterranean "invasion route" to Italy.

Every type of bomber in the mammoth northwest African air forces has taken a crack at the midget enemy base during the past month, but Flying Fortresses supplemented by Marauders, Mitchells, Baltimores, Bostons, and fighter-bomber Warhawks turend on the heat yesterday in raids lasting from dawn to dark.

Billowing smoke clouds which drifted as far as the Sicilian coast, 65 miles away, rose to height of 4,000 feet over the northwest shore of the island.

Destroy 10 Axis Planes.

Since the axis high command sent German and Italian fighters back to Pantelleria last Saturday to wage a defense, 22 have been shot down in battles against allied raiders, the majority of which have been Americans.

Ten axis aircraft were destroyed yesterday, while only two allied planes have been lost in the Pantelleria area since last Saturday morning.

RUSSIA DISCLOSES IT USES A NEW BOMBER BEHIND NAZI LINES

MOSCOW, June 8 (AP).—The Russians today disclosed in dispatches from the front that a new bomber now in production has proved efficient during raids behind the German lines. The bomber belongs to the Ilinshin series. It is known as the Ilinshin four and is an improved model of the Ilinshin one, two, and three.

No details were given except that it has been used at the front since May, the beginning of the tremendous air battles which have been reported during the last five weeks.

Red Star, the army organ, quoted guerrilla reports that planes of the new type had destroyed 10 German trains during one raid and killed 1,500 Germans when barracks behind the lines were destroyed.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE DROPPED.

A manslaughter charge, growing out of the death of George Peat, 45 years old, May 24, against his roommate, Lawrence Morris, 27, of 2838 Broadway, was dismissed yesterday in Felony court. Prosecutors said that there was insufficient evidence.

COMMONS HEARS THANKS RADIOED BY EISENHOWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 8.—Col. D. Clifton Brown, speaker of the house of commons, announced in the house today that he had received a radio message from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, allied commander in North Africa. The message, in response to a motion of commendation passed by commons, said:

"I have received with pride the text of the motion passed by the house of commons on May 18. I ask that you will convey to the members of the house the thanks of all ranks of the allied forces under my command for this generous appreciation of their services. Strengthened by your encouraging message, we look forward with increasing confidence to a future of still greater effort and achievement until the complete and final destruction of the axis forces thruout the world has been attained."

Loud cheers rang thru the house as the speaker finished reading the message.

TAKE TRUMPET AND BLOW.

Three men took a trumpet from James Rizzo, 25 years old, 2122 Warren avenue, in front of his home early yesterday, beat him on the head with it and then fled with the instrument, he reported to police.

COMMANDO RAID ON ITALIAN ISLE 'REPULSED': AXIS

Several Boats Sunk at Lampedusa, Foe Says.

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—Rome and Berlin today announced that British commandos assaulted the tiny turtle shaped island of Lampedusa, 120 miles south of Sicily and 70 miles east of Tunisia, Monday night and were repulsed in the first attempt of allied forces massed in North Africa to invade Italian soil in the Mediterranean.

Allied military and naval quarters were silent on enemy accounts of the operation which—if true—appeared nothing more than a minor-scale probing for bigger blows to come.

Despite the attempts of the Italian and German high commands to magnify the action, it was regarded in some London quarters as possibly only a forerunner of a series of widespread operations which might precede the main offensive.

Vessels Sunk, Italy Claims.

"The enemy attempted a landing on the island of Lampedusa," said the Italian communique, as recorded here in a broadcast. "The attempt was carried out by British units. It was promptly repulsed by our defenses which sank several enemy naval vessels."

German broadcasts amplified this account of the attack on the island.

DNB, official German news agency, said it was a "serious effort" by about five companies of Commandos. The German communique said it was an attempt to occupy the seven mile long island "by a coup de main [a surprise attack.]"

The communique implied that the attempt had gained at least some initial success by saying that the forces which landed were wiped out.

Nazis Praise Italians.

Asserting the attempt had failed "100 per cent," DNB said "if the allies by this attempt intended to test the resistance of Italian troops when they are defending their home soil, then the Italians have stood the test in a brilliant manner."

The commandos, hard hitting masters of night landing tactics, were described as superbly trained and equipped.

The Nazis dominated Vichy radio said: "A British-American offensive against Italy may be expected at any moment."

Lampedusa, one of the Pelagie group which includes Lampione and Linosa, is the southermost of the Italian stepping stones dotting the Mediterranean between Tunisia and the European mainland. It is about 80 miles south of the air track which allied bombers have been traversing in their assaults on the Italian island of Pantelleria.

Has Population of 3,500.

Its population is about 3,500, normally including 700 convicts. One village and a single harbor accommodating small craft are its only features, but the southeastern coast provides several places for possible beachheads. It is reported to have been the original uninhabited isle of Shakespeare's "The Tempest."

Lampedusa once was regarded by Premier Mussolini as an unsinkable Italian aircraft carrier and base for submarines. But last February, aircraft based on Malta hit back at Lampedusa and were reported to have knocked out these bases. No recent bombings of the island have been reported.

RESIDENTS ALONG THE ST. LAWRENCE TO BE U-BOAT SPOTTERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., June 8.—Appointment of Squadron Leader J. P. J. Desloges of the R. C. A. F. as defense coördination officer in Gaspe and lower St. Lawrence area, was announced in commons this afternoon by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

He will head civilian organizations along the Canadian coast line, operating in close coöperation with the army, navy, and air force, for the detection of submarines and identification of aircraft. Last season 20 allied vessels were sunk in the St. Lawrence-Gaspe area.

Members of the aircraft detection corps have already made valuable contributions in the battle against U-boats, particularly off our Atlantic coasts, during the winter, said the prime minister.

"The mounted police and Quebec provincial police will maintain a vigilant watch for possible enemy agents and saboteurs," the prime minister said.

BANDITS KIDNAP AUTOIST.

Two men, one armed with a gun, robbed him of $10 and his automobile after forcing him to drive them from Orchard and Willow streets to Burling and Division streets Monday night, Henry Richter, a clerk of 1261 Winnemac avenue, reported to police.

NAZIS TELL JUST HOW INVASION WILL OPERATE

'Allies Will Lose Half of Their Troops.'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 8 (AP).—The Germans, said to be counting from hour to hour on an allied invasion of Europe, presented today their advance story of just what the first few days of assault would be like if northern France is struck from across the English channel.

Here is the picture as forecast by German military sources quoted by the Berlin correspondent for the Stockholms Tidningen:

A terrific barrage by British warships and a mass aerial bombardment would be set up simultaneously against European coastal batteries.

Small landing boats, each with 120 men, would proceed under the barrage toward the coast, carrying about 50,000 men in the first attack wave. Other boats would carry light weapons and small tanks.

Would Lose 50 Per Cent.

The Germans would concentrate U-boat packs and aerial power in an attempt to wreck the landing plans. According to the correspondent, the Germans estimate that no more than 13,000 of the first 50,000 troops can be landed to establish a bridgehead.

The first invasion wave would be troops trained especially to establish a bridgehead, while a second wave of 50,000 would be combat units assigned to push inland. These attacking forces may be able to penetrate a distance of five or six miles.

The invaders would lose 50 per cent of the second wave of troops, but once a bridgehead is established the losses might diminish. The Nazis say the allies might have only 10,000 of the 100,000 men fit to fight.

Third Day Critical.

The first day would be a crisis but the third day would be the critical one. By then the Germans would have drawn up heavy reënforcements.

Speculating on the size of the allied invasion force, German military circles said 1,500,000 troops would be necessary for an effective attack. The allies must expect 75 per cent casualties eventually, Nazi experts predicted.

German military men were watching for allied blows against Belgium, southern France, Italy and the Balkans, as well as northern France.

The Berlin correspondent of the Svenska Dagbladet quoted Dr. Kurt Pseisser, German military analyst, as saying that the first attack would come from the Mediterranean. He based his prediction on the fact the allies have three well drilled and excellently equipped armies—two British and one American—and a reserve of French troops ready for action.

"Forts Built in Sea."

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—The German radio said tonight that the west coast of Europe was guarded against invasion by sea forts built offshore of "thousands of tons of steel and concrete," and manned night and day. The forts were said to be armed with batteries of heavy and anti-aircraft guns.

"The forts are approached by hundreds of narrow steps leading up to the platform from the water level," the broadcast said. "Exits are carefully secured with heavy barbed wire entanglements and extensive mine fields surround the forts."

The broadcast attributed its account to Der Alder, an illustrated journal of the German air ministry.

CAN'T TURN BACK NOW, SAYS ROME RADIO OBSERVER

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—The war looks different today than it did at the outset, but it is "too late, far too late to turn back" now, an Italian radio commentator said today in a broadcast from Rome.

The commentator was Camillo Pellizzi, national councillor, who noted that "there is at present a general state of confusion which can not last long. The war has entered its second stage, and many issues relied upon at the beginning now look different." He explained that at the outset it appeared the war was to be confined to Europe but later became a world war.

"It is regrettable that Great Britain has decided to live on next door to a Europe in misery and ruins," he said.

Mannerheim Cancels Plan to Acclaim Volunteers

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 8.—The élite guard regiment of Finnish volunteers for the German eastern front has returned to Finland, but its return was hushed by order of Marshal Barton Gustave Mannerheim, according to advices from private channels. It was planned to receive the regiment, which was commanded by a German S. S. obergruppenfuehrer, in a state ceremony in Helsingfors. Members of the German legation in Helsingfors had to go to Hangoe to receive the regiment. Its formal dissolution was finally carried out at Camperi.

Breaks Wedding Date

LEE WILEY.

Beverly Hills, Cal., June 8 (AP).—Lee Wiley, 28 years old, radio singer, said she failed to appear at the Arrowhead Springs Hotel today to wed Lt. Charles Boettcher II, member of the wealthy Denver, Colo., family because she married Jess Stacy, 38, pianist for Benny Goodman's band, last night.

"I guess it was something like leaving him at the altar and it's too bad, but it had to be that way," Miss Wiley said. "I don't think wealth is as important as love."

Lt. Boettcher, stationed at San Bernardino, Cal., was kidnaped in 1938 and was released only after his family had delivered a $60,000 ransom.

The radio singer said she and Boettcher had been engaged since last year and that the wedding had been set for three weeks ago but that she postponed it. She added that she didn't think Boettcher yet knew about her marriage to Stacy.

F.D.R. SAYS U.S. WILL USE POISON GAS IF AXIS DOES

Warns That Bombings Also Will Follow.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The stern warning that use of poison gas by any axis nation will bring swift retaliation in kind as well as intensified bombing against the guilty nations was delivered today by President Roosevelt.

"Evidence that the axis powers are making significant preparations indicative of such an intention is being reported with increasing frequency from a varity of sources," the President said in a formal statement.

The warning was the third the President has delivered against the use of poison or noxious gases and other inhuman devices of warfare. He declined to reveal which of the axis nations is making preparations to use gas. A previous warning was aimed at the Japanese for reported use of gas in China.

Won't Use It First.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that "under no circumstances will the allies resort to the use of gas unless gas is first used by the enemy."

"As President of the United States and as commander-in-chief of the American armed forces," he said, "I want to make clear beyond all doubt to any of our enemies contemplating a resort to such desperate and barbarous methods that acts of this nature committed against any one of the united nations will be regarded as having been committed against the United States itself and will be treated accordingly.

Vows Swift Retaliation.

"We promise to any perpetrators of such crimes full and swift retaliation in kind and I feel obliged now to warn the axis armies and the axis peoples, in Europe and in Asia, that the terrible consequences of any use of these inhumane methods on their part will be brought down swiftly and surely upon their own heads."

ORIGINAL 'FLIP' BACK FROM AIR WAR IN AFRICA

Lt. Col. Cochran Praises U. S. Pilots.

New York, June 8 [Special].—Lt. Col. Philip G. Cochran of the United States army air forces, who is known to millions of comic strip readers of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE and other newspapers, has just returned from the fighting in North Africa. At the age of 33 he has become a legendary figure not so much because of the Germans he shot down as the way in which he shot them up.

Col. Cochran is the original of Flip Corkin of "Terry and the Pirates," drawn by Milton Caniff. Cochran and Caniff were classmates at Ohio State university. But the imaginary exploits of Flip Corkin are no more spectacular than the real ones of Philip Cochran.

Since last November when he landed in North Africa, Col. Cochran [he was a major then] has won five medals with a total of 11 citations. He wears the silver star, the soldier's medal, the distinguished flying cross, with two oak leaf clusters, the air medal with three oak leaf clusters and the croix de guerre with star and palm.

Figures His Own Missions.

He got them because where he was with his squadron in Tunisia, orders and instructions from headquarters miles away often didn't make sense. Instead, he did what he thought ought to be done.

Sometime prior to Jan. 8 and 9, for example, the Germans warned by radio they were coming thru the hills at Fondouk and mop up everything that got in the way, Col. Cochran kept an eye on them. On Jan. 10 he strapped a bomb to the wing of his P-40 and flew to Kairouan where he skip-bombed the German headquarters.

"I figured," he said, in an interview today, "that if I tossed the general staff around some and blew up their headquarters, which would wreck their communications, it would delay them some." It did.

Skips His Way Home.

After skipping over the hotel he bombed he found himself in a walled Arab graveyard which was alive with German anti-aircraft guns. He hopped over the wall at the other end, hedge hopped a German air field, and then when he hovered around Fondouk to see what the state of preparations for the push were he was jumped by a German plane.

"What happened?" he was asked.

"Nothing much," he said, "except that I damned near got killed. He shot my right aileron control away and I had to fly with the stick in the corner. I couldn't fight, but he didn't know it. I got one shot at him and he went away."

Col. Cochran's squadron shot up so much German transport in southern Tunisia that the Germans would move supplies only at night, which hampered them. They devised a system of wrecking communication lines by airplane—the method remains a secret—which they hoped was a constant headache to the German staff.

Praises American Flyers.

Col. Cochran, who comes from Erie, Pa., where his father and mother still live, answered hundreds of questions and at the end he said he wanted to say something on his own.

"I want to say that our kids, American boys, are just kind of automatically wonderful," he declared. "Just thru our own way of life they get something that makes them superior fighters. They don't have to be indoctrinated and have it hammered in for months or years, the way the Germans or the Japs do.

"The fighter pilot flies with his heart. The thing that makes him superior in combat is inside him all the time. Our kids have it and I think it is something they get naturally, something they just get by growing up and living in this country. I think that the thing that makes them better fighters is an individual sense of responsibility to what they are doing and a capacity to think for themselves."

REVEAL MR. X—THAT'S CHURCHILL—SAILED WITH NAZI PRISONERS

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, June 8 (AP).—The ship that carried Prime Minister Churchill, Field Marshal Archibald Wavell and other high ranking British officials to the United States to confer with President Roosevelt also had on board nearly 400 German prisoners of war, some of them high ranking officers, captured in North Africa, it was disclosed here today.

Officers on Churchill's ship, who visited this port later, said that so closely was he guarded they failed to catch but a glimpse of him during the entire Atlantic crossing. Even when Churchill made his frequent strolls around the bridge officers could do no more than get a fleeting sight of the cigar-puffing premier.

No one saw the prime minister board the ship and few saw him land. During the entire voyage the crew said they referred to Churchill as "Mister X" and few believed stories that their distinguished passenger was the British premier.

BIG SCALE PUSH ON AXIS NEARS, SAYS CHURCHILL

Defeat of U-Boats Comes First, Commons Told.

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—Winston Churchill, as tho raising at last the bright signal that will send the invading allied armies plunging forward, quietly told the world today that amphibious attacks of "a peculiar complexity and hazard on a large scale" were very near at hand in the European theater—operations already "fitted into their proper place in relation to the general war."

All is in readiness for this grand assault, he made clear in a vigorous and heartening report to commons in which he declared the allied submarine position was getting better and better by the day and suggested, altho throwing this out with his customary conservative qualifications, that the prospective defeat of the U-boat might mean the moral and actual defeat of the Germans.

Large Scale Moves Near.

Telling of an American-British strategy and unity of war purpose "brought into full focus and punch" in the Washington negotiations recently concluded with President Roosevelt, Churchill thus proclaimed that the time of decision was now at hand:

"It is evident that amphibious operations of a peculiar complexity and hazard on a large scale are approaching.

"I can give you no guarantee any more than I have done in the past of what will happen, yet all the same I have good hopes that neither the parliament nor the congress of the United States will find themselves ill-served by their forces, whether in the British Isles or on the African shore."

Air Power Increasing.

"The steady wearing down of German and Japanese air forces is proceeding remorselessly," he said. "The enemy who thought that air would be their weapon of victory are now finding in it the cause of their ruin."

Facing toward the east as if to point his words to the Russian front, he said:

"It is here that the greatest battles seem to impend."

"I am very sorry," he declared, "that we have not yet been able to bring into counsel Marshal Stalin or other representatives of our great ally, Russia, which is bearing the heaviest burden and paying by far the highest price in blood and life.

Promises Aid to China.

"But I can assure the house that taking some of the weight off Russia and giving more speedy and effective aid to China and giving a stronger measure of security to our beloved Australia and New Zealand—these are never absent one moment from our thoughts.

"There can be no doubt that whatever world organization is brought into being after this war, that organization must be richer and stronger if it is founded on the fraternal relations and the deep understanding prevailing and now growing between the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States."

Puts U-Boat War First.

It was of the war against the submarine that Churchill spoke with particular pride, for, as he said, "We British must continue to place the anti-U-boat war first because it is only by conquering the U-boats that we can live and act."

He went on to say that "very long range air power—V. L. R. as it is called"—had been thrown effectively into the battle of the Atlantic, and added:

"The month of May has been one of the very best for imports carried safely into this island since the end of 1941. Our combined new buildings have exceeded our losses by more than three to one.

"This first week in June could not possibly be taken as a criterion, but as a matter of fact it is the best ever for many, many months past. New weapons and new methods and close coördination of effort between surface and air escorts have enabled us to inflict casualties which have surpassed all previous records.

Lost 35,000 in Africa.

"In May for the first time our killings of U-boats substantially outnumbered the U-boat output."

Recapitulating the Tunisian campaign, Churchill reported that the British First and Eighth armies had suffered 35,000 in killed, missing, or wounded, whereas the axis had lost more than 248,000 men in captured and 50,000 or more killed for a total loss of about 300,000. Only 638 axis personnel escaped from Tunisia, he said.

Churchill added that Hitler had expected his Tunisian armies to hold on at least until August.

As to the political situation in North Africa, the prime minister saluted the new French national committee of liberation jointly headed by Gens. De Gaulle and Giraud and remarked that its creation meant that British financial and other dealings previously carried out direct with De Gaulle "will henceforward be with the committee as a whole.

"As the allied war effort passes into the offensive phase and its scale and pace grows, continually more frequent consultations between the staffs and those concerned with high control become necessary. In January, 1942, broad agreements on principle and on our joint or respective tasks were reached at our conference in Washington.

"A complete agreement about forward steps has been reached between the two governments.

"There have been no sort of differences such as occurred in the last war—inevitable on account of the forces at work—between the politicians and the military men. I shall make no predictions as to what will happen in the future and still less in the near future.

"All I can say is, Anglo-American policy, stategy, and economy were brought into the full focus and punch in those 15 days' talks at Washington.

Flew to North Africa.

"After we had completed our task at Washington I thought it well to go to North Africa and I was very glad that the President decided to send along with me Gen. Marshall, chief of the United States army and air force, a man of singular eminence of mind and character.

"We flew together across the Atlantic to Gibraltar and Algiers in order to deal more particularly and precisely on the spot with the problems of the Mediterranean theater.

"There for another week we had the advantage of full discussions with Gen. Eisenhower, the supreme commander, with Gen. Alexander, Adm. Cunningham, Air Chief Marshal Tedder, Air Marshal Conyngham, Gen. Montgomery, Gen. Spaatz, Gen. Bedell, and other high British and United States officers directly concerned with the execution of plans—of plans which I can best describe as directed to the application upon the enemy of force in its most intense and violent forms.

Tells of Coöperation.

"I can assure the house that the most complete concord and confidence prevails at Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters and the forces of the two great nations of the English-speaking world are working together literally as if they were one single army.

"In traveling about these armies and seeing perhaps 20,000 troops and airmen in a day I sustained the impression of their extraordinary ardor and zeal to engage the enemy again at the earliest moment.

"The British losses in Tunisia have been severe.

"The 8th army since they crossed the frontier of Tripolitania have sustained about 11,500 casualties and the 1st army about 23,500 casualties.

"In all, 35,000 were killed, missing, and wounded during the campaign of the two British armies.

"The total number of prisoners taken who have passed thru the cages of the allies now amounts to more than 248,000—an increase of 24,000 on the previous published total.

"There must certainly have been 50,000 of the enemy killed, making a total loss of about 300,000 men to the enemy since Tunisia alone.

"More than half of these men are Germans.

"In fact, of 37,000 prisoners taken by the United States 2d corps, actually it was more of the size of any army than a corps, 33,000 were Germans.

Navy Blocks Escape.

"This British naval force at the same time caused an impassable barrier between the enemy in Tunisia and all prospects of escape. During the latter phases the fixed patrol was maintained in a force which would have prevented any attempt at escape except by individuals.

"In fact, I believe only 638 persons have escaped and these for most part by air on this scene of surrender.

"One cannot doubt that both Stalingrad and Tunisia are the greatest military disasters that have ever befallen Germany in all the wars she has made, and they are many.

"It may well be that these guilty races that trumpeted the glories of war at the beginning will be extolling the virtues of peace before the end. It would certainly seem right, however, that those who fix on their own terms the moment for beginning wars should not be the same men who fix on their own terms the moment for ending them.

Yanks Busy in Pacific.

"These observations are of general character but not without their particular application.

"The might of America is deployed far over the Pacific and is laying an ever stronger grip on the outlying defenses of Japan and offering every moment to the Japanese fleet the supreme challenge of sea power.

"Russian armies, as I mentioned to the congress the other day, are in deadly grapple with what we estimate to be 190 German and 28 satellite divisions along their 2,000 miles of front. It is here that the greatest battles seem to impend.

Double Raids of 1942.

"Compared with this time last year, we British alone can now drop more than double the weight of bombs at the 1,500 miles' range there and back.

"The Germans seem to be staking their hopes upon the U-boat war, we may judge by appeals made to them. They are encouraged to bear the evils—the terror, as they call it, perhaps not an ill chosen word—of the air bombardment by the hopes that on the sea the U-boats are taking their revenge.

"If it should be made clear that this hope has failed them they may be seriously disappointed, and they are a people who when seriously disapointed do not always find resources to confront approaching disaster once their reason tells them it is inevitable.

"Again I say—I make the observation in passing—do not let us build on such deductions.

"It would be foolish to assume that the good results of a single month are a guarantee of a continuing process.

"We may have setbacks, tho I have always looked forward to this summer as being a period which would be favorable to us.

"Moreover, of course, the enemy may decline battle or he may look only for the most tempting opportunities. In this case we shall have fewer killings but more imports, and the freer movement of troops and munitions will be possible to all the various theaters.

"I might well speak with more emphasis upon this point but it is prudent to forebear. I have touched on these matters connected with the war. It happened at the time when I was in Algiers that Gen. De Gaulle and his friends arrived and I thought it would be well if the foreign secretary were on the spot in case it should be proved in our power to help.

Watched French Talks.

"We did not in fact intervene at all in those tense discussions between the French, but like Gen. Eisenhower, the supreme commander, we watched closely and vigilantly in the light of British and United States interests, and of the wellbeing of our armies in North Africa.

"We all rejoiced when the agreement was made and the French national committee of liberation was set up and constituted as the single and sole authority for all Frenchmen seeking to free France from the German yoke.

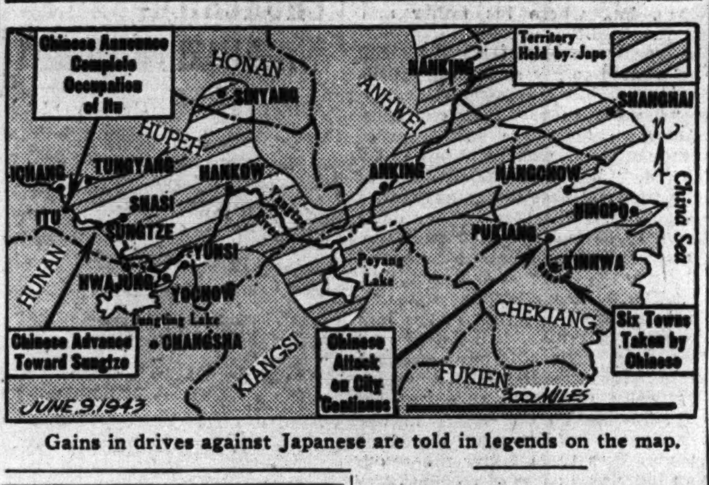
"Let me now sum up the two predominant impressions that I have sustained from this journey.

Can Settle Differences.

"First is the spirit and quality and organization of the British and allied armies in North Africa. Second is the intimacy and strength of ties now uniting the British and the United States governments and the British and American peoples.

"The reason why I have not made a longer speech today is that I have already given to the joint sessions of the Congress of the United States the statement which I should have made to this house on the victories in Tunisia had I been in this country. That, I think, is the valid explanation."

New Successes for the Chinese



Gains in drives against Japanese are told in legends on the map.

CHINESE VICTORY SAVES BIG RICE AREA FROM JAPS

CHUNGKING, China, June 8 (AP).—The successful Chinese counter-offensive which thwarted a Japanese drive toward Chungking has eliminated the danger to the great rice bowl area of central China, an army spokesman disclosed today as the Chinese high command announced the complete occupation of Itu, Yangtze river port 18 miles below Ichang.

The communique said some remnants of the Japanese force which formerly held Itu had fled southeastward, but that all enemy troops remaining in and around the town had been rounded up.

Further progress in the Chinese advance toward Sungtze, river port between Shasi and Ichang, was reported in the communique, which announced the recapture of several strategic points to the south.

HULL NOTIFIED LIBERATION BODY RULES FRENCH

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—The two ranking French representatives formally notified Secretary of State Hull today of the formation of the French national committee of liberation, with the transfer to it of all the functions previously carried out by the "elements composing it."

Acting under the committee's instructions, Andre Hoppenot, diplomatic representative of Gen. Henri Giraud, and Philippe Baudet, acting chief of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Fighting French delegation, delivered the document.

Secretary Hull said he warmly welcomed the spirit in which the committee had been formed, since the government had continuously hoped for the unification of all French resistants in a common effort against axis aggression.

MAPLE LEAVES FROM AIR HURT MORALE OF JAPS

St. Louis, Mo., June 8 (AP).—American flyers in the Aleutians are playing on an obscure Japanese superstition that associates the maple leaf with impending death and disaster.

Arthur W. Schuett Jr., 28, naval aviation machinist's mate, said paper maple leaves are dropped on Japanese positions in the islands in an effort to destroy enemy morale. The propaganda leaflets bear the terse warning in Japanese: "You guys better get out of here while the getting's good."

He brought one of the leaves home as a souvenir of his service in the far north, where he suffered a spine injury.

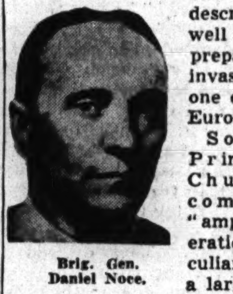
Turkey's Principal Aim Is Peace, Says President

ANKARA, Turkey, June 8 (AP).—The chief preoccupation of the Turkish government is to keep the nation out of war, President Ismet Inonu told 800 delegates to the sixth Peoples' party congress, which opened today. The speech was brief and very reserved on all points touching on international affairs. "We continue as in the past to pursue the aim of preserving peace in the nation," Inonu said.

INVASION TO BE BY SEA, AIR, AND LAND, SAYS NOCE

Calls Italian Bombings First Phase.

LONDON, June 8 (AP).—Brig. Gen. Daniel Noce, United States amphibious war expert, described today well advanced preparations for invasions at any one of several European fronts.



Brig. Gen. Daniel Noce.

Soon after Prime Minister Churchill told commons that "amphibious operations of a peculiar hazard on a large scale are approaching," Noce assured a press conference that landing barges and other specialized equipment would "be on hand for each operation as needed."

"Diversions are a very essential part of any large scale operation," he commented.

The recently appointed chief of organization and training said the allies had considerable experience in land-sea operations and learned much at Dieppe, North Africa, the Solomons, Madagascar, and Attu.

Will Dominate Skies.

He recognized command of the air as vital to any invasion, and said:

"We already have air superiority in a broad sense and will make certain that we dominate the skies when we invade the continent."

Noce said softening up operations, now under way against the Italian outpost islands, may be regarded as the first phase of operations, and may be carried out over a considerable period of time.

"Our country has been training for amphibious operations for a long time," he said. He added that British methods were "very thoro."

To Use Air Borne Troops.

When the invasion comes, it will go according to plan and wherever the allies choose to make the big break, Noce said.

"We will have the force there necessary to do it in the sea, air, and on the land," the general added.

"We have strong air power and strong sea power and their full use is envisioned."

He said the high command was "fully aware of the possibilities of air borne troops."

WAUKEGAN SERGEANT WRITES JAP BULLETS MISSED HIM 10 TIMES

The Japs on Attu Island were poor rifle shots, according to a Waukegan sergeant who said he was shot at about 10 times but never hit.

Lt. Masters [top]. and Sergt. Krohn.

In a letter received by Emil Otto, 642 Westmoreland avenue, Waukegan, from his nephew, Sergt. Kenneth Walter Krohn, 24 years old, who formerly lived with the Ottos, Krohn said:

"The Jap riflemen missed me at short range. It took shrapnel to get us. One burst hit me in the back and legs and killed a lieutenant standing eight yards behind me."

Krohn, who is in a hospital in Santa Barbara, Cal., enlisted in February, 1941. He was wounded on Attu May 14.

Lt. William H. Masters Jr., 28 years old, son of a former mayor of Robinson, Crawford county, was killed in action on Attu Island on May 17, his wife was notified by the army yesterday. She is Mrs. Harriet Masters of 603 East Maple street, Mundelein. In the last letter received by Mrs. Masters from her husband, dated May 5, the lieutenant, who had been in the army 14 months, said: "Don't worry. We're going over and get those monkeys off this island quick."

ALLIES ATTACK JAP TRANSPORTS AND CARGO SHIP

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, June 9 [Wednesday]—(AP).—Japanese shipping came within the bombsights of American bombers yesterday, with the heaviest blow falling on vessels in the harbor of Waingapoe, Soemba Island.

There a formation of Liberators attacked a 5,000 ton cargo ship and two transports of between 3,000 and 4,000 tons as well as a gunboat. The ships raised a heavy curtain of antiaircraft fire supported by some shelling from land positions, but the B-24s managed to damage the largest vessel with two near misses of 500 pound bombs. Soemba is an island in the lesser Sunda group more than 900 miles west of Darwin.

Off Kavieng, New Ireland, A Japanese convoy was attacked by an allied bomber on reconnaissance but results were not observed. Catalinas attacked Babo, in Dutch New Guinea, setting off explosions and scoring hits on the airdrome runway.

FRENCH SEEKING PLAN TO REGAIN MILITARY UNITY

Bitterness Still Exists Over Battle for Syria.

ALGIERS, June 8 (AP).—The delicate problem of merging two French armed forces which once fought each other as enemies has delayed the appointment of a war minister and the establishment of a war council in the new French empire government, a trustworthy French source said today.

At the same time, however, this informant expressed his belief that the fusion of the two factions of the armed service would be accomplished in the near future.

The government convened in full dress session today in an attempt to iron out the difficulties in the path of full military cohesion. Formation of the war council was regarded as the government's last organizational step necessary to throw the unified weight of vast French territories back into the war front against the axis.

Bitterness Still Exists.

Former Free French army units owing allegiance to Gen. Charles De Gaulle, it was pointed out, had coöperated with the British forces in 1941 in that attack on Syria. They were opposed by French troops who have since aligned themselves under Gen. Henri Giraud.

According to the informant, not only the soldiers themselves but especially their respective commanders "feel a certain amount of bitterness" over that campaign, and it has affected the formation of a centralized military command in the Algiers régime.

Altho the rivalry between the various French generals dating back to the Syrian battles is considered serious, it is not believed insurmountable, it was said.

Conference Imperiled.

It was disclosed today that a situation freighted with the possibilities of sabotaging the whole movement toward French unity arose shortly after De Gaulle's arrival in Algiers and his initial meetings with Giraud.

De Gaulle, the informant explained, took the position that he was the symbol of "pure French resistance" in contrast to certain French officials here who were sullied by at least indirect collaboration with the Nazis.

For that reason, it was said, De Gaulle attempted to arrogate numerous important powers and categories of authority which the French in North Africa were emphatically not willing to grant. As a result, the informant said, there was one day when it was touch and go whether De Gaulle would attempt a coup d'état here or whether Giraud would arrest and imprison him.

Both Sides Retreat.

Each having expressed his innermost sentiments with complete candor, the two generals "realized that in the eyes of the French people they would never be forgiven" if they failed to effect a rapprochement in this critical time. Therefore, each retreated from his respective position and the formation of a government proceeded smoothly.

French observers expect that the equally difficult problem of bringing the two groups of armed forces together will follow the same pattern.

YANKS DESTROY 19 ZEROS IN FIGHT OVER SOLOMONS

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—For the second time in three days, Japan's South Pacific air forces suffered a severe defeat at the hands of American airmen Monday, the navy reported today.

In a battle giving fresh evidence of qualitative superiority of American planes and pilots, the enemy lost 19 Zero fighters out of 40 to 50 fighters and bombers apparently attempting to raid United States positions in the Russell group of the Solomon Islands. In addition, six Zeros were damaged. Seven of our planes were lost, but three pilots were saved.

The navy communique also disclosed that on Attu Island Monday, 11 Japanese soldiers killed themselves with grenades after they were surrounded in Chichagof valley. Eight others were killed by American soldiers. The total known enemy dead thru Monday stood at 1,826 for the Attu campaign.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, June 3 [Delayed]—(AP).—Second. Lt. Orval A. Randerson of Rock Island, Ill., has received the air medal as a member of a bombing crew which planted two bombs on a cruiser and scored hits on two transports during the battle of the Bismarck sea last March. He was one of 21 fliers to receive the award from Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the allied air forces.

Many Interns Are Called to Battle Fronts.

(This is the third and last of a series revealing conditions in Chicago hospitals that are taxed to capacity with increased patient loads and shortages of medical, nursing, and volunteer staffs.)

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

The lack of interns and resident doctors is one of the greatest problems of the the average sized hospital. From the ranks of these clear eyed young doctors have come the men in uniform who toil tirelessly over the sick and wounded in the jungles of the south Pacific, the men who left behind them the prospects of successful careers to accompany the army, navy, and the marines to the arid plains of North Africa and the frozen wastes of Iceland.

From the average hospital, too, came the nurses on Bataan, the denim clad, helmeted heroines who refused to leave their patients in the face of certain conquest, and the nurses now everywhere abroad with the fighting forces.

Problem Acute in Some Hospitals.

Chicago's city and suburban hospitals are feeling greatly the loss of these men and women, a survey made by THE TRIBUNE of nine leading institutions disclosed. The problem appears most acute in the hospital with the average bed capacity of 218 as seen in a study of West Suburban, Grant, Henrotin, and Evanston hospitals.

Henrotin hospital, with an adult bed capacity of 100, now 100 per cent occupied, and 25 bassinets, 89 per cent filled, has no interns on its staff, Miss Veronica Miller, superintendent, explained yesterday. Eight senior medical students, one resident, and two clerks fill the gap. "We have one resident and we could use two more," Miss Miller stated briefly.

Twenty of the hospital's attending staff are in service, leaving a reserve of 40 doctors. Seventy-five doctors were associated with Henrotin prior to Pearl Harbor. From a normal complement of 70 nurses, the hospital also has sent 30 into service and "more are going," the superintendent said. Fifty-five student nurses, an increase of 20 over last year, help to supplement the present graduate staff of 28 to 35 nurses.

Henrotin Needs Volunteers.

Volunteer help is essential at Henrotin. With 12 nurses' aids and eight clerical workers contributing 2 to 12 hours weekly, there is still a need for a half dozen more of each, Miss Miller maintained. There are no canteen workers or Gray Ladies at Henrotin.

Volunteer help does not seem a problem at West Suburban hospital, where classes have been held for more than 200 nurses' aids and where suburban housewives are willing to contribute their leisure hours because of the convenient location of the hospital to their homes. Some 40 to 50 active nurses' aids assist the nursing staff regularly, L. C. Vonder Heidt, administrator, stated yesterday.

Hospital Loses 100 Doctors.

With 300 patients, twice average three years ago, this volunteer help is a boon to the hospital. This is readily apparent with the decrease in the graduate nursing staff from 110 to 70 and the student nursing staff from 175 to 162. West Suburban hospital has 40 nurses in evacuation hospital unit No. 25 who now are caring for 600 to 700 patients in the south Pacific.

The hospital also has 100 doctors scattered over the global war theater. Its attending staff has been cut in two, from 150 to 75. Seven interns seem a plentitude when it is considered that there will be only three after July 1 and two after August, Vonder Heidt asserted.

Nine interns and residents were formerly the quota of Grant hospital, Robert B. Graves, administrator, explained. Now there are two of each and more are needed. Thirty doctors quit the hospital for military service, leaving an attending and associate staff of 137.

Increasing Load at Grant.

The shortage of doctors has gone hand in hand with an increasing patient load over the last two years. In 1941, Grant hospital had a bed capacity of 226, 75 per cent of which were generally occupied. Today, the capacity is 242 and more than 76 per cent of the beds are constantly filled. With the increasing birthrate, also, the hospital has added five maternity beds to its department of 40, and operates continually with more than 73 per cent filled.

A decrease in the nursing staff also has accompanied the growth in cases. There were formerly 85 graduate nurses and 114 students. At present, the staff numbers 65 graduates and 116 students.

"We have two nurses' aids daily assisting the nursing staff and we could use 10," Graves explained. "In addition, we have two clerical workers, one who comes in for a full day and one for a half day, but we need at least two more."

Evanston Hospital Gets Help.

Volunteer aid is unequally distributed thruout the hospitals of the city and suburbs, THE TRIBUNE'S survey has determined. Evanston hospital, which has trained 150 Red Cross nurses' aids, has an average of 40 aids weekly in addition to 4 canteen workers daily, 8 clerical volunteers and 1 Gray lady. North shore women, because of gas rationing and time saving, find it convenient to work at the Evanston hospital.

"We would be just out of luck, if it weren't for our volunteer help," Dr. Roger Debusk, director, asserted. "Thirty-seven of our graduate nurses are in service, leaving us 71 on our general staff. Our student staff, however, has increased from 120 to 164."

Maternity Cases Increase.

The hospital is full everywhere, except for variations in the obstetrical department, Debusk stated. With a bed capacity of 230 and 40 bassinets, the daily occupancy is 225 over all. Maternity cases have increased from an average of 100 a month in 1942 to 120 this year.

Evanston hospital is also fortunate in having an adequate staff of 18 interns and four residents. Twenty-one of its former staff members are on war duty, cutting the present attending staff to 51. Thirty other doctors use the hospital actively on the courtesy staff, Debusk explained.

But the over-all picture, as this survey has disclosed, resolves itself into a growing shortage of doctors and nurses, an astounding increase in patient loads, and a vital need for volunteers to step into the shoes of the men and women who have taken the battle against disease to the very battle fronts.

CHICAGO RELIEF LOAD DECLINES FOR 33D MONTH

May was the 33d consecutive month in which the Chicago relief load dropped, George J. Klupar, welfare commissioner, announced yesterday. The May load of 26,885 cases was a decline of 4.7 per cent from the April load of 28,197 cases, he reported. Klupar said employment continued to be the primary factor in closing cases and that approximately 70 per cent of the cases discontinued in May resulted from employment, largely as a result of direct placements and counseling provided by the welfare administration.

U. S. PLANES RAID JAP CAMP, SET BARRACKS AFIRE

NEW DELHI, India, June 8 (AP).—American fighter planes continued their assaults on Japanese bases in Burma yesterday, raiding an enemy encampment at Wehsi, 25 miles north of Myitkying, a 10th air force communique said today.

Two barracks were set ablaze and destroyed and two motor vehicles were destroyed by the formation, which scattered fragmentation bombs and strafed the Japanese with machine gun fire, the communique said. The raid was made without loss.

[A Japanese communique, broadcast by Tokio, announced "continuing attacks on eastern India," and said the Japanese between May 1 and June 5 shot down 63 allied planes and destroyed 40 aground. Nine Japanese planes were reported lost and 24 damaged.]

F. D. R. GRANDSON TO FACE INQUEST INTO SHOOTING

Norristown, Pa., June 8 (AP).—An inquest into the death of Lewis Hutchinson Jr., 11 years old, will be held here June 15, Coroner W. J. Rushong announced last night, as Delaware county District Atty. William B. McClenachan quoted William Donner Roosevelt, 10 year old son of Col. Elliott Roosevelt and grandson of the President, as saying he was holding a .22 caliber rifle when it discharged, fatally wounding young Hutchinson.

McClenachan, reporting a statement he said Billy had given to State Police Sergt. Peter Reilly, quoted the Roosevelt boy as saying:

"I went into the house to get some arrows, and Lewis was right behind me. The rifle was standing at the doorway in the closet. I picked it up with my left hand so I could reach the arrows with my right hand.

"I heard a shot. The trigger must have been moved by my thumb or wrist."

Both Rushone and McClenachan said they considered the shooting purely accidental.

STEAL PHYSICIAN'S BAG.

Dr. Karl Gustin of 2918 Catalpa avenue reported to police yesterday that thieves had broken into his automobile while it was parked near Grant hospital and stole his physician's bag containing surgical instruments.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

URUGUAY SEES BREAK WITH AXIS BY ARGENTINA

Ramirez Promises to Act as Well as Talk.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, June 8 (AP).—An eventual break with the axis by Argentina's new government was forecast tonight by Montevideo sources who said the lifting of martial law in Argentina and the government's promise to "act" on continental collaboration reinforced their opinion.

They said latest actions of the new cabinet indicate that the revolutionary régime intends to carry out the original program, which liberal elements indorsed.

The speedy lifting of martial law was interpreted here as a happy augury for eventual restoration of normal conditions. The declaration that the régime of President Gen. Pedro Ramirez would carry out the announced foreign policy of implementing continental collaboration by acts as well as words was viewed as meaning the government would move gradually toward rupture of relations with the axis.

One of the first measures may be the cancellation of the 100 words daily code message which the Castillo régime permitted axis embassies to transmit by radio.

Ramirez Pledges Acts.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 8 (AP).—The new Argentine government of President Gen. Pedro Ramirez announced tonight that Argentine rapprochement with other American republics would be accomplished "by acts."

The statement, issued by the president's press office following a cabinet meeting, said "foreign relations will be regulated not only by word but also in practice by acts which will draw us ever nearer to our American brothers."

Ramirez tonight lifted the decree of martial law accompanying last Friday's coup d'état which ousted President Ramon S. Castillo.

Approved by Ministers.

The decision was approved at the first council of the ministers of the Ramirez cabinet "in view of the calm which prevails in the whole country."

The first announcement said the cabinet, installed last night, decided to "abrogate martial law," which was imposed as a sterner measure than the state of siege prevailing under Castillo.

No immediate announcement was made concerning the continuance of the state of siege, under which, among other things, the Argentine press is forbidden to publish statements regarding the country's foreign policy.

Reports on Trip

(Story in adjoining column.)

Gen. Marshall, chief of staff, arriving at the White House to report to President Roosevelt on war conversations in North Africa.

Marshall Reports to F.D.R.; King Confers with Nimitz

Back from Africa

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Gen. George C. Marshall reported to President Roosevelt today on his recent visit to the Mediterranean theater of war.

The army chief of staff went to the White House for a noon conference of some length, but neither he nor the President had anything to say afterward.

President Evades Question.

The President was asked at his press conference a few hours later whether an American officer had been named to lead the invasion of Europe, but he only advised the questioner that the latter would know about any such appointment a few months after it had been made. Marshall has been mentioned in speculation over the identity of the invasion commander.

When Gen. Marshall returned to Washington Monday he brought with him two wounded enlisted men from the war zone, the war department announced today.

Finds Vacant Seats.

The men are Pvt. Joe B. Robinson, 28, of Rice, Tex., and Technician 5th Grade Wilbur M. Fendrick, 31, of Dunellen, N. J. Both are patients now at Walter Reed hospital.

Finding two vacant seats shortly before take off time, Gen. Marshall asked if any nearby hospitals had patients well enough to be flown home.

Robinson, wounded when a bullet forced pieces of his helmet into his skull, was in a British hospital. Fendrick, injured in a truck accident after having gone thru two major engagements, was in an American hospital. Injured May 24, he found himself at Walter Reed 14 days later. The date of Robinson's wound was not given.

Meet on West Coast

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Adm. Ernest J. King has conferred on the west coast with Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, on war plans, it was officially disclosed today.

The talk was linked informally with the conferences recently held in North Africa by Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, African theater commander.

Guesses at Explanation.

The suggestion was made with indirect official agreement that Marshall and King, admiral of the United States fleet, had carried to their field commanders information on plans recently worked out by British and American officers and by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in their joint conferences here.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox disclosed at a press conference that Nimitz had been on the west coast for conferences with King. A newsman suggested that the timing of King's meeting with Nimitz and Marshall's meeting with Eisenhower indicated the top officers were carrying reports of the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting to their field commanders.

"Possibly," the secretary said, "that would be one very good explanation."

No Change in Strategy.

The secretary said there had been no change in allied global strategy which would shift additional forces into the Pacific. The gradual strengthening of the Pacific fleet is still going on, he said.

The secretary was asked whether he had any comment on Churchill's statement in a speech in London today that "amphibious operations of peculiar complexity and hazard" are approaching for the allies. "No comment," he said.

CANADA ORDERS BONUS PAID IN BUILDING TRADE

OTTAWA, Ont., June 8 (AP).—The national war labor board today ordered that all adult males engaged in manual labor in the construction industry in Canada should receive a cost of living bonus of $2.25 a week, effective June 1.

All other employés in the industry receiving $25 or more weekly will receive a similar bonus, and females and male minors paid less than $25 will receive a bonus of 9 per cent of weekly wages.

A labor department spokesman estimated the order would apply to about 12,000. While few women are employed in the industry, many boys will be affected.

The action was taken on an application of the national joint conference board of the construction industry, representing both employés and employers.

2 U. S. Planes Missing in Mexico; Find One Body

MEXICO CITY, June 8 (AP).—The United States embassy's military attaché reported today that two United States planes were missing after a flight from Vera Cruz, and that the body of one flyer had been found near Ixtepec. Three planes left Vera Cruz Sunday, only one returning. No reports have been received of the missing craft, the attaché said.

PEORIA LAWYER DISAPPEARS ON EVE OF HEARING

Peoria, Ill., June 8 [Special].—City, county, and federal authorities today joined in search for Walter W. Donley, 45 years old, well known Peoria attorney missing a week. Donley phoned his wife June 1 that he would be home for dinner. No word has been heard since.

Fear that Donley has met with foul play or suffering from amnesia was raised late today when his car was found abandoned here. It had been parked at the spot a week and a woman living near by said she had seen two men leaving it about a week ago.

On the day he disappeared Donley, married and the father of a high school girl, was served with a supena to appear in United States District court here as witness in the case of Louis Drewer, Collinsville, indicted under the national stolen property act.

The indictment against Drewer charges that he brought $15,000 of $65,000 stolen from the Cummings Manufacturing company in St. Louis in January, 1942, to Peoria. Donley had been engaged as Drewer's attorney and money given to the attorney was part of the stolen currency. Friends here today suspected he may have been taken for a ride because of his knowledge of the St. Louis case.

OLD TOPERS ASK LADIES TO JOIN THEM ON WAGON

Alcoholics, Anonymous, Aid Erring Sisters.

Alcoholics Anonymous, for years an exclusively male organization of reformed drunkards and those in process of climbing on the water wagon, has set out to salvage women inebriates.

This national group, nearly nine years old, has a membership of more than 10,000 persons, of whom about 500 live in Chicago. Membership has never been denied to women—the only requirement is an honest desire to quit drinking—but only within the last year or so have there been more than a few ladies enrolled.

War Complicates Task.

How to gather more unfortunate sisters into the fold was explained last night at a meeting in the loop of 400 members, including perhaps a hundred women, by Miss Margaret Roe [to let the cloak of anonymity shelter the identity of a charming new national secretary.]

Miss Roe, a New Yorker, said the problem of how to lend a Samaritan hand to matrons is the most puzzling question the organization has before it. The quickened pace of war time living, it was agreed, has spread the habit of feminine drinking from the night club belts to the suburbs and the smaller communities.

Both Miss Roe and Bill Doe [they are anonymous only to the public, not to their fellow members], who founded the movement and who is its national leader, declared that the established method of overcoming alcoholism by example of members and spiritual reawakening of victims, probably is the best way to reach the ladies.

Women Harder to Convince.

Women, Miss Roe said, are more difficult than men to convince, because they have stronger inhibitions and wear a mask of reserve that is hard to penetrate, even when the need for rehabilitation is greatest. Unlike men, they do not care to talk about their bad habits, she said, and so are slower to admit they are in need of help, which is the first step on the road to beating the liquor habit.

The ex-drinkers find great happiness in their new life, Bill said. They are still alcoholics, he said, but recognize that the condition is a "physical allergy and a mental psychosis," and thus they can whip it by looking it in the face and gaining spiritual strength to combat it thru association with others who lend them moral support.

ZOOT SUIT RIOTS GROW ON COAST; ARMY, NAVY ACT

Bar City of Los Angeles to Sailors.

gan kicking him. He said he broke away from them and sought refuge in a gasoline station, but that his assailants dragged him out and resumed beating him. Residents came to his rescue and the gang fled, he said.

Mayor Fletcher Bowran and Chief of Police C. B. Horrall held a conference at the city hall with army and navy officers a short time after assaults on the three sailors were reported. Their meeting resulted from the zoot suit purge which army and navy men undertook on their own account last night.

During the "purge," an estimated 50 zoot suit wearers were forcibly disrobed by angry groups of soldiers and sailors who dragged the zooters out of movie houses and off street cars. Six of the erstwhile wearers of the zoot suits got first aid treatment and emergency clothing in which to go home at the Georgia Street Receiving hospital. One marine paratrooper was treated at the hospital during the night for a 2 inch larceration in the back.

By 2 a. m. when crowds began leaving the Main street district, a squad of 1,000 special police had arrests of 39 civilians, 11 sailors, and 5 soldiers to show for their efforts at maintaining order.

"We'll destroy every zoot suit in Los Angeles before this is over," was the slogan of the army and navy men.

Riots Grow in Seriousness.

Officers explained that incipient riots have flared from time to time for several months between various gangs of zoot suiters, but said these have for the most part been confined to brawls between gang members and their girl friends.

Many of the zoot suiters are Mexican, they said, some born in Mexico and others ineligible for United States war service because of court charges or criminal records. Sluggings, cuttings, criminal assaults and homicides have figured in the gang activities, it was admitted, and there have been numerous cases of resisting arrest in which the young gangsters have tipped over police cars.

Dr. Esther Bogen Tietz, juvenile hall executive, said there are more than 100 organized gangs of the zoot suiters in metropolitan Los Angeles.

Early this year 12 members of one of them were convicted of the murder of a young Mexican who was fatally stabbed at a party. Three others were convicted of assault with a deadly weapon in the same case and two were convicted of simple assault.

Blamed in Two Slayings.

A least two other killings were blamed by police upon gang members, and early this month four were arrested in connection with assaults upon two young Mexican women, who told officers they had been ravished by more than a score of youths.

The problem has been attacked by juvenile authorities, civic committees and other organizations, which have proposed various measures, including improvement of recreational facilities, boys' clubs, and other expedients.

More recently, the police said, soldiers and sailors have reported they themselves have been attacked by zoot suiters and their women companions insulted by the gangs. Resentment of soldiers and sailors flared last week with reports of sluggings and robbings by the young marauders, and the wave of rioting got under way last week-end.

Washington Gets a Report.

International aspects of the outbreaks were taken cognizance of in two quarters today. The county board issued a statement voicing the belief the strife would not affect the cordial relationships existing between the United States and Latin American countries, while Churchill Murray, Pacific coast director for the office of coördinator of inter-American affairs, telephoned a report of the situation to his Washington superiors. Murray said a statement would be made by Washington officials in a day or so.

Helps Goat Feel at Home to Insure His Milk Supply

Buffalo, N. Y., June 8 (AP).—Enrico Catarello took unusual measures to assure himself of a milk supply. Fearing a milk shortage, he bought a goat. Living on the third floor and being temporarily without a feeding place didn't stop Enrico. He removed flowers from a window ledge, laid down some boards and straw and installed the goat on the lofty perch.

FIRE DESTROYS IOWA PLANT.

Middle Amana, Ia., June 8 [AP].—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the refrigeration manufacturing plant of the Amana society early today. Peter Stuck, secretary of the Amana corporation, said the loss might reach $225,000. The plant had been engaged in making coolers for the government.

HOUSE INSISTS U.S. CAN'T KEEP LOVETT OR DODD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The house stood firm today in its determination to dismiss from the federal pay roll William E. Dodd Jr., Robert Morss Lovett, and Goodwin B. Watson in the face of the senate's refusal to agree to the dismissals.

The question arose when the house membership considered the report of its conferees on changes made by the senate in the $143,630,591 urgent deficiency bill for government agencies.

The house had originally passed the bill with the provision that none of the funds it appropriated be used to pay the salary of Dodd, Lovett, and Watson, who had been found unfit to continue as government pay rollers by an appropriations subcommittee investigating accusations that they had taken part in subversive activities.

The senate then refused to approve the dismissals. The question of dismissing Dodd, Lovett, and Watson must therefore be referred to another meeting of the house and senate conferees.

ZOOT PANTS(OFF) COST SNOOZING OWNER $10 FINE

The cuffs on a pair of zoot suit glad pants are too tight for comfort, so a zoot suit makes poor pajamas.

Therefore when Rutherford C. Johnson, 33 year old Negro, became sleepy on the Howard street elevated platform early yesterday, he simply took the pants off, curled up on a bench and went to sleep.

Horrified commuters called police, and Johnson, once more attired in his natty zoot suit, appeared later before Judge N. J. Bonelli in Town Hall court on a charge of disorderly conduct.

"I was drinking, and all I can remember is that these cuffs were too tight," he said. "I couldn't bring my knees up under my chin for a good snooze."

"The only thing that suit brings up to your chin is your waist," Judge Bonelli replied. "Guilty. Ten dollars and costs."

Johnson paid.

GIRLS SIT TIGHT IN THEIR REVOLT AGAINST SLACKS

Detroit, Mich., June 8 (AP).—A revolt among girl office workers at the Highland Park plant of the Ford Motor company against company decreed slacks continued today as a group of them reported at their desks in dresses, skirts and blouses, and suit combinations. As on Monday, they were given no work to do.

The company spokesman reiterated that the slacks for women workers rule was a safety measure.

William H. Oliver, secretary of local 400, UAW-CIO, said, "We never heard of a girl getting her skirt caught in the gears of a typewriter."

U. S. SUBSIDIZES STUDY OF TROPIC AIR'S MYSTERIES

Seeks Safe Routes Thru Latin Skies.

BY CHARLES LEAVELLE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Panama, June 1 [By air mail].—A scientifically organized effort to penetrate the mysteries of tropical weather has been launched at Medellin, Colombia, by three United States agencies in coöperation with the Pan-American republics.

At the Inter-American Institute of Meteorology, organized to graduate one class only, 193 young Latin Americans are taking a six months' course in basic meteorology and will finish next August. They then will return to their homes to fill posts in civil and military aviation and the national weather bureaus of such countries as have them.

They in turn will become teachers and will continue their studies of tropical weather, whose caprices still baffle the few trained experts in the vast area that lies south of the Rio Grande.

The importance of weather foreknowledge in these areas has grown with the expansion of aviation. Accurate knowledge now is important to aid the war because transport planes are bringing out rubber and many other strategic materials. Data compiled by students and instructors of the institute will be valuable also to agriculture, in flood control, insect control and in public health work.

The institute was envisioned by an official of the science and education division of the office of the coördinator of Inter-American affairs. He had spent considerable time in a strategic area whose tricky weather, air currents, rainfall, and fogs never have been charted by a meteorologist.

The United States weather bureau was interested immediately. The coördinator obtained part of the necessary capital thru a deficiency appropriation by congress. The defense supplies corporation provided the remainder because of its interest in air transport.

Free Facilities Provided.

Medellin was chosen because it is below the Panama canal transportation bottleneck. The Colombian government lent the upper floors of the national university law school, rent free, as class rooms and laboratories. Notices were sent out and more than 1,500 applications were received. An even 1,000 candidates from Puerto Rico and Haiti to Patagonia took the four 2½ hour entrance tests on English language aptitude, mathematics, physics and mechanical aptitude.

The examination questions were prepared by the weather bureau, the civil service commission conducted the tests, and the papers were graded in Washington. The 200 top men received scholarships, which were offered on the basis of the population of the various countries and the number of air miles flown there each year. Each student received transportation and gets $100 a month with which to meet his expenses.

The method of selection made a great impression in many countries where political pull generally has a great deal to do with the award of scholarships. The school is directed by Edward Marx of Texas, who is assisted by Francisco Colon of Puerto Rico. Instructors were obtained from the weather bureau, from Pan American Airways, and from Argentina, Chile, the Dominican republic, and Ecuador.

Jobs Await Graduates.

All those who graduate will be absorbed at once. Argentina's weather bureau is considered best in South America and it will take several. Honduras, Chile, and Brazil plan to set up meteorological surveys which will employ these men. Some of the top students will be sent to the University of Chicago for advanced training.

Until meteorology was revolutionized by the Norwegians 20 years ago it was a two dimensional science. The Norsemen explored the upper air and added the third dimension. Modern meteorology is the exploration of the higher air layers to determine what may be expected to happen at various altitudes within the next several hours.

GAMBLING CZAR GETS 25 DAYS TO SEEK REHEARING

Despite the fact the United States Supreme court has upheld the conviction of William R. [Bill] Johnson, Chicago gambling czar, for conspiracy to defraud the government of income taxes, Johnson will have at least 25 more days of freedom on bond, it was made known yesterday.

Floyd E. Thompson, Johnson's attorney, said Johnson has 25 days to file a petition for a rehearing. Until the end of the 25 day period, the Supreme court will not issue an official mandate upholding the conviction.

Johnson was sentenced to five years' imprisonment and fined $10,000. Five other defendants, convicted with Johnson, were Jack Sommers, James A. Hartigan, the late John M. Flanagan, William P. Kelly, and Stuart Solomon Brown.

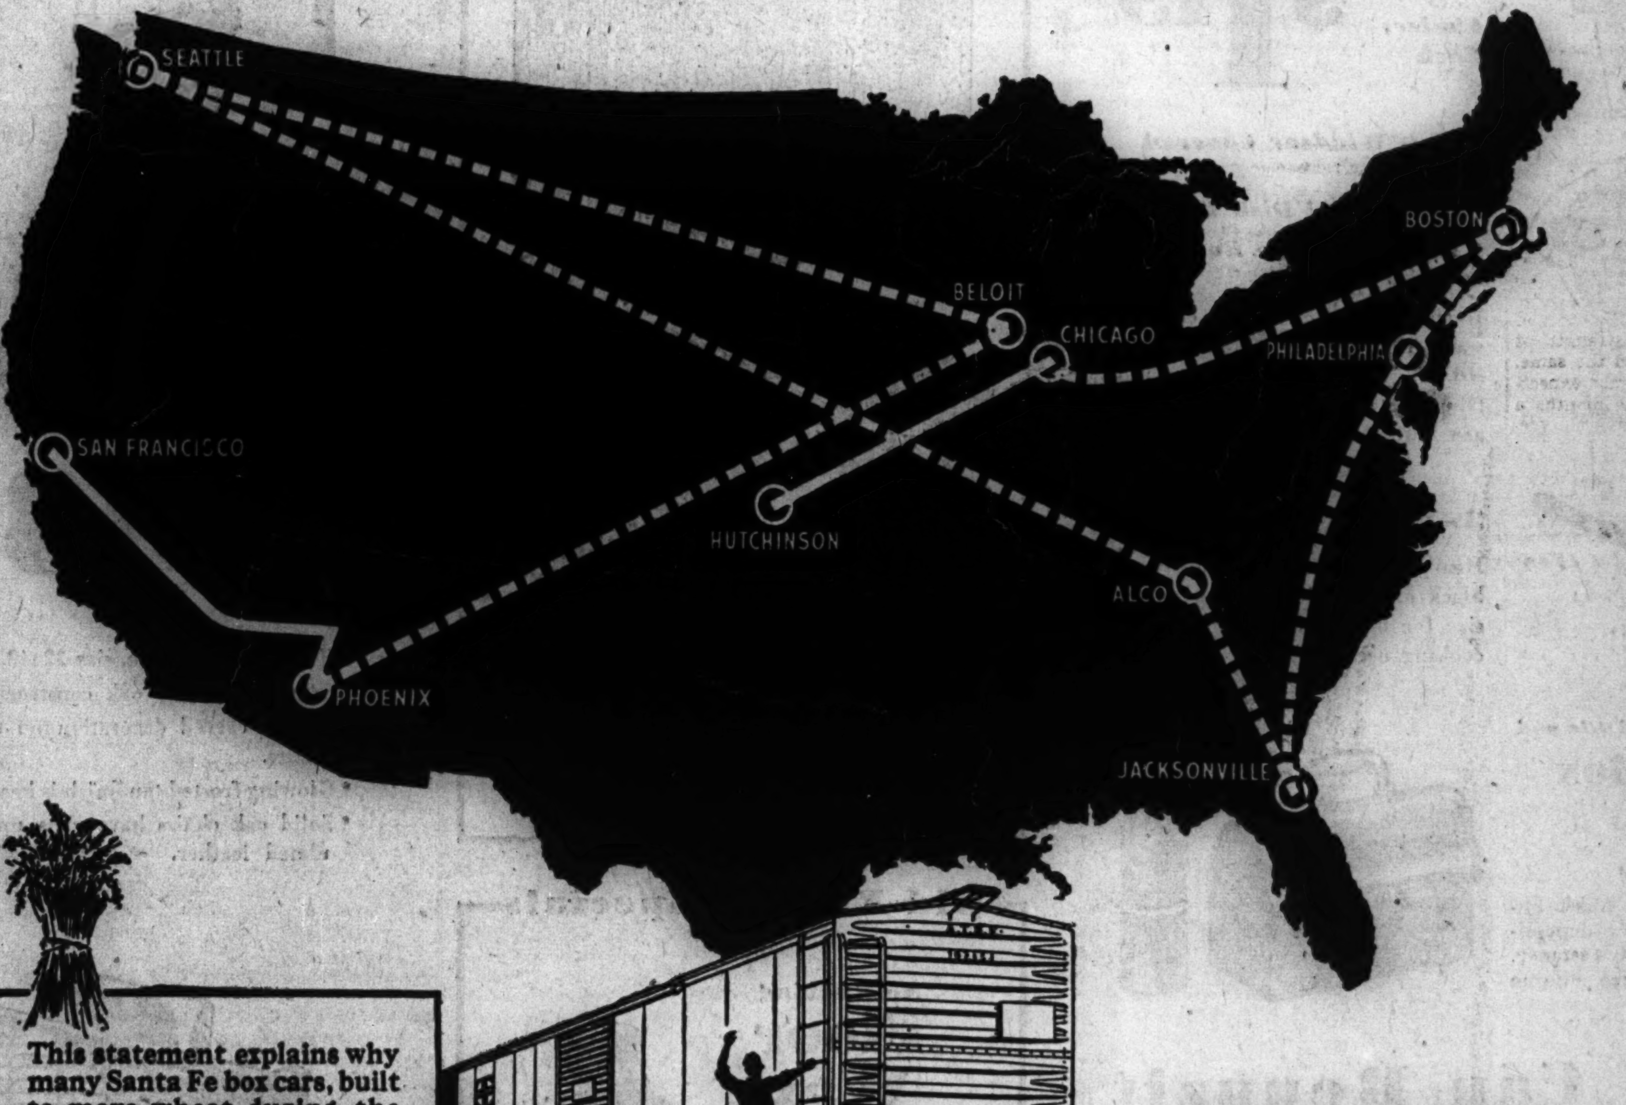
War Work

of a Santa Fe Wheat Car



This statement explains why many Santa Fe box cars, built to move wheat during the June and July harvest, are now many miles away doing other war jobs.

▬▬ Miles traversed on Santa Fe rails
▬ ▬ ▬ Miles traversed on other railroads

Trip starts at Hutchinson, Kansas, and ends at San Francisco . . . 1,439 miles on the Santa Fe; 9,749 miles on other railroads . . . total distance 11,188 miles.

A Report of a Wheat Car for the Past Four Months

June and July are the great harvest months in Santa Fe territory.

In these months, wheat for cereals and bread must be moved from the harvest fields to elevators and mills without delay.

This year an estimated 75,000,000 bushels must be moved by the Santa Fe from the wheat states it serves : : : Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Colorado.

It will take about 50,000 carloads to handle Santa Fe's big share of this vital job!

To move wheat and other grains, Santa Fe has specially built weatherproof box cars—but today, many of these cars are far from the wheat belt. Where are they? What are they doing? We'll let one of these war-vital cars tell you the story.

"Where have I been and what have I been doing the past four months? Take a look at the map—and you'll see I haven't been on a vacation!

The thing that worries me is that I'm needed back in the Santa Fe wheat country right now—and here I am up in San Francisco. How did I get here? War working, of course.

Off to Boston

Four months ago I left Hutchinson, Kansas, with a load of flour and hauled it clean off to Boston.

At Boston I was packed tight with Army shoes for the Quartermaster's Depot at Philadelphia.

From Philadelphia, I hauled a load of clothing to a camp in Florida.

Then I was rushed up to Alco, Tennessee, and loaded with aluminum for a war plant near Seattle. Take a look at the length of that jump.

At Seattle I was loaded with lumber for Beloit, Wisconsin.

We Get Around!

I carried machinery from Beloit down to Phoenix, Arizona, and while in that territory picked up a war load for San Francisco that I have just delivered.

In four months I have rolled 1,439 miles on my own Santa Fe rails—9,749 miles on other fellows' rails. No rest for a war worker these days, but a fellow sure gets around!"

Every Car in Action

★ Every Santa Fe box car, as well as box cars of all other railroads, is in action today. Some of these cars are too far away to be able to return to the wheat belt in time for use.

But guided by the wise direction of the Association of American Railroads, the Office of Defense Transportation, and the Interstate Commerce Commission's Bureau of Service, plus the friendly cooperation of the Army and Navy and war freight shippers, Santa Fe is making every effort to secure as many cars as can be spared from war movements to handle this year's wheat harvest.

REVEALS ARMY'S CIVILIAN ROLLS TOTAL 1,305,000

Patterson Tells of 3 Yr. Climb from 140,000.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 8.—The war department's civilian personnel force has reached the unprecedented total of 1,305,000, Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson revealed today before the house civil service committee. Less than three years ago, according to his testimony, the total was 140,000, and on Jan. 1, 1942, shortly after the nation declared war, it was only 530,000.

Patterson defended the department's draft deferment policies and praised the efficiency of the noncombatant pay rollers. He told the congressmen that the expansion of the civilian force has been completed and said the job now is to perfect the behind the lines organization, admittedly a formidable army in itself.

Denies Many Are Deferred.

Patterson denied that a disproportionate number of draft deferments have been allotted department employés as essential workers.

"The war department is not a haven for draft dodgers," he said flatly. "We have asked for the deferment of less than 2 per cent of the males employed.

He replied vigorously to charges that many employés have little to do and that the civilian organization generally is tangled up in burocratic red tape. He said of the pay rollers:

"They do a great variety of important war jobs from the manufacture of guns in our arsenals and the operation of seagoing vessels.

Outlines Civilian Tasks.

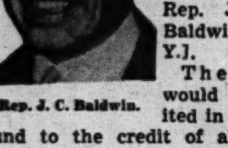
"Civilian employés design materials and equipment, proof fire guns, inspect and test munitions, and do many other jobs in a completely integrated fashion with the military personnel of the army. The designer of our standard M-1 rifle is a civilian employé of the Springfield arsenal. His name is John C. Garand, and the rifle he designed is the first rifle in any army in the world."

Turning to the unparalleled expansion of the huge force of civilian employés, Patterson admitted there have been numerous hitches, but declared that the department has been getting its job done. He continued:

"Our period of expansion is over. We are now in much better position to shake down our organization. For the months of March and April the total civilian strength of the department remained the same. An increase for May is not expected. And in the next few months a decrease of 100,000 may be predicted."

SOLDIERS' BONUS BILL OFFERED; COST 3 BILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rep. J. C. Baldwin.

Washington, D. C., June 8.—Legislation to provide post-war bonuses of between $300 and $400 for each service man and woman at a cost to the government of 3 billion dollars was introduced in the house today by Rep. Joseph C. Baldwin [R., N. Y.].

The money would be deposited in a separate fund to the credit of all soldiers and sailors at the rate of $8.33 per month in the service since Pearl Harbor or a total of $100 per year. For privates and ordinary seamen, the government would continue to make the deposits as long as service continued or until the end of hostilities and the total sum deposited plus 4 per cent interest would be the full bonus.

For noncommissioned officers, petty officers, merchant seamen and all commissioned officers, whose higher pay warrants acturial treatment, an additional deposit of 5 per cent per month of the individual's base pay would be required and they, too, would receive 4 per cent interest on the total.

BILL IN SENATE WOULD CHANGE SCHOOL NAMES

Springfield, Ill., June 8 [Special].—In the first of two sessions today, the senate advanced 42 bills, all but three of them to passage stage. Among the latter is a series that would change the names of teachers' colleges of the state to state colleges, instead of state normal schools or teachers' colleges.

Moved to passage stage were two bills sponsored by Sen. Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago], which would provide that a vacancy in the Chicago Municipal court could be filled by appointment by the governor if the remainder of the term is not more than one year.

They also provide that if the vacancy occurs less than 90 days prior to a primary election, the municipal central committee of each party shall nominate a candidate.

SLAIN WOMAN LINKED TO GUN IN DIVORCEE TRIAL

Friend Says Victim Had Weapon Like It.

Tulsa, Okla., June 8 (AP).—A witness testified today that Mrs. T. Karl Simmons, wife of a wealthy oil man, showed him a pistol similar to the one that ended her life during a struggle with Mrs. Ella B. Howard in a hotel room.

George Sheehan, veteran employé of Simmons, was called to testify in defense of Mrs. Howard, Fort Worth divorcée, accused of manslaughter in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Simmons March 25. Defense counsel showed him the pistol and asked:

"Did you ever see Mrs. T. K. Simmons with this pistol?"

"The gun I saw looked like that to me," replied Sheehan.

"When did you see it?"

Carried Pistol in Purse.

"Somewhere between a week or 10 days before the shooting. It was in the clubroom of the Simmons' home. Mrs. Simmons had the pistol in her purse and she took it out and showed it to me."

The state earlier had closed its case, taking a scant two hours to present the testimony of four witnesses.

Simmons, a friend of Mrs. Howard for several years, was subpenaed as a state witness, but he was not put on the stand. Defense counsel indicated they may call Simmons as a witness tomorrow.

Woman to Defend Self.

Charles A. Coakley of the defense counsel said Mrs. Howard would testify, probably tomorrow.

In his opening statement, Assistant County Atty. M. S. Simms said the state would attempt to show that Mrs. Simmons was unarmed when she went to room 926—Mrs. Howard's room—in the fashionable Mayo hotel.

Coakley asserted, however, that the defense would attempt to prove that Mrs. Simmons wore a cape over a suit and that the suit had two pockets each "big enough to put two pistols like this in."

Sheehan first was called as a state witness. He told of being summoned to the Mayo hotel by Mrs. Simmons.

"She said she had learned that Mrs. Howard was registered and that she thought her husband was up there with her," Sheehan related.

Finds No Gun in Purse.

He said he followed Mrs. Simmons to the ninth floor, asked to see her purse and while he was looking thru it, Mrs. Simmons walked down the hallway.

"Did you find any weapon?" Simms asked.

"None whatsoever," replied Sheehan.

F. G. Eastman of Wilmette, Ill., occupant of room 914, testified for the defense that Mrs. Howard came running down the hallway to his room and cried: "Please let me in. A woman has been trying to kill me."

He said Mrs. Howard, agitated and breathless, made a telephone call from his room and then waited there until officers arrived.

HOLD DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death in the case of Mrs. Bertha Greenblatt, 60 years old, a widow, who was killed in a fall from the 8th floor window of her apartment at 5520 South Shore drive on May 24.

POLICE QUIZ 4 ON SLAYING OF ALDO RAZZINO

A lie detector test yesterday upheld Nick Kokenis, 26 years old, 1626 South 49th avenue, Cicero, in his assertions that he knew nothing of the murder of Aldo Razzino, 31, who was shot to death in his car at Wabash avenue and Ohio street early Monday.

Kokenis, a racing sheet salesman, was taken into custody because he had been with Razzino in the Devonshire hotel bar a few hours before the latter's death. A 32 caliber revolver was found in Kokenis' room. Lt. Kyran Phelan said Razzino was killed by an automatic pistol of the same make, further clearing Kokenis.

Others quizzed by police during the day were Dominic Muccia, 48, of 1003 Hudson avenue; Martin Conino, 32, of 2323 Haddon avenue, and Charles Coliva, 38, of 741 North Central Park avenue. The inquest into Razzino's death was continued to July 8 for further investigation. Police are basing their inquiry on liquor hijackings.

STEAL 26 DANCE COSTUMES.

Mrs. Frances McDonough reported to police yesterday that thieves entered her home at 5434 South Wolcott avenue and stole 26 dancing costumes she had made for participants in a play Friday night at Lindblom High school. The costumes were valued at $100.

Warns Peers of Decline in British Population

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 8.—Within 35 years the population of Britain will drop from 45,000,000 to 34,000,000, or approximately one-fourth, Herbrand E. D. B. Sackville, known as the earl of De la Warr, warned in the house of lords today. He appealed to the government to take immediate steps to deal with the problem. "Here we are," he said, "planning our future in health, housing, agriculture, and industry, and yet we are taking little account of what must be the basis of the consideration of these problems."

GREGORY HEADS MERIT BOARD; CLARKE MEMBER

De Paul Law Dean Takes Harding's Place.

The city council yesterday approved Mayor Kelly's appointment of William F. Clarke, dean of the De Paul university law school, to a place on the city civil service commission, and later in the day the commission elected Walter L. Gregory, vice president of the Palmer House company, its president.

William F. Clarke.

Clarke fills the vacancy created March 12 by the death of John P. Harding, who had been commission president. Gregory has been a member since Dec. 28. The third member is James B. Cashin, Negro attorney, who was appointed Nov. 5.

Clarke Long Chicago Resident.

Clarke, 49 years old and a widower, was graduated from De Paul in 1917 and from 1918 to 1925 headed the school's commerce department. Since 1925, he has been dean of the law school. He lives with his mother at 1511 Thorndale avenue, having been a Chicago resident 30 years, coming here from Superior, Wis.

The new commissioner, who is filling a public office for the first time, is the author of two books, "Folly of Bigotry" and "The Soul of the Law." He is president of the Archdiocesan Union of Holy Name societies and the Adult Education Council of Chicago. He holds both law and bachelor of philosophy degrees from De Paul.

Gregory's Salary Increases.

Clarke's appointment expires June 30, but the mayor said the law school dean would continue as member after that date. Gregory's salary increases from $5,000 to $7,500 a year upon elevation to the commission presidency, and two other members receive $5,000 annually.

Sitting beside Kelly on the rostrum thruout yesterday's council session was Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco, who had stopped off in Chicago on a return trip from Washington, D. C., and New York. Mrs. Rossi looked on from the gallery.

Rossi told the council he had listened with particular interest to traction discussions during the meeting. "We have a traction problem in San Francisco as a result of increased population," he said. "What would a city be without a traction problem?" He said San Francisco's municipally owned traction company handled 48 per cent of the city's traffic last year with a 5 cent fare, and showed a million dollar profit.

Paving Jobs Authorized.

The council authorized the paving of 76th street, from Stony Island avenue to Jeffery avenue, at a cost of $125,000, and Clinton street, from Roosevelt road to 14th street, at a cost of $15,000, from state motor fuel tax funds.

The mayor requested that the council authorize expenditure of $125,000 for operation of the Chicago area office of civilian defense during the next three months, but at the request of Ald. James B. Waller [43d] this was referred to the finance committee. The council previously had authorized expenditure of $150,000 appropriation for "aid in national, state, and local defense" during 1943.

Ald. Waller submitted a proposal to establish "an office in the city government in the nature of city manager, which shall, under the mayor's direction, have the duties of instituting and supervising business methods, and bringing about and maintaining economy, efficiency, and the maximum of public service." The proposal was referred without discussion to the committee on consolidation, reorganization, and taxation.

Drops Spike O'Donnell's Daughter from City Job

Miss Dorothy O'Donnell, 24 years old, daughter of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell, was one of 458 street department workers to lose their jobs in an economy move, it was learned yesterday. Joseph J. Butler, superintendent of the department, previously had denied that the girl was being fired because her father had punched him in the nose last Jan. 14 during an altercation over a city paving deal. Miss O'Donnell went to work for the department last Oct. 23.

ASKS AUTHORITY FOR RIVER TAXI IN RUSH HOURS

Arthur Agra, 1356 Sunnyside avenue, operator of a sight seeing boat service, said yesterday he plans to seek city council authority for operation of a river taxi service between the North Western railroad station and the Michigan avenue bridge during the rush hours. He planned to confer with Ald. Walter J. Orlikoski [35th], chairman of the council's committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges, today.

Agra's plan is to use his 100 passenger Wendela in river bus service for several trips in the morning transportation rush and again in the afternoon. Between these periods, he would use the Wendela for sightseeing trips on Lake Michigan.

Already the coast guard has given him authority to operate on the river, and the city has authorized him to use the Michigan avenue dock in connection with his sightseeing service. Agra said all he needs is authority to use the Madison street dock. The fare Agra proposes is 25 cents, with a 12 ride weekly ticket to sell for $2.

ARREST THREE TEEN AGE GIRLS AS HOLDUP GANG

Three Negro girls were in the Juvenile home last night after their arrest by Hyde Park police as part of a "gang" that had been holding up white girls on street corners in the area and taking their valuables.

The three in the home are Mary Spencer, 13 years old, 4937 Forrestville avenue; Eunice Sutton, 13, of 4637 Evans avenue, and Dolores Crittle, 14, of 59 East 46th street.

Police said five others escaped by fleeing into the bushes of a nearby park. They said all eight of the girls were pupils of Willard school and the other five would be arrested today.

SENATE SHELVES STRAIGHT TICKET AMENDING PLAN

Bars Scheme to Change Constitution.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—The Illinois senate late today shelved permanently the proposal to allow a vote in the party circle to count for a constitutional amendment. It upheld a 12-2 recommendation by the senate judiciary committee last week that the series of bills which would have made the change not be adopted.

Sen. Nicholas L. Hubbard [D., Mt. Pulaski], who with Sen. Walker Butler [R., Chicago] sponsored the legislation, asked that the senate reverse. On a roll call he received the committee's recommendation. His motion lost 22 to 23 with 26 votes necessary to have the legislation placed on the calendar.

Hubbard asserted that the proposal under which a party in convention could indorse an amendment and under which all straight ballots registered for that party would be counted for the amendment is needed to make easy the adoption of a gateway amendment which would allow more than one amendment to be proposed to the constitution at one time. Hubbard said the bills would provide that the circle method of voting would be used for no other amendment than the gateway plan.

Fears Political Control.

Sen. Milton D. Smith [D., Chicago] asserted that such a method would allow "a small political group in control of a convention to take from all minorities the guarantees they now have in the constitution."

Sen. Christopher C. Wimbish [D., Chicago] joined Smith in objecting to the plan, saying, "I fear those who would change the constitution, and I come from a district of poor downtrodden people."

Sen. Roland V. Libonati [D., Chicago] termed the bills "dangerous, reprehensible, immoral, and un-American. The constitution should not be made easy to amend," he said.

Backing the proposed legislation has been the powerful agricultural and educational groups of the state. Opposed to it has been the equally powerful Illinois Manufacturers association, which contends that the measures and the gateway amendment are designed to the end that eventually a state income tax shall be enacted.

Income Tax Enters Debate.

Part of this feeling came out in the debate today when Sen. Frank J. Dick [R., Quincy] entered a verbal sparring match with Sen. Richard J. Daley [D., Chicago].

"Just what changes do you want to make in the constitution?" Dick asked Daley.

Daley mentioned the problem of taking the sales tax off food and the problem of reapportionment, but Dick persisted:

"Do you have in mind enactment of a state income tax?" he asked.

Daley's reply was roundabout. "It is not fair to tax people less able to pay as you do under the sales tax," he said.

Five Chicago Democrats and two Republicans voted against the bills. Six Chicago Democrats and two Republicans voted for the bills.

"Toughest trip in my book...but the crew made it seem easy!"

The Skipper of an Alcoa ship tells this true story of a gruelling six months trip that got even tougher after the ship reached port... and of a crew that treated it like a holiday cruise.

"Our convoy ran into a terrific blow the first day out. Some of the men in the crew were fresh out of Maritime School. First real ocean trip for many of them. But they were okay ... sure handled themselves like veterans.

"Eventually our course took us into waters where our charts were practically useless. Mostly we had to depend on native pilots to guide us through inlets ... jagged ledges and huge ice floes were a constant peril. Believe me, it was touch and go most of the time ... with trouble every inch of the way.

"When we finally reached port, we had to anchor offshore. There were no docks. The only way to unload was onto shallow steel barges. It was a terrific job ... wind blowing a gale, and a blizzard that was half snow, half sleet.

"These barges were tricky to handle ... bounced around like sardine cans ... ice formed quickly on their gunwales. The unloading crew had to be as sure-footed as mountain goats. Even so, we fished several out. No fun to be ducked in water that cold—20 degrees.

"It didn't get anybody down, though. We sure took a whale of a beating ... it was tough going for such kids. But they just laughed off the whole thing. That afternoon a bunch of seamen were on deck—fishin'—happy as if they were on a vacation! Now how does Hitler think he could ever beat guys like that!"

The American Merchant Marine needs the services of every experienced man who has a license as a deck officer, or as an engineer. If you hold such a license, and are now working ashore, you may serve your country far better by going back to sea, even though the present shore job is war work. The hundreds of new ships which will be completed this year will need men like you as officers. Get full information at the nearest office of the U. S. Employment Service or write the War Shipping Administration, Washington, D. C.

BY ROY GIBBONS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 8.—More like prosperous business men than the remnants of Al Capone's once powerful mob were the baker's half dozen of Chicago hoodlums who today were ordered to stand trial here Sept. 7. Date for trial was fixed after their "not guilty" pleas to indictments charging violations of the federal anti-racketeering act and mail fraud were heard in federal District court.

Once there were seven in the group. But Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, their leader, took the pistol route to freedom back in March to leave as today's defendants Louis Campagna, Paul de Lucia, Paul D'Andrea, Francis Maritote, Ralph Pierce, and Charles [Cherrynose] Gioe.

Bonds Transferred.

Bail of $100,000 for each was continued under transfer of $600,000 worth of surety bonds originally posted in Chicago, from whence the six were removed by agreement to the jurisdiction of federal authorities here.

Two other defendants, whose cases also were set for Sept. 7, but who previously had entered not guilty pleas were John Rosselli, former husband of June Lang, the motion picture actress, and Louis Kaufman of Newark, N. J., business agent of local 244 of the Motion Picture Operators' union.

All the defendants, with the exception of Kaufman, are under indictment for both mail fraud and violation of the federal anti-racketeering statute. Kaufman faces charges only on the latter count, which will be the first to be tried in September.

Accused of Shakedowns.

The six Chicagoans, together with Rosselli, who the government charges, acted as collector for the gang on the west coast, are accused of having shaken down members of the International Alliance of Theatrical and Stage Employés for more than $1,500,000.

All, including Kaufman, are also accused by the government of taking another $1,000,000 from four major motion picture producers under threat of calling a general strike.

At today's hearing, United States Atty. Mathias F. Correa revealed that government witnesses have been threatened, are in fear, and that one witness, whom he refused to name," has disappeared completely."

DEVISE METHOD TO GET DRINKING WATER AT SEA

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—A practical method for men marooned in life boats or rafts to make drinking water from the sea has been devised by the navy, it was announced today.

With a small package of black and white chemicals and three plastic bags, more than a quart of fresh water can be made, two navy officers demonstrated. Ten boxes the size of a deck of cards would enable a man to provide himself with drinking water for 20 days, said Lt. William V. Consolazio of Boston, chief chemist of the Naval Medical Research institute at Bethesda, Md., where the method was developed.

Capt. William L. Mann of the navy medical corps, under whose direction the research was made, said mass production of the simple equipment could be started in short order. The new method makes it possible to remove from sea water both the sodium chloride and magnesium chloride which make it unfit to drink.

Youth Held as Marshal's Aids Probe Barn Fires

Agents of the state fire marshal's office yesterday were investigating the case of Penn Watt, 16 years old, son of a wealthy investment banker living in Barrington, who has admitted setting fire to five barns near his home during the last 10 days. He is being held at the Juvenile Detention home pending outcome of the investigation. Young Watt is a son of Alfred R. Watt of Brinker road, Barrington, who has offices at 120 South La Salle street. The young man is a student at Elgin academy.

Bills Would Ease Rules for Trucks on Highways

Springfield, Ill., June 8 [Special]. —More liberal use of the highways by trucks for the duration of the war would be allowed by bills presented to the senate motor vehicles committee today by a special subcommittee headed by Sen. Simon E. Lantz [R., Congerville]. They would allow: lengths up to 45 feet; axle weights of 18,000 pounds; speeds of 45 miles an hour for small trucks and 40 miles an hour for trucks in excess of 8,000 pounds. Also included is an increase in license fees.

BODY FOUND IN LAKE.

Jackson park coastguardsmen yesterday found the body of an unidentified Negro man floating in the lake off 8th street, and took it to the county morgue. The man was 50 years old, 6 feet tall, and weighed 200 pounds.

MILITARY GOVERNMENT.

Hundreds of commissions are available in the military government division of the provost marshal general's office. Qualified men who have five or more years in one or more of the following fields are wanted at once: Public works and utilities, public safety, fiscal and finance, economics, public welfare, education, public relations, laws, etc. Tomorrow we will begin a series of items describing procurements in each of these fields.

Since selected candidates will supervise or assist in supervising the rehabilitation and reorganization of the social, political, and economic life of reoccupied or post-war areas or areas under the jurisdiction of the provost's office, it is necessary that such candidates possess certain personal attributes, qualifications, and training. We are listing these today because they will be required of candidates in all procurements of this series. Since we will not repeat these, it is advisable to clip out this item and save it for future reference.

To be considered, the candidate should have demonstrated ability to deal effectively with important governmental and military officials, to get along well with persons of all types and in all strata of society, to handle difficult situations and problems, and to express himself forcefully and clearly. He should possess tact, diplomacy, imagination, and adaptability. He should have a thoro understanding of social attitudes and behavior. Graduation from college or from a recognized professional school, plus a knowledge of some modern foreign language, is emphasized, but these qualifications may be waived in exceptional cases. The age limits are 38 to 55, except in the case of former commissioned officers, who must be past 29.

Appointments will be in the rank from first lieutenant to lieutenant colonel. Limited service men may be considered. Tomorrow we will give the specific requirements for public works and utilities specialists, and the other fields will be covered in subsequent items.

M. I. asks: "What happens to the money that a person has paid into the social security fund if he is killed while in service?"

ANSWER: Any "credits" for benefits having accrued to his account become payable to his dependents, under certain conditions.

J. H. asks: "Are merchant marines issued uniforms or compelled to buy them?"

ANSWER: They receive uniforms and base pay the same as men in the army, navy, coast guard, etc. The United States maritime service maintains several training programs: Apprentice seamen, radio training, pursers, hospital corpsmen, and stationary engineers. We have data sheets on each of these which we will send upon receipt of a self addressed envelope.

ADMITS TRYING TO ABANDON TOT HUSBAND HATED

A woman who identified herself as Mrs. Edith Wells on Monday when she turned a baby girl over to the Chicago avenue police, yesterday admitted that her correct name is Mrs. Henry Morgel and that she lives at 3303 Monroe street. She said she adopted the child, Loretta Dabros, 12 days after the baby was born on April 21, 1941.

Mrs. Morgel said the child's mother, Mrs. Marie Dabros, abandoned Loretta at a rooming house at 1426 Milwaukee avenue shortly after the baby's birth. Mrs. Morgel, who said she was unmarried at that time, cared for the baby until Monday, she reported. She said she took the baby to the police because she was expecting a child of her own and because her husband, Henry, 22, was unsympathetic toward Loretta.

Detectives Walter Carrigan and Joseph Hoban of the Chicago avenue station recognized newspaper pictures of Loretta and reported her to be the child they found alone in a former residence of the Morgels two months ago when neighbors complained the child was noisy. Mrs. Morgel said she is a night worker in a hamburger stand.

ACT WOULD PUT BANKS IN SMALL LOAN BUSINESS

Springfield, Ill., June 8 [Special]. —The Hubbard commission, which has been investigating small loan companies of the state, issued its report today recommending that the corporation act be amended to allow taxation of companies which the commission says now escape taxes thru use of holding companies.

It also recommends that the usury act be revised to allow only a maximum of 1 per cent a month simple interest on loans up to $300 and for not more than 18 months.

Representatives of small loan companies interpreted the 1 per per cent recommendation as not affecting them, since they do not operate under the usury law. Such legislation, they said, would permit banks to enter the small loan business.

PAPER CARRIERS' BOMBER FUND REACHES $100,375

Chicago newspaper delivery boys yesterday had sold $100,375 in war stamps and bonds in the first leg of their three month campaign to raise $300,000 to buy an army bomber.

Approximately 3,000 boys are participating in the sales drive, according to Joseph Epstein, president of the Newspaper Distributors association. The bomber is to be named "Chicago Newspaper Carriers."

Most of the sales are 10 to 15 cent stamps, Epstein said, and the $100,375 represents a tremendous amount of salesmanship on the part of the boys, who sell the stamps and bonds thru door to door convassing.

CHARGES WASTE OF 30 MILLIONS ON ARMS PLANT

Sen. Truman Says Labor Didn't Know Job.

Kansas City, Mo., June 8 (AP).—Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] charged today at a hearing of his senate committee's investigation into construction costs of the Sunflower ordnance plant near De Soto, Kas., that between 25 and 30 million dollars of taxpayers' money had been wasted on the project.

His accusation followed testimony of the area engineer, Lt. Col. E. E. Taylor, and Perrin D. McElroy, business manager of the Construction Trades council.

Say Many Inexperienced.

Truman and Sen. Ralph O. Brewster [R., Me.] blamed inefficient labor for the extra cost. They explained their conclusion on evidence that 65 per cent of the project's cost went for labor and that the labor was only 65 per cent efficient.

Taylor testified that 400 of the 1,800 men on the pay roll at one time as steamfitters were without previous experience.

McElroy said the union was "trying to maintain its labor standards of years" and when fully qualified steamfitters could not be supplied in sufficient numbers, men who "could do one or more of the jobs of steamfitters" were sent to the project.

$120 to $135 a Week.

Investigation of the construction costs of the munitions plant was begun by the Truman committee after William V. Ryan, a former employé on the project, in a federal informer's suit, accused several contractors of defrauding the government of millions of dollars.

Taylor testified the steamfitters made from $120 to $135 a week before their working day was cut from 10 to 8 hours April 9.

FIND 20 DEAD IN WRECKAGE OF BIG ARMY PLANE

4 Chicagoland Flyers Among Victims.

Fort Bragg, N. C., June 8 (AP).—Twenty men, including four from Chicagoland, were killed in the crash of a Pope field transport plane near Laurinburg-Maxton air base yesterday, Col. Sam Price, Pope field executive officer, said tonight.

Run Into Thunderstorm.

The C-47 transport took off from Pope field, air base at Fort Bragg, about 3 a. m. on a routine flight to Laurinburg-Maxton. En route it ran into a thunderstorm. Two hours later a searching party located the wreckage within sight of the Laurinburg-Maxton field.

Col. Price said the victims included 4 crewmen and 16 glider pilots. Among the dead were the following from Chicagoland states:

Pvt. Donald W. Neal, radio operator of the plane, mother Mrs. Elizabeth Neal, route 1, Dillsboro, Ind.; Flight Officer Everett L. Bennett, mother Mrs. John Bennett, Benton, Wis.; Flight Officer Robert W. Burns, father William L. Burns, 302 Arch street, Ironwood, Mich., and Flight Officer Christ Kalamatas, father Alex Kalamatas, 4758 Roscoe street, Chicago, Ill. The latter three were glider pilots.

Sterling Flyer Killed.

Alexandria, La., June 8 (AP).—Two Esler field flyers were killed on a routine training flight when their plane crashed near Villaldama, Mexico, 90 miles below the border, last night, Capt. C. A. E. Goodwin, Esler field public relations officer, announced this afternoon. Two members of the crew parachuted to safety. The dead were 2d Lt. E. R. Blaksley, Woodbridge, Cal., and Sergt. Charles V. Kane, Sterling, Ill.

JUST READING THE NEWS.

Sen. O'Daniel, sympathizing with some Texas poultry raisers for whom he had sought relief from the office of price administration, harks back to his own boyhood chicken raising days. He says that lice, cholera, hawks, and egg sucking dogs are mild afflictions compared with the Washington buzzards. He doesn't think them planless planners. "I believe they are taking orders from somebody and what they are doing is only part of a plot to change our form of government into 'communism,' 'socialism,' or some other foreign 'ism' which means a dictatorship," he says.

That was one item in yesterday's news. Turn the page.

Albert S. Goss, manager of the national grange, tells a senate subcommittee that if the government employs subsidy payments to roll back food prices inflation will result. Sen. Bushfield predicts that subsidies eventually will cost taxpayers three times as much as it would cost them to buy food at present prices.

The New York state food emergency committee tells Gov. Dewey that New York cannot get the grain it needs to feed its people and its dairy cattle because the relative prices fixed by the government on pork and grain make it more profitable to feed the grain to hogs. The commission calls for a change in federal farm price policies to permit New York people to change from a meat to a cereal diet without injury to health. That's the Chinese version of freedom from want. Meanwhile the department of agriculture reports that it is increasing its purchases of pork and lard for lend-lease gifts to the greatest volume on record.

Reports that the impending roll back of meat prices may lower the market value of live cattle cause farmers to rush their beef animals to market before they have finished fattening them. The feed shortage is hurting Wisconsin dairy production. Paul Gebert, president of the Central Retail Feed association, says that the country can lose a quarter of its beef production if farmers cannot get feed to finish their animals. Every ceiling that has been placed on farm prices has restricted production, says the president of the National Association of Feed Manufacturers.

Joe Weiner, the Union Square farmer who cut the allotments of machinery to the undermanned farms of America while increasing lend-lease quotas, is fired. He joins in oblivion the OPM executive who raised hob with a brass company for failing to schedule the annual output of its brass mines. The ex-professor who took over in the OPA after congressional criticism forced the resignation of Deputy Price Chief J. K. Galbraith [of Princeton] resigns, but a fellow from Harvard fills the vacancy.

Paul McNutt says that selective service boards are violating the law by inducting married fathers. Apparent cause of the confusion was McNutt's "work or fight" order, effective April 1, which no one has been quite able to figure out. Pretty Paul says "there are not enough of such cases to make much difference, anyway." Unless you have 100,000 votes you're beneath a New Dealer's notice.

Eastern congressmen whose constituents are forced by the gasoline transportation tie-up to forego pleasure driving call on Maj. Jubal R. Parten, an assistant to Oil Czar Ickes, to demand why motorists in the middle west, where there is plenty of gasoline, aren't also forbidden pleasure driving. Maj. Parten assures them he is considering doing just that.

All these stories are part of a single day's news report. The only pattern they follow, if it may be called such, is the pattern of chaos. If, as Sen. O'Daniel suspects, the administration planners really have an objective, that objective must be the total disruption of our domestic economy. If that comes, we lose the war.

Congress has done something to save the country from this savage incompetence, but what it has done until now has not been enough to prevent ruin. Unless the west assumes leadership on Capitol hill the future of the nation is desperate.

NICE JOB, JOHNNY.

We are proud of the job John Gavin did in tracing the kidnaper of the little girl and causing the man's arrest before serious harm befell her, but we are certainly not surprised that Gavin did it. John is that kind of reporter. He has been covering police in Chicago for nearly a quarter of a century, the last 10 years or more for THE TRIBUNE.

Police reporting is the best school of the reporter, because on the police beat you are covering not the police, but the human race. There are few in our business who have not had at least a taste of it, and many of us who have moved on to easier jobs have had cause to regret that our apprenticeship was not longer.

Men like Gavin aren't, however, to be confused with apprentices cutting their teeth in the art of reporting. They are professionals. Good police reporting demands a rather wide measure of talents—understanding, shrewdness, persistence, courage. It demands unfailing accuracy, for the police reporter has wider opportunities to hurt people and to involve his newspaper in libel actions than any one else on the paper.

The hardest part of the job isn't covering fires in zero weather, nor walking into dark hallways with cops looking for a maniac with a gun, nor working 16 or 24 hours when a big story breaks. The reporter's adrenals and his curiosity carry him thru that. The hard job is to stand the hours and the nights when nothing happens, and still to check his stations and keep in touch with his editor, never relaxing his vigilance for the story that may be five minutes away—but usually isn't.

We never knew a good police reporter who, we felt, wouldn't make a good war correspondent if the job were given him. On the other hand, one of the minor defects of current American war correspondence is that some of it is being written by men who couldn't get by on a Chicago police beat. John Gavin and his mates know that nobody wants to read about how the reporter got caught in the rain while walking over to the Greasy Spoon with Sgt. Flaherty for a bowl of chili—if you get what we mean.

GOV. GREEN SETTLES A STRIKE.

Gov. Green, in arranging the Illinois mine peace plan, had one advantage over Mr. Roosevelt, the war labor board, Secretary Ickes, and every one else who has had a hand in the coal strike on a national scale. He wasn't trying to cut any one's throat and he wasn't trying to save any one's face. His only objective was to keep the miners at work and keep Illinois coal flowing to the war plants of the middle west. Because he didn't permit extraneous motives to govern him he was successful.

Something may still happen, it is true, to the agreement that the Illinois operators made with the Illinois district of the United Mine Workers. The agreement is subject to approval by the national headquarters of the miners. It does not satisfy the steel companies which own the captive coal mines because, unlike the commercial coal producers, they cannot pass a wage increase to the public but must ask the government for an increase in the price of steel. It is subject to approval by the war labor board and as the latter body's controling emotion thruout the coal strike discussion seems to have been pique, it might tip over the apple cart.

However, thru the governor's good offices the miners and the operators have shown that they can reach an agreement. The atmosphere of hostility has been dispelled, and it is not too much to hope that even if the mismanagement of the national negotiations leads to another walkout, Gov. Green may be successful in persuading the Illinois operators and their miners to maintain production.

The simple and straightforward manner in which the Illinois agreement was obtained is a refreshing contrast to the intrigue, power politics and backbiting that has characterized the national coal negotiations. Mr. Lewis cannot forget that he gave Mr. Roosevelt half a million dollars, nor that in his opinion Mr. Roosevelt has welshed on the debt. Mr. Roosevelt cannot forgive Mr. Lewis for turning against him in the 1940 campaign. The war labor board cannot forgive Mr. Lewis for refusing to submit his case to them because, he alleged, the board was packed with his enemies. So great was the animus of the board that when it appeared that Lewis and the mine owners might reach a settlement without the intervention of the board, the board ordered the negotiations halted. The mine operators are open to suspicion at least of hiding behind the trouble making board, and refusing to negotiate as they have in the past. None of the parties concerned is interested enough in winning the war to subordinate political advantage and personal hatred to that end.

Sen. Burke, the spokesman for the eastern coal operators, does not like the Illinois settlement, he indicates. It might teach his clients a lesson. In the past the Illinois operators have not been represented in the Appalachian coal miners' conference, yet have had to stand by and let that group reach an agreement with the United Mine Workers. If an agreement was not reached and a strike ensued, the Illinois mines shut down, and if an agreement was reached, the Illinois operators had to make the best of a bargain that they had no part in making. Their action in signing independently may convince the Appalachian conference that Illinois deserves a little more consideration.

IN CONFIDENCE, ELMER.

We have before us a communication from the war department signed by a major named Elmer. At the top of the page it says "Confidential" and the same word of dread appears at the bottom. Elmer seems to think that the material in between is a military secret, but we're going to write about it anyway, because we think it is important to expose time wasting foolishness.

Elmer wants to know if James Mansfield Cleary is a trustworthy citizen who can be given employment in the war program without menacing the nation's welfare. Routine inquiries of that sort make some sense when they concern obscure citizens who have yet to make their mark in the world. On the other hand, anybody who would bother to send that kind of a letter about Jim Cleary obviously is wasting his and everybody else's time to say nothing of the taxpayers' money. We don't know what Elmer may be good for, but as an investigator or as a personnel officer he's a bust.

It's a long time since Jim worked here, but he was well known in Chicago then, and today his name and reputation are familiar to tens of thousands of people, here and elsewhere. A lot of them got to know him as a vice president of the Studebaker corporation. A lot more learned about him when he was chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Illinois, a position which he held until recently. Everybody knows that he is loyal to a fault, modest, competent, and tactful, as nearly the ideal citizen as is likely to be found in a month's earnest searching. If Elmer doesn't know these things, he ought not to be a personnel investigator; he ought to be employing his talents greasing trucks.

From time to time we have received a good many of these confidential communications about relatively obscure people and have always been glad to spend the time required to answer them in full. The war department doesn't know everybody who applies for a position of responsibility, and the only way to find the facts is to ask. What Elmer's letter reveals, however, is the reduction of a more or less sensible procedure to a stupid routine in which going thru the motions is all important. We can only hope that the decisions of the war department, upon which the lives of our soldiers depend, are made in a more intelligent fashion.

THE REALM OF NATURE.

After a lifetime of hearing groans about Chicago's climate, this column rises to call attention to our notable freedom from natural catastrophes. We have no tornadoes, hurricanes, damaging earthquakes, floods, volcanic eruptions, or tidal waves. We are also relatively free from dangerous fogs, severe drouths, and blinding dust storms. Our thunderbolt percentage is fairly low, altho the advertised condition of our morals might be considered an encouragement to the descent of fire and brimstone. Think it over before you seek a balmier home on the edge of the San Andreas fault in California or in the pathway of Florida's tropical storms.

Tidal waves are a specialty of Japan. Their technical name in a standard work on geology [Pirsson and Schuchert] is a Japanese word—tsunamis. If you want to afflict Japan with a well deserved tidal wave, plus earthquakes and volcanic explosions, sink 1,000,000 depth charges in the Kurile-Japanese abyss and touch them off simultaneously. This Grand Canyon of the Pacific ocean is about 33,000 feet deep, and is considered to be the nerve center of Japan's geologic woes.

If the Japanese army ration is as rich with vitamins as our food analysts say [news item of June 8], we are ready to abandon our small helpings of fish or poultry and have a go at it. Waiter, a large bowl of soybean curd and seaweed salad! . . . In peace time a Japanese banquet consists of numerous dabs of stuff with fancy names, most of it bean curd. Sukiyaki is as rare in Japan as chop suey in China.

To catch fish without net, hook, line, or sinker: Wait until a big, lazy, scornful fellow swims around your boat a foot or two deep and smack the water over his head with a rifle bullet. He will be stunned and will float to the surface, belly up. This can also be done with a club at ice margins.

WOUNDED EAGLE.

"The doctors say I'll never fly again."
He spoke with nonchalance, but then I saw
His hands were clenched upon the counterpane;
His voice, tho steady, sounded rough and raw.
"Never to fly again . . . why that would mean
Never to watch the glow of rising sun,
And see the earth unfold as in a dream,
As tho once more the world had just begun.
"You cannot clip an eagle's wings," he cried,
"And make him happy in a gilded cage;
He'll always droop and pine for heights denied,
And ever yearn for his lost heritage.
I fooled the Doc," he laughed and his eyes gleamed,
"Last night I flew to China—in my dreams."

The Duke Looks for Trouble.

Hon. Linemaster: Ef you don't get that bloomin' henglisher Shandy Gaff off'n my neck [June 4], I'm gonna sue him either fer libel or whatever my lawyer thinks will get me tha most dough, an it aint the bucks so much that I'm after altho it wood please our butcher; it's my good name that I want kept clean. Its taken me 14 years [less good behavior] to clean it up an I aint gonna stand fer any screw-ball to drag it back in tha gutter.

Ef Gaff had ever had any schooling he wood of remembered tha ole mottoe, I think it was Hamlet, or Shakespeare, or sumbuddy, what said, "He who lifts my poke steals trash but he who steals my good name, etc., etc." Wish I could remember tha rest but mebbe you get tha drift. Honestly, its been a long time since anybody got my dandruff up and if anything gets me sore its to have some palooka pick on tha way I pronounce tha 3 French words that I know.

Can ya imagine a blimey cockney whose ole man took one look at him when he was born and saw that he looked more like ale and gingerbeer than like a human being, picking on tha "Royal House of Bakrak"?. I tell ya I shood ask tha blighter to fight me a duel, cause to me this is an affaire d'honneur, an whats more I hope he knows somebody that knows some one that can translate this for him cause its a cinch that its way over his head. So much for him.

Now as to this Quizzicuss egg, he's just too low-brow for me to even recognize. His intelligence is astounding, to think that he says ennui is a French word and is pronounced ON-WE when any ole fool could tell you ON-WE is Japanese. Duke Bakrak.

P. S. Or, gosh, mebbe its Chinese.

PLEA FROM WEATHER MAN.

A poet wrote of April fair
In golden words of rhyme,
And there was chill in April's air
For nearly all the time.

And then he wrote in glowing verse
Extolling days of May,
And it was like unto a curse—
It rained day after day.

And now this poet writes of June—
No telling what's ahead.
But we will know, alas, too soon
What weather we must dread.

Now what is past has all been done,
And it has gone awry,
But Mister Line O', you're the one
To stop him in July.

The Utter Stupidity of Women.

The other day my wife got mad at me and started to break my right arm. I had to remind her that my right arm was my earning arm, and she went around to the other side and broke my left arm. A woman ought to be smart enough to understand that in the first place without being told. The Duke of Pravaria.

DON'T NEGLECT DIPHTHERIA PROTECTION.

DIPHTHERIA should be a thing of the past. Medical science has pointed the way to its conquest. Methods of control are so simple, so readily available that there is no excuse for its existence. The Schick test will tell us whether or not the individual is susceptible. If he is, a very small quantity of toxoid will establish immunity. Two treatments at intervals of four weeks is the usual procedure. The reactions are negligible. A little later, a Schick may again be applied and, if positive, the protective process may be repeated. Toxoid may be introduced by a hypodermic needle or, according to recent suggestions, dropped into the nostrils.

Because of our war time anxiety some of us may have forgotten the importance of the anti-diphtheria campaign. Safety demands constant vigilance. Unfortunately, a number of communities have harbored an increasing number of cases.

As we know, the disease is caused by a bacillus which can invade the nasal airways, the throat, or the larynx. Should the infection be virulent, marked hoarseness and difficult breathing may be encountered. Sometimes the odor of the breath will be characteristic. Common sense demands that the family doctor be called should an infection of the throat disclose the slightest abnormality. The physician will make a culture or examine the bacteria found growing in the area.

Let us assume that the diagnosis has been made and that a generous dose of the antitoxin has been given. No matter how mild the attack, the victim must be saved every muscular effort in order to spare the heart and the circulation. Only after several days of normal temperature and pulse rate is it safe to allow the child to sit up in bed.

As a rule, the patient will exhibit a low blood sugar level. Corn sirup may be fed slowly in teaspoonful or tablespoonful doses every two to four hours. It may be served cold. Injections into a vein may be helpful in certain instances.

The toxin from the causative germs is extremely powerful and can paralyze the machinery that controls the heart. If there is the slightest tendency to vomit, all food by mouth may be withheld for the time being and fluids administered beneath the skin or directly into the circulation. But the poison of the disease is treacherous. Now and then it will deaden the muscles of breathing. Furthermore, the sufferer may be unable to swallow. In such a circumstance, nourishment may be given via a tube which is passed along the floor of the nostril until it enters the esophagus.

Apparently the sulfonamides are moderately useful altho they will not destroy the responsible organism. But they are of value in controling other microbes which, because of the weakened condition of the victim, may seize the opportunity to multiply.

Once diphtheria strikes, it is tricky. It is far wiser, therefore, to safeguard our little ones and thus forestall an alarming experience.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

SOB SISTER LETTERS.

Chanute Field, Ill., June 3.—Letters from home are the most welcome things a soldier can hope to receive, provided they are cheerful and have to do with the things that our people are doing and saying. Such letters are morale builders and are weapons to lick the axis with. There are, on the other hand, letters written by the sob sister, mother, wife, or sweetheart, who write how terrible it would be if their soldier had to go over seas to fight, why they'd die, they couldn't bear to have their boy, husband, or boy friend face such terrible dangers.

The depression of morale among the recipients is tremendous. It takes several days for a man to get over such unwanted sympathy. About the time the load is lifted along comes another just like the one before or possibly worse. That type of correspondence is an enemy weapon just as surely as a Zero and Messerschmitt fighter. It breaks down the spirit of the man you think the most of. Keep his spirits high by writing cheerful letters, make that a special point just as you buy bonds and check your ration points. That combination will bring victory faster than anything else. PVT. F. C. G. C.

BRITISH INFLUENCE.

Columbus, O., June 1.—In your issue of May 31, you print a letter from a native born Englishman, later naturalized in the United States. We accept his profession of loyalty to the United States at par, but are intrigued by his mention of the dates 1776-1781 as the dates of the American Revolution. No doubt he was taught it that way in England.

I quite agree with his annoyance at the hold the English have on us at the present time. But he need not worry about Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Eisenhower. They will act with dignity and consideration. I am thinking more about how much those hot dogs which the king and queen came over here and ate have really cost this country.

Once upon a time, we heard much about the "forgotten man." I would say that our one forgotten man today is Wainright, left to fall to the Japs in the greatest disgrace to American arms that this country has ever experienced. MacArthur was so popular that he had to be gotten out—and shelved. This is not Republican doctrine; get the A-B-C of it from the great Democratic senator from Kentucky, A. B. Chandler.

WILLIAM S. HARMAN.

ELECTED PRECINCT CAPTAINS.

Chicago, June 4.—Anent your editorial of this date, "Rescuing the County," I suggest a movement to elect precinct committeemen in Chicago as is done in the rest of Illinois. Divide political powers and prevent pressures. This is the only means of holding the politicians — "our rulers" — in check and retaining our liberties. It would hold taxes in check by lessening patronage which is augmented under the present system and used to further regiment us. FERD SETERS.

ON BOOK SALES.

Pekin, Ill., June 1.—Charles G. Arnold, in his letter on May 31 said: "If Mr. Willkie's ideas are so unpopular the American people have an odd way of showing it—'One World' going into its second million."

Hundreds of thousands of copies of "Mein Kampf" have been sold in America but that does not mean that we agree with Hitler's ideas.

JIM STOLLEY.

CLASS HATRED AND SCARCITY.

Chicago, June 3.—In today's TRIBUNE I read a letter written to John L. Lewis by a soldier. To me that letter shows a lack of knowledge of the true situation.

I do not consider Lewis, the miners, or the operators entirely blameless, but let us study the history of the case and then place the blame where it belongs.

From the start of the New Deal reign they have had a program of two branches. One is class hatred and the other is scarcity.

They have passed legislation that has allowed labor unions to become a racket. There isn't another business in the United States that is allowed to conceal its books, and does not have to pay taxes on its income.

I do not blame working members of the unions. It is their officials and the New Deal working together to cause class hatred and succeeding very well. So put the blame for this mine strike where it belongs. It is just another red herring dragged over the trail, to turn the public's thoughts to the miners instead of the failures of the New Deal. They had a month to make and sign a new contract and it doesn't take that long.

They killed little pigs [and some not so little]. They plowed up cotton. They plowed up corn, and mowed down wheat before it was ripe during a bountiful year to make it scarce. Now we are suffering for the lack of those things and we know that there will be a shortage of all crops this year.

So to you, my soldier friend, remember John L. Lewis isn't entirely to blame. And you, New Dealers, I would advise to take your Bible, dust it off, and read Paul's letter to the Galatians and be sure to concentrate on the 7th to 10th verses of the 6th chapter: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." While you are now sowing class hatred there will be a time of reaping, for that is one crop you cannot plow under.

W. ELDON BECK.

ON ORIENTAL EXCLUSION.

Mount Pleasant, Ia., June 2.—Your editorial, "Oriental Exclusion," suggests the way of wisdom in peace or war.

Only by making our acts conform to our boasted promises of freedom and equality can we undermine the foundations of Japanese propaganda that is turning other orientals against us because our laws and actions seem to prove our intolerance and color egotism. If white people are superior, and that is yet to be proved, we should be humbly grateful; we have nothing to make or keep us white, we didn't even choose our ancestors.

We need, and will need, Chinese friendship for years, and we may find as well as give lessons in civilization among the ancient peoples in India and China. To repeal the oriental exclusion act may make it possible for us to forgive ourselves for arming the Japanese with our gasoline and our scrap iron.

If we want equality, freedom, and permanent peace, the quicker we start building "bridges of friendship" over dividing walls and gulfs of prejudice, the better it will be for us and the world. OLIVE COLE SMITH.

WISHES WE HAD A CHURCHILL.

Chicago, June 1.—Your paper today carries a letter from an English woman who advises us to stop drafting married men. I agree with this. I am an English born American also.

All I can do is express my sincere admiration for Winston Churchill and add that it is too bad America hasn't a leader who cares for its interests as well as Churchill does for England's interests. It is too bad the newer and better country has not the better man, for with all my sincere regard for America I must honestly admit Churchill the better when compared with our President.

Over here, free of bombings and invasion threats this country went "war mad." I cannot conceive of Churchill ever going to the extremes we went to in order to aid another country. He would not have put it upon the British people, he would have considered them first.

Many say Churchill is smart because he came here during Britain's need and obtained our aid, but I maintain that was the easiest thing he had to do, for President Roosevelt was ripe for war and easily convinced. He reminds me of the little boy who wept because his playmate had the measles and he didn't. MRS. MARY CARHEART.

THE GAME WITH THE NAME.

Chicago, June 5.—Every nation but the United States is out for empire. Will we again be the big soft boy of the world and pay in blood and wealth for prizes to be gobbled by our allies? The United States has never been imperialistic, yet it is criticized and feared, particularly to the southward, for Yankee imperialism. Let us this time be at least realistic and in the war settlement demand, or take, whatever bases are needed anywhere to safeguard our country, our commerce, and our freedom of the seas and air. We already have the name, so why not have the game? REALIST.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

The volume of Legal Friend mail necessitates printed statements on common questions. No copies or records of the letters or answers are kept. Hence follow-up letters should be complete in themselves. If questions are based on some previously printed problem a clipping of the article should accompany. Most of the replies are mailed. Letters bearing no name are disregarded. A self-addressed envelope will expedite handling.

OBJECTS TO CHILDREN.

Chicago, June 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—We rent two housekeeping rooms from Mrs. A, who has leased the flat from Miss B, the owner. At present we pay the rent weekly, tho we have paid it monthly or semi-monthly at times. I am a defense worker. 1. Miss B now says we must move because she doesn't want children in her building. Ours have done no damage; we can prove that. 2. How much time do we have from the date of notice until we must vacate? G. S.

1. Under Illinois statute, landlords are not permitted to use this reason.

2. Even disregarding the foregoing point, the landlord cannot put you out without a reason approved by OPA.

FBI QUIZZING IS MAJOR ISSUE IN TREASON APPEAL

Court Weighs Legality of Statements by Six.

Three judges of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday questioned at length the statements of prosecutors and defense attorneys during arguments on the appeal of six Chicagoans found guilty of treason last fall in the federal District court of Judge William J. Campbell. At the close of the hearing the court took the case under advisement and set no time for announcing a decision.

Chief among the points in which Judges J. Earl Major, Sherman Minton, and Otto Kerner expressed interest was the introduction of statements taken from the defendants by agents of the FBI after their arrests and before arraignment before a United States commissioner, even tho it was shown that waivers of custody had been obtained from all.

Three Facing Death.

Three of the defendants, Hans Max Haupt, father of Herbert Hans Haupt, executed Nazi saboteur; Otto Richard Wergin and Walter Froehling are appealing weath sentences. Their wives, Erna Emma Haupt, Kate Martha Wergin, and Lucille Froehling are appealing sentences of 25 years in federal prison and fines of $10,000 each.

The question of legality of statements taken from the accused and used against them in a trial was brought up by Atty. Paul A. F. Warnholtz, who represents the defendants. He quoted a recent Supreme court decision in which it was ruled that FBI agents are required to take prisoners before the nearest sitting magistrate for arraignment.

The Supreme court decision referred to was the order of March 1 freeing three MacNabb brothers of Kentucky on the grounds that their confessions to the murder of a revenue agent were obtained by FBI agents before the brothers were arraigned in court. The brothers were said to be operators of an illicit still.

Argues Indictment Faulty.

Warnholtz also argued that the indictment was faulty. He charged the government had included 41 separate acts in its indictment and alleged that treason was a complete crime and that all the overt acts were incident to the one treasonable conspiracy.

United States Atty. J. Albert Woll said during questioning by Judge Kerner that the crux of the government's case against the six rested on admissibility of the statements taken by FBI agents.

PRISONER FREED AFTER 20 YEARS ON OWN PETITION

Arthur Haskell Jr., 36 years old, who spent 20 years confined in the Illinois Security hospital at Menard, walked out of the Kendall county Circuit court at Yorkville yesterday a free man.

Circuit Judge Charles A. O'Connor entered an order nol prossing an indictment returned against him Aug. 24, 1923, charging rape.

A plea of insanity by Haskell sent him to the Security hospital. During his years of imprisonment Haskell was a frequent visitor to the hospital library.

A few months ago he found a law book. He read of the right of every man to petition the courts for justice, drafted a petition for a writ of habeas corpus and mailed it to Judge O'Connor.

On April 17 Haskell stood before Judge O'Connor and heard three physicians testify that he was apparently sane.

Judge O'Connor held Haskell restored to sanity and ordered his release from the Menard institution, but the 1923 indictment remained.

Roger Clark of Yorkville was appointed special prosecutor and yesterday informed the court that the complaining witness, now 26 years old, married and the mother of two children, did not desire to prosecute. Haskell was free.

PRAISES ZION POLICEMAN FOR CRASH ARRESTS

A Lake county coroner's jury stated in a verdict yesterday that "the community owes Lt. Moody Simpson of Zion a great deal of credit" for his capture of three out of town burglar suspects. A fourth, Glendale Redman, 17 years old, of St. Louis, Mo., was killed when their stolen car crashed during the chase. The three nabbed were Frank T. Ochman, 18, and Charles Malone, 16, both of St. Louis, and Lyle Pearce, 20, of Taylor, Ariz. Police said the three are wanted in Missouri for auto thefts. Malone and Ochman were turned over to federal authorities. Pearce is in Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan, recovering from injuries suffered in the crash that caused Redman's death.

Wandering 200 Pound Hog Captured by Policemen

Policemen Walter Knoch and Arthur Howard located 200 pounds of pork yesterday, on the hoof, and transferred it, squealing loudly, to the Burnside police station. Cruising near 95th street and Cottage Grove avenue, the policemen found a hog wandering about the streets.

The Inquiring Camera Girl
BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Julia Tyszka, 1726 North Clark street.]

THE QUESTION.

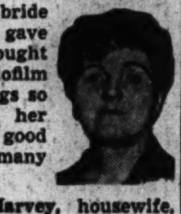
What is the most successful gift you have given to a bride?

WHERE ASKED.

Broadway and Wilson avenue.

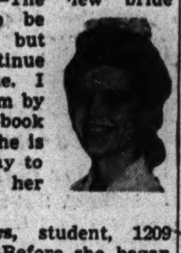
THE ANSWERS.

Ruth Carpenter, waitress, 4651 Magnolia avenue—My work brings me in daily contact with the wives of soldiers at Fort Sheridan. They all seem to have trouble locating a room equipped with ironing facilities. Many were pleased with miniature traveling irons. Not long ago I sent one as a wedding gift.

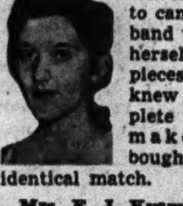


Ann Corley, clerk, 4740 Malden street—After I had seen all the lovely linens the bride had received it gave me an idea. I bought her a set of pliofilm envelopes and bags so she could store her gifts. They'll be good protection for many years.

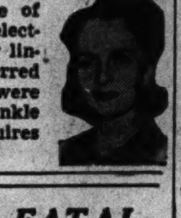
Mrs. W. F. Harvey, housewife, 231 Prospect avenue, Lake Bluff—My shopping problem was easy. The girl had started collecting a set of sterling silver. After she was married I got the pattern number of the silver and surprised her with several pieces she had been wanting.



Dorothy James, fountain girl, 1464 Carmen avenue—The new bride wasn't going to be keeping house, but was going to continue to live at home. I solved the problem by giving her a $5 book of war stamps. She is putting them away to buy things for her future home.



Barbara Mayers, student, 1209 Sherwin avenue—Before she began traveling from camp to camp with her husband the bride bought herself two lovely pieces of luggage. I knew no set was complete without the makeup kit, so I bought one that was an identical match.



Mrs. E. J. Kvammen, clerk, 4530 Malden street—I knew she was going to travel and probably wouldn't have much time to take care of her clothes. I selected a set of dainty lingerie. She preferred them, for they were made of silk crinkle crêpe, which requires no ironing.

INJURIES FATAL TO BOY, 8, HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Robert White, 8 years old, 1725 Adams street, died in County hospital yesterday of injuries suffered Monday when struck by an automobile at Ogden and Ashland avenues. He ran into the street from between two parked cars, Thomas Metropolis, 31, of 833 Cabrini street, the driver, told police.

Donald Faulkner, 16, of 136 McKinley avenue, Libertyville, was killed and his companion, Delbert Kennedy, 15, of route 2, Libertyville, was seriously injured late last night when their car left the pavement on Buckley road, north of Libertyville, and struck a tree. Kennedy was taken to the Condell Memorial hospital, Libertyville.

George Mead, 52 years old, 7752 South Aberdeen street, was halted by two shots fired by police yesterday after his automobile had struck Mrs. Anna Andrus, 62, of 2422 West 64th street as she attempted to board a street car at West 63d street and Washtenaw avenue. She was taken to the Evangelical hospital and Mead to the Englewood station, where he was charged with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

EX-CHOIR BOY SAYS HE KILLED TO SAVE MOTHER

Testifies at Trial of Self and Parent.

William Keane, 19 year old former choir boy, took the witness stand yesterday in Criminal court and described the conditions that led him to kill Theodore Farnum, an exactor, in defense of his mother.

The son and the mother, Mrs. Margaret Keane, 51, who met Farnum in a tavern and took him to her home intoxicated, are on trial charged with murder, the first such defendants to be tried together in the Cook county courts.

"You'll never live to call the police, neither you nor your son. I'll kill you both before I go," young Keane said Farnum shouted after Mrs. Keane had ordered him from their apartment at 668 West 62d street in a quarrel early in the morning of Feb. 21 last, the day of the slaying.

Awakened by Quarrel.

The witness said he had been awakened by the altercation. He had dressed and gone to the kitchen to make some coffee and had a cup of the beverage in his hand.

When he saw Farnum knock Mrs. Keane down in the dining room, Keane said he threw the coffee at Farnum and cried out: "Please leave my mother alone!"

Keane had picked up a butcher knife in the kitchen, he said, and had it in his hand as his mother rose from the floor and started for the door. Farnum started to choke her, the witness said.

"It all happened so fast that I lost control of myself and I struck him once or twice with the knife while he was choking my mother," Keane continued. "Then he came at me and said, 'I'll tear you apart. I'll wreck this joint and you, too.'

Lashes Out with Knife.

"I just lost control of myself and lashed out with the knife, and I don't know what happened. But Farnum was clawing at me and I struck back with the knife."

The mother ran screaming to a neighbor downstairs and Keane said he went there and told her to call the police and a hospital, that "Ted is severely wounded."

Earlier, under questioning of James M. Burke, defense counsel, William had told of seeing Farnum strike his mother and his sister, Dorothy, 17, and that he had been knocked down by Farnum when he interceded for them. Once he moved to the Y. M. C. A. because of Farnum's drunken abuse, he asserted. He said he had been a choir boy at St. Bernard's Catholic church, but quit in embarrassment when his parents were divorced.

Dorothy, the sister, earlier had testified of Farnum's alleged abuse of her and her mother. She lives with a sister in California and flew to Chicago to be a witness in the trial. She wept during part of her testimony.

OPERA BARITONE, CZAPLICKI, WINS DIVORCE DECREE

Jerzy Czaplicki, 41 years old, a baritone with the Chicago Civic Opera company, yesterday was granted a divorce from his wife, Louisa Tapales Czaplicki, an operatic soprano now living in Italy.

Czaplicki told Superior Judge Ulysses S. Schwartz that his wife, of Filipino descent, became well known for her rôle as Madame Butterfly and preferred to consider herself a Japanese subject. He said she ordered him out of their home in Milan, Italy, in 1931.

HEIRESS BEATS HUSBAND'S THIRD TRY FOR DIVORCE

Another chapter in the long fought John W. Lutz divorce case, complicated by a $50,000 inheritance that has vanished, was closed in the Circuit court of Judge Walter J. La Buy yesterday when the jurist dismissed Lutz's bill of divorce for want of equity.

Lutz, now a patient in a veterans' hospital in Wood, Wis., married Margaret Mersch in 1908. The wife had inherited the money from her grandfather, Nichols Mersch, a pioneer Chicago and Evanston lumberman and real estate operator.

Lutz sought a divorce in 1927 and again in 1938, charging his wife had deserted him. Both decrees were invalidated in reviews granted Mrs. Lutz.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Lutz filed a bill to dismiss Lutz's continued bill. Judge La Buy suggested a settlement. "I don't want any settlement," she replied. "He gambled away my money. I am penniless and have been on relief for eight years. Nevertheless I want him back. I love him. I don't want any divorce."

Judge La Buy dismissed the bill. Mrs. Lutz wept. Lutz hurried out of the courtroom.

THE SECRET.

Isabel's voice was so low that Paul had to bend his head clear down to catch her frightened words.

"I'm not Lem's daughter, Paul. Mother told me last year. No one knew it, she said, except Dr. Lockerbie and Lem. And my own father.

"That's what Dr. Lockerbie won't tell the prosecutor. That's what I'm afraid people will find out—and shame her now—and talk about her. Lem never got drunk enough to tell it. Polly never told it. She paid for it—how can I—now—my own mother! How can I tell them that! I loved her so. You don't know how I loved her. I have to think of her—and of Betty—and Granny. I can't tell it, Paul!"

Paul sat very still. It seemed to him that the very nerve cells of his body were crumbling. What he had expected Isabel to tell him, he did not know—but certainly not this. He felt a vast relief, a gratitude so profound and humble that he did not understand it even while he experienced it. It seemed at the moment to center in the core of his genuine pride that her anxiety was not for herself.

"Do you know who your father is, Isabel? Did your mother tell you?"

"No. But I'm pretty sure. She said to me, 'I'm going to make your father do something for you. His other girls are going off to boarding school, going into society. And here you are—I'll make him do something for you or tear the town apart.'"

"You think it was Presser?"

"Yes, Paul—I think he was my father."

"But—what if he killed Polly, Isabel?"

"Even so," she said passionately, "even if he did—if he got her into trouble when she was a girl, and killed her in the end—even so, I couldn't tell it! I'd rather they thought Lem got drunk and killed her. There was plenty of reason for her quarreling with Lem — even fighting with him. I couldn't bear—if every one knew it now, Paul. And you see—maybe it was Lem."

"No," he said, "no—you can't tell it!" Here was motive.

"I asked her once," she sat up on his knees and looked at him and she was desperately anxious, "the way she happened to tell me—I said to her once—why did she put up with Lem? Why didn't she divorce him—we'd all be better off. And so she told me. She said to me, 'I did him a great wrong. I have to take whatever comes. It's the least I can do.' I think she thought she was partly to blame because he went to pieces so. She paid for it—between them the score was more than settled. And Lem wouldn't want me to tell. He loved her, Paul."

"Yes," Paul said, "I understand. I can see how it would be." He drew her back against his breast. He was thinking of Dr. Lockerbie sitting there in jail.

Isabel said: "I'll do whatever you say, Paul. If you say so—I'll tell them."

"No," he said. He was remembering what he had repeated after the preacher—"Forsaking all others ——" Dr. Lockerbie and the judge and the sheriff would have to work it out without Isabel.

It seemed to him as he sat there in silence, with her lying against his heart, that everything was explained. Her indifference to Lem's fate, which had hurt him so, her desire to flee from Hilltown, to make a new place for herself, her feelings of inferiority and defeat, her unnatural reluctance to let any one examine into the causes of her mother's death.

Paul held her close. God help him, he would be good to her. He would try, somehow, to make things up to her. A strange phrase came to his mind—that Dr. Lockerbie had finally taken a wife and raised her. He, too, had taken a wife and he had to raise her. And he could not even provide a bed for their wedding night, or a flower or a wedding supper or a gift. He did not know where he was going to turn next and so he only sat there, cradling her, and after a little she said, timidly: "Paul?"

"Yes."

"Paul—you aren't angry with me?"

"Angry?" he asked, wondering.

"You don't hate me—do you? Because of what I just told you? Because I didn't tell you—before."

"No," he said, "no, I'm not angry. I don't hate you, Isabel. I love you! You couldn't tell that to any one not your own. Your feeling was correct. And none of it is your fault. You've done the best you possibly could thru it all. I was just thinking—I didn't dream—I never guessed at all."

"I don't think any one has ever guessed."

"Isabel, it will be best if you act to Will Presser as tho you have no notion of this. I will do the same. It will be better if he never suspects that we know it."

"I never see him, Paul. I hardly know him."

"Just let it stay that way. Keep as far away from him as you can."

"Paul, if we could go back to my little room—if we could go over to University Town to live—"

"We'll see," he said. "I'm going out now. I have to go to Lockerbies'. I want to tell the doctor and Mary Ellen that we're married, get some things for myself. I'll come back in a little while. You'd better get some rest. Do you want to come with me?"

"Not if you're going to the jail," she said. Paul kissed her.

"Isabel," he said, "it's the two of us now—against the whole world. The first thing we have to do, all the time, whatever comes, is stick together. I'll try to take care of you as well as I can. Now everything is going to be hard. Our future demands that I finish school. But, however we figure, we have to figure on one another."

"I ought to be at my new job at 8 in the morning, Paul."

"We'll see," he said. "I'll go out now and attend to a few things. I'll come back, even if it's late."

Paul went out. He went to the jail. The sheriff was just turning out the lights in his office when Paul went in.

"I have to see the doctor," Paul said. "It's urgent."

Sheriff Anderson walked down the corridor and unlocked the cell where Dr. Lockerbie sat, let Paul in and locked the door behind him.

"You can't stay long," he said. "The crowd's thinned out, but I don't trust them—may be hatching something. And don't try to pull any funny stuff, Paul James!"

Dr. Lockerbie had a pair of house slippers on his feet, a dressing gown over his shirt and trousers.

"Come in, Paul," he said. "I was just thinking of retiring. The bed doesn't look any too soft, does it?" When Paul did not answer Dr. Lockerbie said, "You're looking pretty sober, son."

Paul sat down on the doctor's cot. He said slowly and with difficulty, "Isabel and I were married tonight. She told me what it was you would not tell the grand jury. I was to decide whether she would go to them or not."

"So she knows," said the doctor. "I wondered."

"Yes. Polly told her."

"Of course she can't go to the grand jury and of course I'd still be under contempt charges if she did."

"No," said Paul, "she can't go."

"You can't take anybody's word for it that they know what they are doing, can you, Paul?"

"It seems I can't," said Paul.

"So, you're married," mused Dr. Lockerbie. "How are you going to manage?"

"I don't know exactly," Paul answered. "Isabel has a job. And she has a room at the University. I can sell my bike for a little cash, and move in with her and look around over there for something to do. If I do that it means I'll have to leave you, Doctor. That's the worst feature of the whole business."

"At the moment I don't need a driver," Dr. Lockerbie reminded Paul, smiling. "And it's only a few months until you'd leave anyhow, Paul. Every man has to work out his own problems. You have been loyalty itself for seven years. But don't decide anything without considering well."

"Of course I won't leave you—until all this is settled—until everything is cleared up. I don't suppose you know what happened about Will Presser? What he told the grand jury?"

"You may be sure he told them nothing," said Dr. Lockerbie. "He's shrewder than I am. He will be very coöperative. But they'll know no more than they did."

"What are you going to do then?" demanded Paul. "It's all very well to say you'll rot here but you can't, of course."

"O," said Dr. Lockerbie cheerfully, "something will turn up. If all else fails Mrs. Mosley is to have a very complicated baby—one Dr. Lunt can't manage. She has a bad time always, you remember—and this time it's going to be really sensational. And that may turn out to be more fact than fiction, too, and before the night is over. Of course the judge couldn't let her die—and his face must be saved."

"I see," said Paul slowly. How young and crude he must seem—dashing about to a rescue that was all planned easily and quietly by a few experienced old conspirators.

BANDIT WHO LEFT MAN TIED IN COLD DENIED FREEDOM

Lionel Shaffer, 46 years old, who with an accomplice robbed and left a taxi driver bound in a cemetery toolshed in Hampshire, Kane county, in bitter cold weather in 1922, yesterday was denied release from Joliet penitentiary on a writ of habeas corpus by Judge Charles A. O'Connor.

Intent on a bank robbery, the pair had Robert Brannisch of Sycamore drive them to Hampshire, where they found the bank closed, so made the driver their victim. On Jan. 5, 1923, Shaffer was sentenced to serve one to 10 years for robbery.

After eight years he was paroled and went to Minnesota, where he served a prison term, and then was returned to Joliet as a parole violator. His petition, which recited the deaths of Judge Mazzini Slusser, who sentenced him, and of State's Atty. Charles Abbott, and emphasized an entirely new parole setup in Illinois, failed to move Judge O'Connor.

PETRILLO SILENT ON RECORD BAN AS BOARD MEETS

The executive board of the American Federation of Musicians yesterday opened meetings which will continue thruout this week in the Palmer House. James C. Petrillo, president, declined to discuss the outlook for a settlement of the ban on recordings and radio transcriptions which has been in effect since last Aug. 1. Petrillo said that this meeting is taking the place in a measure of the annual convention, which had been scheduled for next week at Columbus, O. It was canceled, he said, to save transportation in wartime. Petrillo stated that routine union business matters were being handled at this session.

Conger and Wales Families Plan to Share Summer Home

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE question of whether to open or not to open country homes has been settled by the James Congers, who are planning to open the old McVoy family home in Pentwater, Mich., where they and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wales, will spend part of the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Conger and Mr. and Mrs. Wales are among the young couples that war work took to Washington, D. C., for the duration.

The Congers and their son and baby daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Wales and their three youngsters will arrange the season so that the children are there most of the time, with one set of parents or at least their mothers present. They have invited Mrs. Conger's brother-in-law and sister, the junior Sidney S. Gorhams, and their three boys to join the family group. Mrs. Gorham is expecting another sister, Mrs. Walter Kohler Jr. of Kohler, Wis., for a visit this week.

Lt. Kohler Takes Part in Heroic Sea Rescue.

Lt. Kohler, who is on active duty with the navy in the Pacific, recently figured in the heroic rescue of an American from a Jap held island. He was aboard a navy patrol bomber seeking to rescue two marine pilots shot down in combat. The bomber landed along shore only 10 minutes' flying time from a Japanese air field. A white man tinkering with a boat near some native huts was recognized by Lt. Kohler as Lt. Milton Vedder, marine pilot, of Los Angeles, who jumped into a canoe and paddled out to the plane. Lt. Vedder had been forced down seven miles from the island, to which he paddled in his rubber raft, but his companion apparently did not get ashore after they bailed out.

Mrs. Gorham's only brother, Eugene McVoy Jr., will have thrilling tales to tell of the battle of North Africa when he returns from war. He has followed the entire battle for Tunisia driving an ambulance for the British.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine is getting ready to leave about June 21 for her summer estate at Southampton, N. Y. Spending the summer with her will be her sister, Mrs. Vernon Booth of New York. Within a week or so Mrs. Valentine's sister-in-law, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, also will be deserting her winter town house for the country. Her destination will be Lake Forest.

Next Fortnightly Season to Include Four Parties.

The young people who each winter attend the Fortnightly dances at the Fortnightly will rejoice to hear that they are to have not one party next season but four. Last year the series was telescoped into one large dance, given on Dec. 21, but for the coming winter Mrs. Wayne Wills and her committee are planning four dinner-dances, to be given on Nov. 26, Dec. 22, Feb. 11, and March 10. All the parties with the exception of the Christmas dance fall on Friday nights.

In heading the Fortnightly committee Mrs. Wills carries on the work of the late Mrs. Nelson Thomasson, who founded the series. The Thomasson family still is represented on the committee by the founder's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thomasson III., who maintains her interest in the group altho she has moved to Philadelphia. Young Mrs. Thomasson recently returned to Chicago for a brief visit.

Others who are on the committee with her include Mrs. John B. Adams, Mrs. William Tracy Alden, Mrs. Harold A. Bachmann, Mrs. Aldis J. Browne, Mrs. Loyal Davis, Mrs. C. Wallace Johnson, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mrs. Charles M. McKenna, Mrs. G. William Reynolds, Mrs. Theodore Robinson Jr., Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mrs. Dudley Stark, Mrs. William J. Stenson, Mrs. Abner J. Stilwell, Mrs. Arthur M. Wirtz, Mrs. James O. Wood, and Mrs. Philip K. Wrigley.

Phyllis Hollands' Troth to Ensign Is Disclosed.

Dr. and Mrs. Augustus Hollands of Kenilworth today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis, to Ensign George Martin Sus, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Henry Sus of Lake Shore drive. No party is being given to celebrate the announcement, as Ensign Sus is on duty in Columbus, Miss., having completed his naval training at Columbia university. Miss Hollands, a debutante of the 1938 season, attended the Roycemore and Fairmount schools and the Academy of Fine Arts. Ensign Sus was graduated from Lake Forest academy, Yale university, and the University of Michigan law school.

Flight Comdr. James H. Gillfillan and his pretty young wife are arriving today from Saskatoon, Canada, to visit their respective parents, the Solon J. Gillfillans of Glencoe and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lyman Emrich of Evanston. Flight Comdr. Gillfillan entered the R. C. A. F. while a student at Amherst and is a senior instructor pilot. Mrs. Gillfillan has been active in Red Cross work in Saskatoon.

The 47 members of the North Shore Country Day school's graduating class and their parents will meet at 1 p. m. today for their senior luncheon, to be followed by a program of stunts in which the parents will take part. The graduation exercises are set for 3:30 p. m. on Friday. The middle school will receive its diplomas at noon on that day.

NOTICE.

Some one put a bouquet of flowers on my lot Decoration day. Thanks for your kindness, but I am not dead yet.—Nancy Cotton.

Definition.

A Chicago girl named Madelaine Pal was walking along behind two small boys the other day when she overheard them in violent argument about the definition of "sentry," which they were calling "century." "A century's a Nazi or a Jap," one declared. "Aw, a century could be anybody, a Nazi or a Jap or an American!" the other retorted. The first one refused to be convinced, and as the pair wandered away the second was heard to dismiss the subject with, "Aw, sometimes I think you're as dumb as Hitler!"

This Changing World.

From a scout comes this interpretation of women's changing response to one subject as time goes on:

1941: "What a man!"
1942: "What? A man?"
1943: "What's a man?"

The Casual Type.

News item in the Hardin county [Ill.] Independent:

The sharp object in Henry Decker's leg since he was wounded in action in World War I. had been pushing against the surface of the skin recently until last week it seemed as tho it would break thru.

So Decker, at his home on route 3, sharpened his pocket knife on a fruit jar and cut open his leg and removed a 2 inch piece of shrapnel which had been there for 25 years. He sewed up his operation with a needle and black thread.

The Carnivores Are Here.

Olive Elliot Aby stopped at her favorite golf range the other night to sock a few balls and when she found how troublesome the mosquitoes had become drew comfort from her slacks and long sleeved blouse. On the next tee a small boy was hacking away, but had to stop every minute or so to fight the hungry, buzzing hordes away from his bare legs. Finally, exasperated, he threw down his club and yelled, "You dirty mosquitoes don't even seem to know we have meat rationing!"

The Wisdom of Age.

Letter from a sage old navy man of 25:

"A swell thing happened Friday night. There was an air raid around 9:30, and we were herded into a big room. There was the usual chatter and lighting of cigarets. Then a fellow with a marvelous baritone voice started to sing. Boy! it really hit that sentimental old heart of mine. All the old hits like 'Let Me Call You Sweetheart' and 'When Irish Eyes Are Smiling' and others, and at the end of the blackout, as we were all looking out the windows he began to sing, 'When the Lights Go On Again' just as the city lights were coming on. It was like a scene in a movie. Ah! there is nothing like those old simple melodies. Too bad the foolish kids of today don't realize it. I suppose they will some day."

House Passes Bill to Let WAVES Serve Overseas

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—A modified measure permitting the WAVES to serve overseas with their consent and granting them the same death and disability benefits now accorded to men in the service was passed today by the house without debate or record vote. The senate must act to complete congressional approval.

Mary Meade Demonstrates Oven Dehydration of Carrots

SLICE THE CARROTS

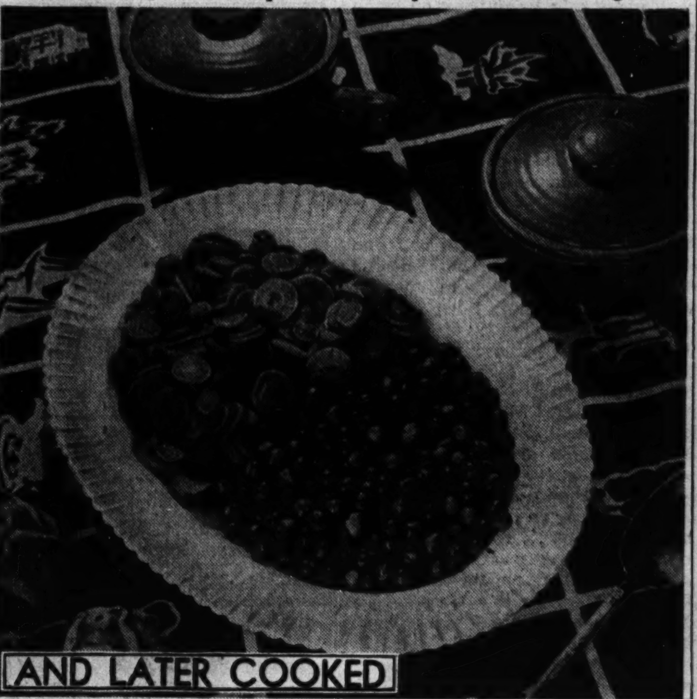
1. This is an experiment in oven dehydration of carrots. Carrots are pre-cooked 6 minutes to set color and stop enzyme action. Carrots are skinned, sliced, and spread on screens.

FILL OVEN TRAYS

2. Trays of sliced carrots go into the oven. The wooden piece at the left will hold oven door open about 8 inches to permit circulation of air. Temperature is kept at a low 150 degrees.

CARROTS ARE DRIED—

3. Carrots are stirred and trays are rotated several times during 6 to 8 hours of drying. The dried carrots look like this—hard and crisp, but still bright in color and carroty in odor.



4. Half a cup of the dried carrots were soaked 3 hours in water and quickly cooked to make 4 to 5 servings. Served with fresh peas, nobody guessed these carrots had been dried.

White Jewelry Gives Summer Added Lustre

BY REA SEEGER.

Chalk white costume jewelry doesn't make a summer but it helps the illusion. Ear rings, necklaces, and bracelets all dramatize sophisticated dull black dresses, as well as the linens and crisp, cool, bright colored cottons in any wardrobe. Such costume jewelry is not very expensive, either.

A few pieces of carved Chinese ivory are available. They include long flattering necklaces to define the deep vee neckline of a simply draped or shirred bodice top, rigid bracelets to clink musically and coolly thruout a warm day, and stunning large ear rings and brooches. They make up an effective assortment of unusual white accents for summer clothes.

Dazzling white featherweight plastics make ideal summer costume jewelry. Varying sized beads, discs, pendants, balls, cylinders, and cubes are used for effective necklaces of single and multistrand formations. Huge earrings or neat, small button ball ear rings are easily matched to both necklaces and bracelets. White shell jewelry is another summer time accent. Massed shells are used for clips and brooches and larger single shells for necklaces and bracelets.

If the all white jewelry doesn't click, try the icy cool pieces of transparent crystal or the delicate pastel pieces in water color pinks, blues, yellow, and green. With sports and casual clothes, wear the smart wood jewelry, which comes in brown, beige, and darker shades of smooth polished wood, plain or fancifully carved.

Applesauce Cup Cakes: Cream ¼ cup bacon drippings with ½ cup sugar. Add ½ cup applesauce. Bake in greased muffin pans, 375 degrees F., about 25 minutes. 8 to 10 cup cakes.

Plain Omelet: Beat 4 eggs slightly, just enough to blend yolks and whites. Add 4 tablespoons milk, ½ teaspoon salt, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Put two tablespoons butter in omelet pan or heavy frying pan; when melted, turn in egg mixture and reduce heat slightly. As omelet cooks, lift with spatula, letting uncooked part run underneath. When browned on bottom side, fold and cut into four servings.

Warns Errors Will Hold Up Ration Books

Applications for No. 3 ration books from consumers in the seven state midwest region disclose a "surprisingly large percentage of errors which will delay distribution of the books," Raymond S. McKeough, regional administrator of the office of price administration, said yesterday.

McKeough said incorrectly prepared forms, lacking signatures or other essential information, will have to be returned to the applicants. He also warned against the sending in of duplicate applications. He said most duplication results from misunderstanding or ignorance.

He warned that the OPA will investigate every case of multiple application to determine whether a criminal attempt is being made to obtain extra ration books. He said the OPA's master filing system will detect duplication.

False certification of an application is a criminal offense and any one who deliberately makes false statements to the government faces prosecution, he said.

Consumers who have not received their applications should ask for them at their post offices and mail them before midnight June 10. Forms postmarked later will not be handled until Aug. 1.

Rationing boards in 33 states and the District of Columbia subject to fuel oil rationing in a few days will start mailing new simplified application forms to consumers for the 1943-'44 fuel oil rations, the OPA office said yesterday.

The streamlined form, which asks only five simple questions, will be used only by those consumers who received their fuel ration at the same address last year. The OPA urged users to return the application forms quickly. The applicants will not have to register or appear before their rationing boards.

Consumers who have moved during the year or who are applying for rations for the first time will have to complete a special form at a later date, the OPA said.

On the simplified form, the applicant will state his name, address, the address of the place where the ration will be used, if he can use less oil this year, and the name and address of the fuel oil dealer.

Czech Writer to Lecture for Woman's Club Today

A Czecho-Slovakia day will open the "club in summer" programs today at the Chicago Woman's club. Mrs. Samuel Verner Robuck, program chairman, will present Libushka Bartusek, Czech writer and composer, at 11:30 a. m. in a lecture on the dance, and there will be a luncheon and card party later for members and their guests.

Thru the Looking Glass

The American Red Cross, for good reasons, would like to see all Americans become really competent swimmers. It's a national safety measure.

It's also a beauty measure, we'd like to point out. Women who are dissatisfied with their silhouettes and with their lack of energy will find that swimming is a beautifier and a health builder.

Swimming is one of those perfect normalizers. It helps the overly fleshy to tone down the bulges and helps the too thin to build up bodies that are strong and rounded in the right places. There is nothing quite like it for the flat chested. A girl or woman who wants a beautiful bust line can have one if she'll learn how to swim and stick with the sport. Without the proper development of the chest muscles a good bust line is impossible. And we know of no exercise yet devised that is so efficient in building up these important muscles.

There is no age limit on swimming. You can learn whether you are 6 or 60, and you'll derive all sorts of benefits from it. You might be surprised to know that it is a calming kind of an activity, highly recommended for people who are nervous and who tire or get fidgety easily. A swim will relax and refresh you.

Every muscle in the body is exercised by swimming, tho it is not violent. Because it is rhythmic it's an ideal exercise for women.

Many neighborhood pools will be coöperating with the Red Cross this summer on swimming instruction. Take it up if you possibly can—for safety, improved health, and improved looks, to say nothing of good fun!

Amelia Earhart Inspiration for Dramatic Film

"FLIGHT FOR FREEDOM."
An RKO-Radio Production.
Directed by Lothar Mendes.
Presented at the Palace.

THE CAST.

Tonie Carter	Rosalind Russell
Randy Britton	Fred MacMurray
Paul Turner	Herbert Marshall
Johnny Salvini	Edward Ciannelli
Admiral Graves	Walter Kingsford
Pete	Damian O'Flynn
Bill	Jack Carr
Mac	Matt McHugh
Mr. Yokohata	Richard Loo
Flyer	Charles Lung

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

There are many [including her mother, I hear] who believe that Amelia Earhart didn't die, that someday she will reappear as strangely and suddenly as she was lost. . . . "Flight for Freedom" spins a story based on one of the many legends about her disappearance.

This is an exciting picture. A "different" one. Like so many Hollywood productions, it goes out of its way to gloss official laxness with slams at "isolationists," but for the most part it's good drama, well acted and presented.

Tonie Carter is a famous aviatrix who has met, loved, and thought herself jilted by Randy Britton, world famous aviator.

She sets out to heal her torn and humiliated heart with that greatest of all panaceas—hard work—and becomes the most famous woman flyer in the world. . . . SO famous that her government, planning an attack on the Japanese mandated islands, asks for her aid.

It will be necessary for her to become "lost"—for reasons the picture shall reveal.

I thought it a serious flaw in plot manipulation to enlist the widely publicized and photographed Randy Britton, working under an alias, to assist her in so secret a mission. . . . In this instance credibility was sacrificed to romance and the story weakened.

Rosalind Russell is strong, fine, and beautiful as Tonie. As great an emotional actress as she is a comedienne. She never overplays.

Fred MacMurray is splendid as a genial wolf turned into all man thru his love and admiration for a great and brave woman he had once esteemed lightly. . . . Herbert Marshall is appealing as the man who loves in vain. Good foil for the glamorous MacMurray. . . . Other parts are well played.

Action is swift and engrossing. Tonie's last entrance—and exit!—get you where you live.

See you tomorrow.

Mrs. Mary M. Purcell, Streator, Ill.—I find an ordinary spring type clothespin makes a good snap to hold my ration stamps. I place it on the table for the grocery boy and the stamps stay secure. I have heard of their blowing away and getting lost.

Mrs. Agnes J., La Salle, Ill.—I tote along a basket when weeding, and it saves on pickup time later. This season I'm going after small weeds promptly and not giving them a chance to dig into the soil.

Mrs. Berton B., Chicago—I have several tricks up my sleeve to remove grease or lipstick stains from articles before laundering. I try sponging them with carbon tetrachloride first. If this doesn't remove stains I soak them in a mixture of washing soda and water. To make the mixture I dissolve a cup of the soda in hot water, and add cold water.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., June 8. — Jim Brown of Texas signed with Paramount but got his training in "Air Force" at Warners and in "Corvettes" at Universal. Warners wanted him for "Destination, Tokyo," but Leon McCarey looked at him and turned him down. He's now in "Padre" with Bing Crosby. I'm told that McCarey is paging Grace Moore for that picture. There's a swell part for her in it. . . . . Don't our girls have the worst luck? Imagine Rita Hayworth having to pay $500 a month for the support of her ex-husband. . . . . Greer Garson and Benny Thau are back together again just like they were before Richard Ney came along. . . . Would you believe Martha Scott, star of "our Town," would be doing "War of the Wild Oats" with John Wayne.

Jim Brown.

No Influence.

Bob Hope was playing a southern camp, when he met up with Jack Pepper and wanted him to join his tour. Naturally, Pepper, being in uniform, couldn't go without permission, so Hope managed a 15 day leave for him. And when he went on to the next camp, the general in command had to have the whole thing explained to him, then whispered to Bob, "could you wangle a pass like that for me? I've been trying to get one for two years." . . . . While waiting for a big part, King Vidor gave Butch Jenkins a good bit in "America." . . . Sonny Tufts was switched from "Standing Room Only" to RKO to play in "Government Girl" with Olivia De Havilland. . . . I asked Sam Wood what he was going to do when he finished "Saratoga Trunk." He replied, "Find a cabin in an impenetrable forest and sleep for a week."

Came a Halt.

Pretty smart of Metro not waiting until it had released "Russia," in which it was being very flattering. Metro took a sheaf from "Mission to Moscow" and public reaction, so halted production for a rewrite and reshooting. It's all right for Russians to whitewash certain things in their own country, but when you feed it to the American people as fact, it's like giving them a strong dose of castor oil. . . . Just after Betty Grable gets four pages of leg art, Paramount clamps down on that kind of photography for Barbara Britton, who goes into "Dr. Wassell." . . . Allan Jones is back after a two and a half months tour of camps. The most fun he had beside singing was doing a magic act with Blackstone.

Turnabout.

Russell Crouse and Howard Lindsay aren't here for any studio job. In fact, they're practically thumbing their noses at Hollywood. But here's the laugh. They're looking at certain pictures for English actors so they can cast their new fall play. And for years we used to steal all Gilbert Miller's actors for our pictures—and he called us such bad names! . . . . Joan Davis' daughter Beverly, whose lower lip was cut in a V-shape while skating, won't be scarred after all. . . . Wally Brown says you're only as good looking as your stand-in. He was mighty proud of getting Fred Astaire's dressing room and Bob Taylor's stand-in when he started work in "Adventures of a Rookie."

Ever Thus.

Just when you think you're getting up in the world, some one slaps you down. Years ago Dennis Morgan worked in a Wisconsin lumber camp. The other day he had a letter from the lumber company, evidently sent to all former employés, urging him to return to his job, as wages are now at their highest peak! . . . Frank Kerwin threw a party at Sugar Hill for Dorothy Sebastian. Dorothy's just been made an X-ray technician at an aircraft plant. . . . If Edwina Booth, of "Trader Horn" fame, is well enough to be putting on camp shows in San Diego, she's well enough to do a picture, if she can get one to do, which might swell a depleted bank account.

Learning Young.

The John Hubbards' 2½ year old daughter, Lois, is in trouble with the Hays office. Seems Arthur Houghton, of that organization, is their next door neighbor, and the other day rang their doorbell and said to Lois' mother, "Madame, I'd like to call your attention to your daughter. Something must be done to uphold the dignity of our professions!" He pointed to his front yard where little Lois was cavorting happily without a stitch on. . . . Don Wilson M. C.'s the shrine show Saturday night which Jimmy Doolittle's friends are putting on to sell bonds enough to replace the planes that he lost in that Tokio raid, and they're rounding up celebrities aplenty. . . . When a certain orchestra leader was searching for a bass viol player for his band, Groucho Marx recommended a friend of his saying "He's been base and vile for years!"

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Desks (the Secretary's).

Half of it is devoted to duty,
The other half is a slave to beauty;
Side by side are hidden there
Clips for paper, clips for hair,
Carbons and stencils and latest issues
Of fashion sheets, pink cleansing tissues,
Eyebrow and lead pencils—lipstick and crayon
Pins for the "board" and to make her hat stay on.
No boss would ever put HER on the shelf
If she turned out her work half as well as herself!

—Emily.

Keeping in Touch.

"A recent query raised the question of how to keep in touch with employés who are in service. In our company, when a man leaves we give him a postcard to return to us when he gets located. It has our return address on it, and in the writing space we ask him to fill in his rank, military address, and date. One of the secretaries keeps the record of addresses and changes and issues a revised list each month for posting on the shop and office bulletin boards, where also are tacked letters from the men.

"Each month four girls who call themselves 'The Fighterettes' issue a 'Letterette' consisting of news from the shop and offices and excerpts from the service men's letters. The whole thing is written in a breezy, conversational style, and the men seem to enjoy this feminine line of chatter, according to the many notes of appreciation that have poured in since the first Letterette came out in March. The letter has increased a page each issue, jumping from two to four sheets, and the June Letterette will have to be written on both sides to come within the limit of minimum postage. To make it more personal we write notes on the copy sent to the boys who have written in; also, we acknowledge each letter, answer all questions, and make some comment, even to supplying the latest song hits to a musically minded lad way off somewhere in a land—tunefully—behind the times."—Lorraine.

Colleges Wake Up.

From Jean Epley: "A society page headline reads: 'College Exercises'—and isn't it about time! And shouldn't we all!"

O Kay!

"I have been interested in the various explanations for the origin of the phrase O. K. As a matter of fact, none of them is correct. As I heard it, a vice president had a pretty secretary named Kay. . . . Do you follow me . . . need I go further . . . or is this sufficient evidence?"—Another Nosey Parker.

The Information Desk.

"Will some one who has taken a course in stenotypy tell me how long a course is really needed before the stenotypist can take dictation successfully and transcribe it?"—A Steno Who Hates Shorthand.

Gain Child's Confidence at an Early Age

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Of the young persons I know, there are a surprising number who cannot talk to their parents. And by that I mean, cannot really talk. School, errands, clothes, external subjects in general, those they can discuss. But the closer, deeper, and less tangible things just never come up.

When this state of affairs exists, I hear of it in the letters I receive, altho not in so many words. I read it between the lines.

For instance, a mother writes me that her older child never wants to stay home; another that her daughter never confides in her. A teen age girl frets because she can't ask her parents any of the questions she'd like to; they never seem to want to listen. If this child's mother should hear that, she probably would be both surprised and hurt.

Many parents have just this sense of being shut out from the thoughts and feelings and doings of their teen age boys and girls.

Yet I wonder how many look back to the earlier years to see whether their children were close to them then. I wonder if, in the early years, they were always ready to listen, really to listen, and to try to understand.

The line of communication between a parent and child is not easily opened after adolescence arrives, perhaps less easily than at any other time. However, it can be done, if you care enough, with tact and a willingness to wait until your desire makes itself felt.

The teens are a time for new reticence, even in the most satisfactory family relationship, due to new physical and emotional experiences only slightly understood by the child himself. How much more difficult then to attempt to establish a friendly, confidential relationship during the teens, when there has been none before. It can be done, but it is not easy.

The early years, when your baby begins to be a little child, then turns into a growing boy or girl, are the time to establish a warm understanding with your son or daughter. Kept intact thru the early years, it will hold thru adolescence, provided you bring your delicacy into full play at that time, and are willing to cease treating your maturing son or daughter as a child.

Complete Action on U. S. Financial Aid for Nurses

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Legislative action was completed today on the bill of Rep. Frances P. Bolton [R., O.] to provide federal financial aid for the training of nurses to meet the increased demands of the services and of civilians. House concurrence in minor senate amendments sent the measure to the White House. The bill sets up machinery under which hospitals giving training to nursing students would be compensated by the government.

Heart Association Given 5 Wheel Chairs by Elks

Five wheel chairs were presented to the Chicago Heart association last night by the South Lodge of Elks club, No. 1596, at the club's headquarters, 7938 South Halsted street. Three of the chairs were for outdoor use, and two for indoors. They were accepted by Ruth P. McEldowney, executive secretary of the association, who explained that the chairs are lent to heart patients who will return them to the association when their condition permits them to dispense with them.

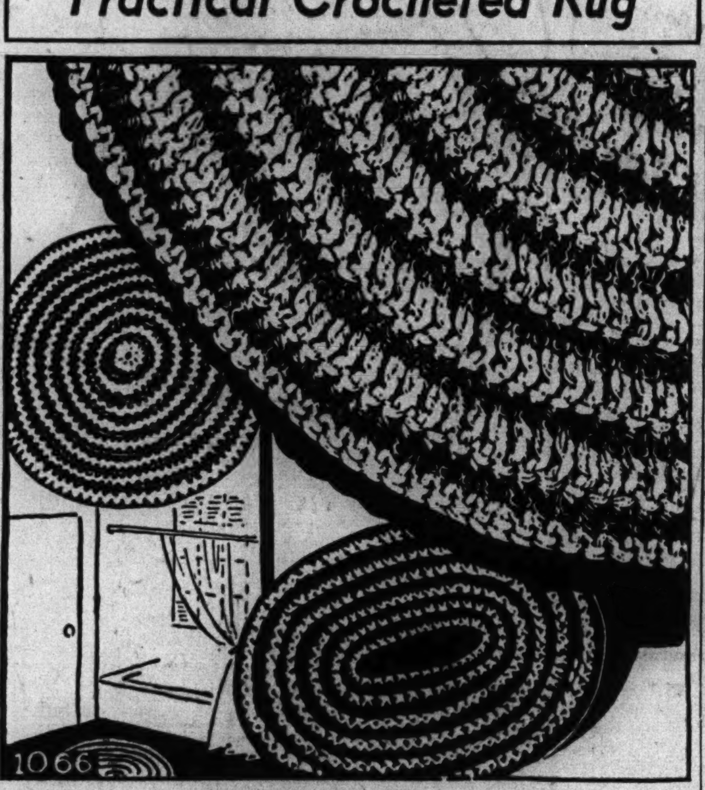
Practical Crocheted Rug



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Crocheted rugs, created from four-ply cotton and worked in two colors, are quick and simple projects. Here is a thoroly utilitarian rug which is worked in a combination of single and double crochet in a manner which creates a new and interesting stitch. The rug may be circular or oval, and care must be exercised to keep the work flat. It launders perfectly and does not skid on the floor.

For instructions in crocheting the rugs made from four ply cotton, No. 1066, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Contract According to Culbertson

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Double	Pass	2 hearts
Pass	3 hearts	3 spades	Pass
4 diamonds	Double	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

West's bidding was aggressive almost to the point of being belligerent, but he got away with it, including his final double.

The club king was opened, followed by the ace and a low club. Declarer ruffed, cashed the ace and king of spades [no doubt rejoicing in the fact that he would not have to lose a spade trick] then returned a diamond and hopefully finessed the ten-spot. West won with the jack and shifted to a heart. Declarer reflected that the heart finesse would do him no good [he was right at this stage], hence, he put up the ace and tried another diamond finesse to the queen. When this also lost, he was down one.

In view of West's double of four diamonds, a less-than-game contract, it was not remarkable that both the king and jack of diamonds were off side and, indeed, declarer should have anticipated that condition. He was right in feeling that the heart finesse would be worthless insofar as providing a diamond discard was concerned, but he ignored the point that a great strategic advantage could be gained thru that very heart finesse. The play should have gone as follows:

Declarer ruffs the third club and promptly finesses hearts, discarding a diamond on the heart ace and ruffing the low heart. It is this elimination of hearts from both hands, not the discard of a diamond, that is the object of the finesse. Declarer now leads two rounds of trumps, ending in dummy, and then returns a diamond to the ten or queen. West, on winning the trick, cannot help making a return that wrecks the defense. If he leads back a heart or a club, declarer discards a diamond from dummy while ruffing in his own hand, and then does not have to worry about a second diamond loser. If West returns a diamond, declarer is presented with an "automatic" finesse.

New Women's Equal Pay Bill Given Senate

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., June 8.—A virtually new bill to bring about equal pay for women was handed the senate today, following a Republican caucus in which it was decided to change drastically the original form of the proposal. Its enactment is a Republican pledge.

Drawn by a subcommittee after conferences with Director Frances Murphy of the state department of labor and other administration leaders, the new version is the fifth draft. It limits the provisions of the law to manufacturing industries.

In addition, it provides that nothing in the law shall interfere with wage differentials because of seniority, experience, training, skill, or ability, or because of contracts with a bargaining agency.

If enacted, it would become effective July 1 of next year.

Sentiment in the caucus was by no means unanimous in favor of the bill. Reports were that a secret ballot, taken to determine how the Republican senators will vote when the bill comes up for passage, probably tomorrow, showed them 17 to 10 against it.

Observers say, however, that not all of the 17 who registered disapproval secretly will be willing to show the same opposition to an administration proposal when a public roll call is taken.

Service Council's Bridge Party to Be an Absentee Affair

That war time absenteeism can be a virtue rather than a fault when it applies to the bridge table is the consensus of some 250 members of the Service Council for Girls.

The organization has joined a growing number of groups that are converting their customary large benefits into "phantom" parties. Each member is contributing her ticket money for the annual spring card party, but on the appointed day, Friday, will remain at her Red Cross job or other war occupation. That afternoon the bridge committee, composed of the council president, Mrs. Albert Held, and Mrs. T. A. Cooke, Mrs. Guy Phelps, Mrs. A. R. T. Duclos, and Mrs. Fred H. Law, will meet at Mrs. Law's home in Flossmoor to determine by a drawing who will receive the war stamp book prize.

The absentee party not only will save time, Mrs. Held explains, but will accomplish more this year than ever before because the council has become a special department of the United Charities of Chicago to aid in its work for underprivileged girls.

Bethesda Board Gives Its Benefit Bridge Today

The women's board of Bethesda day nursery will give its annual benefit dessert bridge party today at Mills house, Home avenue and Pleasant street, Oak Park. Bethesda, at 1902 West Monroe street, is the oldest of the city's day nurseries, caring for underprivileged and pre-kindergarten children of working mothers. Mrs. Park Richmond Jr. heads the committee for the large benefit in support of the nursery, and Mrs. Roy E. Hynes is planning the table decorations.

Child Psychiatrist Speaks at Sheil School Tomorrow

Dr. Paul Schroeder, superintendent of the Institute for Juvenile Research and professor of child psychiatry at the University of Illinois medical school, will speak at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Sheil School of Social Studies, C. Y. O. center, 31 East Congress street. His talk is one in a course on "Social Pathology," and Dr. Schroeder will discuss the subject in its relation to children. The school is open free to the public.

Recent Lake Forest Bride

Mrs. Jack Hampton Monroe is the former Anne Boswell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Starosselsky of Lake Forest. Her recent marriage to a son of the Walter D. Monroes of Wilmette took place in Lake Forest's Church of the Holy Spirit. Mr. Monroe and his bride are at home on the near north side.

Women in War Work

Women and draft exempt men may register between 7 and 8:30 p. m. tomorrow and Friday for a tuition free course in optical shop work at the University of Chicago. The course will be given in two sections, each meeting two evenings a week, beginning June 22. Registration, which is being held in the Botany building on the university campus, is limited to 16 persons. Those now employed in lens manufacturing or other optical industries are preferred.

Classes will meet from 7 to 10 p. m. on Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays. Applicants should have had high school physics and mathematics. The class work will consist of informal discussions and actual practice in grinding, polishing, and testing glass surfaces. Each student will make a 4 inch optical flat and a small precision right angle prism before the class is finished.

Bundles for America, Inc., will sponsor a bridge tea at 1:30 p. m. today at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The unit's layette fund, which to date has provided 500 layettes for the wives of men in the army, navy, coast guard, and marines, will benefit. Janis Porter Lange will sing. Mrs. George Hartford, chairman of the ways and means committee, is in charge of the party.

United Air Lines has a new woman passenger agent, working out of the Chicago airport. She is Helen Austin Clark, who is close to the war on many fronts. She has a mother serving in an army hospital in Puerto Rico, a father with the merchant marine in the Caribbean, and a sister with the army air forces nursing unit in North Africa.

As one of the new woman passenger agents at the Chicago airport she's close to the war there, too, with all the essential civilian and military traffic passing thru the airport terminal. Her duties range from helping military personnel and civilians with their itineraries to checking passengers aboard a plane.

Miss Clark, who is 25 years old, is representative of a number of young women who have donned the gray uniform of the United Air Lines passenger agents since the "men only" restriction was abandoned.

Aviation isn't new to her, for in 1936 she broke a world's record for women by soloing a plane just two and a half hours after her first instruction. She now has 200 hours in the air to her credit. When the war is over she hopes to accumulate additional hours.

Both her mother and father have war records that go back to the first World war. Mrs. Vivian Clark, now an x-ray technician in Puerto Rico, was a Red Cross ambulance driver overseas. In the previous conflict, her father, Jean, served on a submarine.

The Juniors of the Illinois Club for Catholic Women will hold a tea dance from 3 to 7 p. m. Saturday at the club headquarters, 157 East Ontario street. Dancing, games, and refreshments have been planned by the committee composed of Alice Bragg, Lenore Chiapetta, and Pat Owens, chairman.

The three vehicles purchased by the Auxiliary Ambulance Corps of Illinois for the Red Cross will be presented at 3 p. m. today at the Walton street entrance of the Palmolive building. Mrs. Royden J. Keith, president of the corps, and Mrs. Walter J. Roney, benefit chairman, will make the presentation to Joseph M. Cudahy, second vice chairman of the Chicago chapter of the Red Cross, and Russell Winslow, manager. Members of the Red Cross motor corps will drive the vehicles. Guests for the ceremony will meet in the corps' headquarters and later attend a tea at the Camellia house.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

Announcement Being Made of Engagements

Mrs. Newton Grey of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Betty Jean, to Clare Lewis Udell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Udell, also of Evanston. Miss Grey is a student at Northwestern university. Mr. Udell, an army aviation cadet, attended Armour Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Breidigam of South Ada street announce the engagement of their daughter, June Elaine, to George Denemark, son of G. F. Denemark of Oak Park. Miss Breidigam and her fiancé are seniors at the University of Chicago. He will enter midshipman training in the United States naval reserve this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Conley of West End avenue have announced the engagement of their daughter, Rosemary, to Robert Denkewalter of West Lexington street. The wedding will take place on June 19 at St. Mel's church. Miss Conley is a graduate of Mundelein college. Mr. Denkewalter is a graduate of Loyola university and now is doing post-graduate work at the University of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Recktenwall of Gary, Ind., announce the engagement of their daughter, Jean Lou, to John A. Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Ward of Chicago. The wedding is planned for early July.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Smalley of Delafield, Wis., formerly of Woodlawn, announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha Ruth, to Philip Reinertsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Reinertsen of South Harper avenue. Mr. Reinertsen is a member of the naval reserve and has been attending the University of Chicago.

Chicago's Community Trust Surpasses All Others in Resources

The Chicago Community trust has the largest resources of any of the 73 similar organizations in the United States and Canada, according to a survey by the New York Community trust announced yesterday. Chicago's trust has $7,600,000 available and $3,000,000 in deferred assets, according to the survey.

Total holdings of the 73 trusts are $56,036,144, compared with $54,273,364 a year ago, the survey shows. Totals of other large community trusts included: New York, $10,036,487; Cleveland, $8,147,103; Boston, $5,689,515; Winnipeg, $3,456,581; Indianapolis, $2,597,100, and Minneapolis, $2,430,293. Aggregate appropriations in 1942 were $1,725,095, the survey discloses.

The Chicago Community trust was founded in 1915 with initial capital gifts of $750,000. Last year its grants totaled $218,600. Clifford W. Barnes, a member of the executive committee since 1916, is chairman of the fund.

Salt and pepper 8 small fish fillets and put together, "sandwich style," with this filling: Combine 3 cups bread crumbs, ¾ cup chopped celery, 3 tbsps. minced parsley, ¼ cup melted margarine, ½ cup Sherry wine, 1 beaten egg; season to taste. Bake uncovered on greased pan at 400° F., 35 min., basting with Sherry and melted margarine. Serves 4.

Wine helps wartime meals
It takes only a little California Sherry wine in a dressing to make fish fillets "food for a king." Try it yourself—and serve the same wine in small glasses before dinner. That helps the meal, too. DAVIS TO FACE FAST FIELD IN N.C.A.A. DASHES

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE only American league pennants in Washington history were won by new managers—Bucky Harris in 1924 and 1925 and Joe Cronin in 1933. . . . Which should be a note of encouragement to Ossie Bluege. . . . Dixie Howell, Montreal outfielder who was a bust last year when he batted right-handed, has switched and is hitting .310 this season. . . . Jess Willard's two sons—Jess Jr., and Alan— are in the army, Junior as an athletic officer at a Texas airfield, and Alan as a member of a ski unit in Colorado. . . . Jim Bagby of the Indians is one of the American league's most popular pitchers as far as the umpires are concerned. . . . Jim has pitched four complete games this year which averaged less than an hour and a half. . . . Dizzy Trout of the Tigers and Teddy Lyons of the White Sox also won the arbiters' praise because they spend their time on the mound pitching instead of beefing. . . . Only one player in the history of modern baseball has scored six runs in a single game. . . . That was the Giants' Mel Ott, who did it on Aug. 4, 1934. . . . Manager Luke Sewell was only slightly perturbed when the American league standings showed his Browns in eighth place, four games behind the league leaders. . . . "I'd rather be in the cellar four games back," explained Luke, "than in second place five games out." . . . Connie Mack no longer uses a scorecard to align his players on defense. . . . "They're all inexperienced," says Connie, "it's useless trying to arrange a system of signals. They wouldn't understand." . . . Joe Medwick's chief regret is that he didn't get to go to Princeton and win a place on the football squad. . . .

Jack Espey, who resigned as general manager of the Redskins to take over a night spot in the national capital, has constructed what he calls the largest dance floor in the world. . . . American league batters agree that the Tigers' Hal Newhouser, who fanned 14 Yankees in a game last week, is only a shade slower than Bobby Feller. . . . Newhouser, however, has better control. . . . Bob Montgomery violated all the rules of the fistic union after his victory over Beau Jack. . . . "Beau is a tough kid," said Bob, which follows the script, but he added, "I wouldn't call him a great fighter." . . . Joe Moore, who played end on Iowa's powerful 1939 football team, is a chief petty officer aboard a destroyer somewhere in the Pacific. . . . Gaylon Smith, Rams' back field star, is catching for a Class A softball team in Cleveland.

Golf in 1943.

We can't get any golf balls, and
We play with ancient clubs;
We haven't any caddies
To help the wayward dubs.

No gasoline for duffers—
We cannot purchase tires;
The only kind of help we have
Is what the army fires.

The sand in all the sand traps
Is presently un-raked,
While scores are mounting skyward
And handicaps are faked.

The fairways that we follow
Are trying to the soul;
But, glory be, we still have left
The good old 19th hole.

The Old Home Paper.

Perhaps the old home paper would be scorned by city folks—
They'd laugh, I s'pose, at all our news, the locals, and the jokes.
It has no modern presses and its headlines never shriek;
Instead of coming out each day, it's issued once a week.
It doesn't publish extras—no newsboys are about,
But there's a lot of joy in our town
When the old home paper's out.

It prints most ev'ry story of the little neighborhood,
But never plays up gossip, when there's so much news that's good.
And if by chance someone should fail who tried to play the game
It never thinks it's just or wise to blast a person's name.
It's kept the pace thru all the years,
in spite of strain and stress,
That's why there's joy in our town
When the paper's off the press.

WARMERDAM TO DEFEND A. A. U. VAULTING TITLE

New York, June 8 (AP).—Ensign Cornelius Warmerdam, stationed at the Del Monte, Cal., navy pre-flight school, today advised Secretary-Treasurer Dan Ferris that he had obtained leave and will defend his pole vaulting title in the National A. A. U. track meet June 19-20.

Warmerdam, only man ever to clear 15 feet, has won the title four times in five years, the last three in a row.

WHITE SOX HOPE TO SLOW DOWN TIGERS TODAY

Humphries to Hurl; Smith Rebuked.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., June 8.—The White Sox, after two afternoons of idleness except for routine visits to the dining room, will go back to work tomorrow evening and the job may prove just about the toughest they've tackled since they wandered away from Comiskey park two weeks ago.

The job calls for the first of a five game series with the Tigers, who now have convinced more than a few people that they constitute the dark horse team in the American league. They won only six of 12 battles on their recent eastern trip, but to offset the mediocre showing is the fact that Rudy York probably is about to get under way with his bat. The Tigers also have another thumper in their $52,500 Dick Wakefield and the youngster may be able to give valuable assistance until such time as he might draw a summons from Uncle Sam.

Newhouser Going Strong.

Another reason for the Tigers' prospects in the wide open pennant race is Hal Newhouser, the lefty, who was rejected for military service because of a heart murmur. Apparently there was nothing wrong with Newhouser's heart during the recent trip. The lad suddenly developed a strikeout ball and the expectation is that he will continue at the same pace. The Sox will have to find out for themselves in tomorrow's twilight game because Hal is going to pitch.

The Sox starter will be Johnny Humphries, and, while Manager James Dykes has no reason to worry about a pitching shortage, he would like to see the ex-Indian climb back among those able to take regular turns. Johnny lost his first assignment, but won three of the next four, two of the successes being by 1 to 0 and the other by 2 to 1 scores. But the Athletics beat him recently. This one was followed by a pasting from the Yanks, who while in the west had succumbed to Humphries in the 2 to 1 game. Since getting the drubbing in the stadium Humphries hasn't pitched.

Smitty in Doghouse.

Manager Dykes, who ordinarily is free with his conversation, isn't saying much about Eddie Smith, the round southpaw. What Dykes does say in this connection indicates Eddie doesn't stand very high with his boss. Smitty, as the records show, has experienced no end of difficulties getting his pitches past the enemy's bats, and the manager attributes it to a fatty accumulation around the southpaw's belt line. Dykes intimates that something must be done about it or Eddie will face a fine.

After tomorrow's twilight contest the Sox will stay here for a game Thursday, another single one on Saturday, and a double header on Sunday.

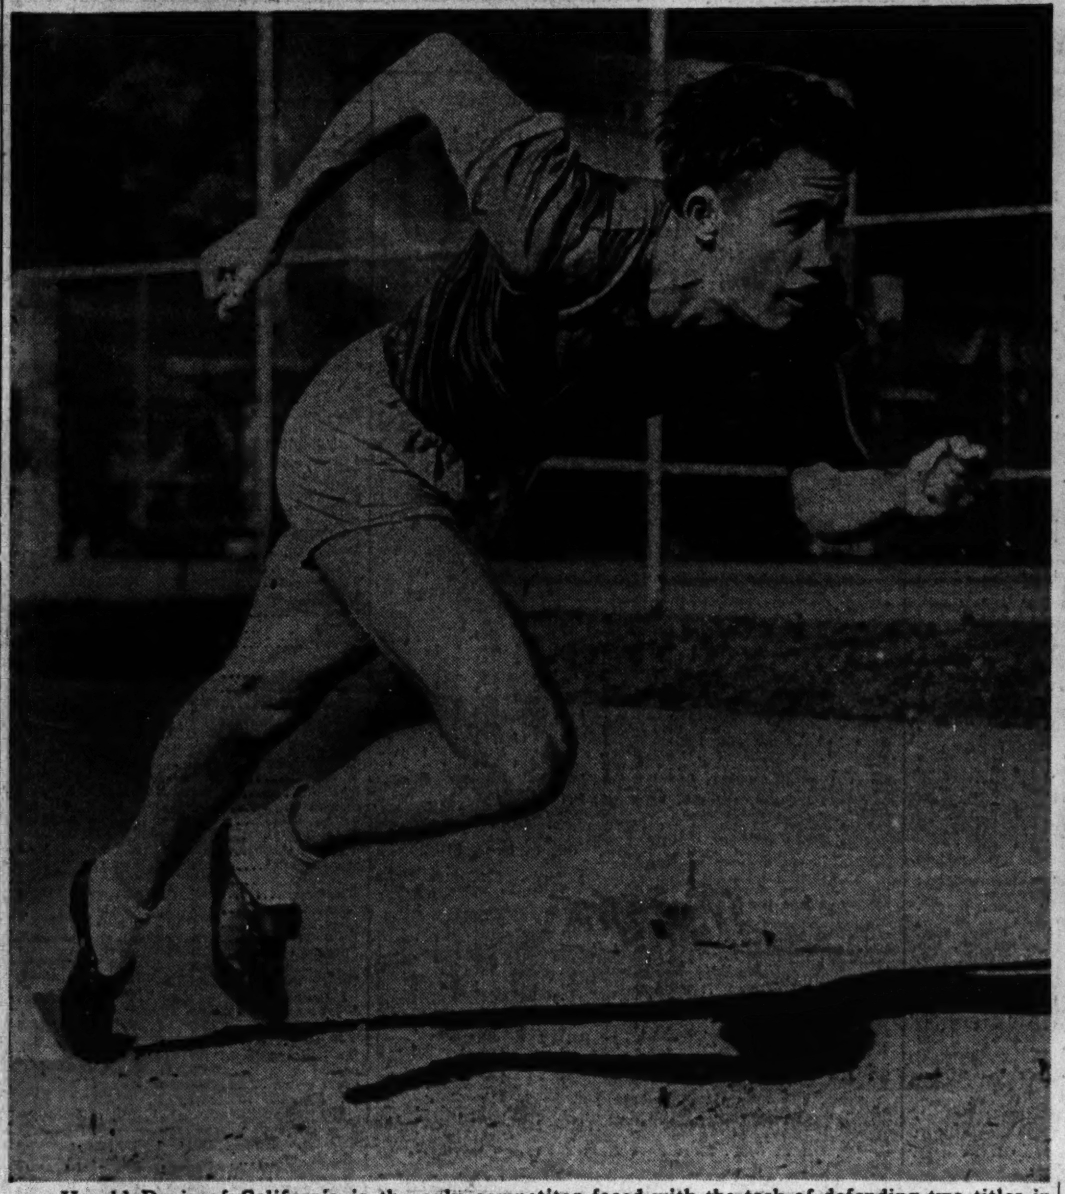
HEAD PARADE OF CHAMPIONS



Harold Davis of California is the only competitor faced with the task of defending two titles in the N. C. A. A. track meet to be held in Dyche stadium Friday and Saturday. He won both the 100 and 220 yard sprints in last year's meet in Lincoln, Neb.

Any hope Illinois has for earning the team championship will depend on whether or not Bob Kelley is able to duplicate his feat of capturing the 440 and 880 events as he did in the Big Ten meet on the same Evanston oval a few weeks back.

Cubs and Unbeaten Sailors Clash Today in 2d of Series

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs, encouraged at having held the Great Lakes Bluejackets to a 5 to 1 score in Davenport, Ia., Monday evening, will be in Great Lakes this afternoon for the second contest of three they have arranged with the Bluejackets. Bill Lee, who has pitched to Johnny Mize many times, will start for the Cubs and will be opposed by Tom Ferrick, former Cleveland Indian. Bob Harris also has been ordered to pitch some of the game against the National league tailenders.

Clyde McCullough expects to do a bit of catching for the Cubs, his first in competition since he broke his left ankle on the opening day of the National league season, April 21. If Mac has recovered as thoroly as he claims he has, he may go behind the plate when the Cubs get back in their league next Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

Sailors Are Unbeaten.

The Bluejackets will be after their 13th victory this afternoon in the game which starts at 14:00, or 2 o'clock to you, you landlubber. Lt. Mickey Cochrane's sea-farin' men haven't been defeated thus far and are said to be determined not to take their first licking at the hands of a cellar outfit.

It won't help the Cubs to get out of the cellar even if they are to eke out a decision over the sailors, but they are said to be anxious to win, nevertheless. Lee is especially eager to get into winning ways.

Tomorrow the Cubs again will be up along the north shore, to play the Fort Sheridan team. They have been scouting the soldiers and think they have a chance to win.

They'll Be Busy with Reds.

It is believed the Cubs will be pretty sharp after their three games with the finely conditioned service teams. They will need to be, for they have some tough going coming up.

After the morning game with the Cincinnati Reds Friday the Chicagoans still will have to face the Reds in a single game Saturday and a double header Sunday. Monday will be an off day but Tuesday the Cubs will start their second visit of the season in Pittsburgh. They will play the Pirates Tuesday afternoon, Wednesday night and Thursday afternoon, then hie to St. Louis for a night game Friday, June 18, a single game Saturday and a double header Sunday, June 20.

Then they will return to Wrigley field for a series with the Pirates and the Cards before setting out on their second eastern trip, via a Great Lakes exhibition in Toronto, June 29.

The meets are scheduled one week following the Western Junior and Boys' tournaments here. The National has been held at Culver Military academy since 1928, but Culver notified tournament authorities it would be unable to be host to the 1943 tourney.

BIVINS KNOCKS OUT MARSHALL

Ends Cleveland Bout in 13th Round.

Cleveland, June 8 (AP). — Jimmy Bivins, hard hitting Cleveland Negro, successfully defended his duration light heavyweight title by knocking out Lloyd Marshall of California, in the 13th round of their outdoor fight in Cleveland stadium tonight. Bivins weighed 174 and had a 10 pound advantage over Marshall, also a Negro.

Marshall collapsed in a neutral corner after Bivins hit him with a terrific overhand right. The climax blow followed a succession of vicious lefts and rights which Bivins delivered against the tiring Marshall. The knockout came after 2:42 of the round.

Bivins had been out for the kill since the fifth round of a scheduled 15 round battle. He had floored the Californian for a nine count with another staggering right in the ninth and repeated again in the 12th when the bell came to Marshall's rescue as Referee Jackie Davis counted six in his ears.

PEP BEATS BARTOLO

Boston, Mass., June 8 (AP).—Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., holder of the New York version of the featherweight boxing title, outpointed Sal Bartolo of Boston in easy fashion tonight in a 15 round bout in Braves field.

Pep failed to carry every round only because of his cautious start, Bartolo keeping on even terms with him until the third. From then on Pep's effective left and his speedy footwork put him well in front.

Pep, who, at 126, had a half pound advantage on Bartolo, fought coolly in this return bout. Last April, when they clashed here in an overweight match, Bartolo had a sixth round knockout almost in his grasp and wound up in the 10th only a single point behind.

TIGERS' PROTEST ON USE OF DEAD BALL BACKFIRES

Detroit, Mich., June 8 (AP).—The Detroit Tigers learned today that a protest lodged by Manager Steve O'Neill against alleged use of the so-called dead ball in the second game of a double header May 31 at Philadelphia had been disallowed by Will Harridge, president of the American league.

General Manager Jack Zeller of the Tigers said Harridge's decision pointed out that a supply of the balata balls had slipped into the day's allotment for the Philadelphia-Detroit double header, presumably because of an oversight by Umpire George Pipgras. The balls are identified by tiny star shaped markings.

Harridge asserted that the dead balls also had been used in the first game, which Detroit won, 7 to 0. The protest followed Detroit's 4 to 3 defeat in the second game.

Cardinal and Bear Merger Rooney's Idea

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The National Football league started warming up yesterday for its June 19-20 special meeting in Chicago. Art Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers, started the ball rolling by declaring it might be a good idea for the Chicago Bears and the Chicago Cardinals to merge next season because of man power shortage. Mr. Rooney, who is very good at suggestions, earlier had admitted the possibility of his Steelers and the Philadelphia Eagles pooling their resources next season.

Charley Bidwill, operator of the Cardinals, while admitting it's difficult to foresee developments for the coming season, ridiculed Rooney's communique from Pittsburgh.

"He called me on the phone a couple of days ago," said Bidwill, "and during our conversation suggested that we merge with the Bears. I answered him back, kiddingly, that it would be a swell idea. Maybe he took me seriously."

Bidwill Kids Back.

"I can't understand," continued Charley, "why Rooney doesn't merge with the Washington Redskins instead of the Eagles. Hasn't he heard the Redskins are champions?

"The Cardinals are going to play as a team this season if the other teams play. We're doing our best lining up players now. I don't know how we would go about combining with the Bears. Each of us has a ball park and there would be other complications. And what would the league say about it?"

Ralph Brizzolara, acting general manager of the Bears, said he would be willing to talk over the proposed merger with Bidwill. Brizzolara thought it might be a good idea.

No Application Filed.

Elmer Layden, president of the National Football league, said yesterday Rooney has made no application for a merger with the Eagles.

When the league owners met in Chicago last April, nine pledged to put a team on the field in 1943. It is on this basis the delayed schedule is being drawn up for submission to the owners at the Chicago meeting.

METCALF AND PETTIT MENACE TWIN CHAMPION

Open Workouts at N. U. Tomorrow.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The east and the south have each nominated a sprinter to challenge the National Collegiate champion, Harold Davis of California, in the 22d meet Friday and Saturday in Dyche stadium. These topflight athletes are J. W. Pettit of the United States Naval academy and John Metcalf of Oklahoma A. and M.

There will be more than three in the sprint field, of course, when the preliminaries get under way Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A national survey shows that 17 college men this season bettered 09.8 for 100 yards or 21.7 for the furlong. Twelve of the 17 are registered for the national games.

Has Best Times.

Davis is favored to retain his sprint titles which he took last year in Lincoln, Neb., by running 100 yards in 9.6 seconds, and 220 yards in 21.2 seconds. Davis has a 09.5 time for the century this spring and there always is the chance he may clip one-tenth of a second from that to tie the N. C. A. A. record established in 1929 by George Simpson of Ohio State and tied three times since then. The shareholders are Frank Wyckoff, Southern California, 1930; Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette, 1933, and Jesse Owens, Ohio State, 1936.

The University of Missouri team, which must not be entirely disregarded as team champion, will enter three sprinters who were members of the 440 yard relay team which took this event in the Drake relays. They are Owen Joggerst, Joe Shy, and John Tracy.

Crack Field in Hurdles.

Other members of the Missouri squad are Elmer Aussieker, weight man, and Maurice Alexander, hurdler. Alexander will face Bill Cummins of Rice, who in his last preliminary trial Monday in Houston, Tex., tied the N. C. A. A. high hurdle mark of :13.9.

While the 440 yard event Saturday will not have the talent ordinarily expected of the National Collegiates, it will provide one of the feature races because of the equality of the contestants. The Western conference champion, Bob Kelley of Illinois, must be given consideration, for he is a great competitor. After whipping Michigan's Bob Ufer decisively in the Big Ten meet he proved his supremacy in the midwest by taking the quarter mile championship in the Central Collegiate meet.

Ufer in Half Mile.

Ufer is reported to have concentrated on the half mile for Saturday's meet. Other 440 yard entries are Cliff Bourland of Southern California, defending champion, who has been handicapped by an early season injury; Frank Cotter of New York university, and John Fulton of Stanford. Fulton's first competition on the Stanford varsity two weeks ago was a 48 1-10 second quarter mile, the best mark of the collegiate outdoor season.

In addition to California, Southern California, and Stanford, the Pacific coast will be represented by teams from Oregon State, University of Washington, and Fresno State.

Will Work Out Tomorrow.

The early arrivals of the field representing nearly two score of colleges and universities will work out tomorrow afternoon in Dyche stadium. Preliminaries in 10 events will be held Friday afternoon starting at 3 o'clock. These trials are the javelin and discus throws, shot put, broad jump, both sprints, both hurdles, quarter mile, and half mile.

The championship events will start at 2 p. m. Saturday. Reserved seats are on sale at $1.65. General admission is $1.10 and children's tickets are 25 cents.

ALFORAY WINS FIFTH RACE FOR ERNST STABLES

Takes Roberta Lee Purse; Favorite Runs Third.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Trainer Jack Skirvin has A. C. Ernst's horses sensationally sharp. He saddled Alforay and sent him out to win the Roberta Lee purse, feature of yesterday's Lincoln Fields program at Hawthorne. This horse had figured in the Ernst stable's domination of the recent Memorial day week-end when thorobreds owned by the Cleveland sportsman had swept both the Saturday and Monday stake events and had won two other races besides. Aletern, Alorter, Albuldo, and Alforay were the ones which turned that trick.

Alforay came right back yesterday as good as ever. Jockey Lawrence Barney sent him up past Kesargo on the turn and brought him right on home two lengths ahead of Dr. Rush. The favorite, Kesargo, finished third in this six furlong dash.

Ticket on Winner.

Miss Lee, a singer now performing in the Sherman hotel's Panther room, was particularly pleased with the race named in her honor because she had a ticket on the winner, which was worth $9.

When Chicago's race fans like Hy-Cap, they like him very well indeed. For the second time in his brief career he went to the post at 4 to 5 odds—and this time he made good. The occasion was the five furlong sprint for juveniles yesterday at Hawthorne. Under the hard driving by Lawrence Barney he lasted just long enough to beat Dog Daze by a head, with Isaqueen third.

The narrowness of Hy-Cap's margin indicated that he has just about found his proper level. His handlers have been juggling him about in allowance races and $3,500 claiming events. Yesterday they hung a $2,000 tag on him and it seemed just about right.

Took Sound Beating.

Once before Hy-Cap, which is owned by W. F. Morgan, had ventured out confidently at 4 to 5 odds. That was in the second start of his career in Sportsman's Park, after he had won by two lengths in the opening effort of his career. In this rôle of odds-on-favorite, Hy-Cap took a sound beating, finishing out of the money. His handlers then began juggling him up to the $3,500 class, where he made a good attempt, but was beaten by Czech Lass. He was beaten again in an allowance race, trailing home in sixth position. So yesterday Trainer Dave Womeldorf dropped him into an event for $2,000 horses.

The fans were so sure that this was the perfect spot for him that they showered heavy backing upon him. He had to run all the way to make good, however. Campion Hall was right beside him in the early stages. Then Dog Daze began to threaten. When Isaqueen took up the challenge in the final stages Dog Daze came on again. But at the finish, Hy-Cap still was in front.

Set Saturday Weights.

The announcement of weights for the mile and three-sixteenths La Salle Handicap, which will head Saturday's program, indicates that Aletern, hero of the Peabody memorial handicap, a week ago Monday, will have a tougher job beating Valdina Orphan than he had in their last previous encounter, which occurred during the Keeneland meeting. On that occasion, Aletern, carrying 112 pounds, scored by a length and a half over his rival, which toted 123. For Saturday's race, Valdina Orphan will carry two pounds less than that figure—121—while Aletern will shoulder four pounds more—116.

Rounders, stablemate of Valdina Orphan, has been allotted top weight of 122, Best Seller draws 119, Daily Trouble, 112, and Valdina Groom, 110.

GOLD CROWNS TAKE LEAD IN SOFTBALL RACE

Jo Leonard doubled in the eighth inning driving in two runs and the Gold Crowns defeated the Parichy Bloomer Girls, 4 to 3, last night in Parichy stadium in a Metropolitan Chicago Girls Major Softball league game. The victory enabled the Gold Crowns to take a half game lead over the Rheingolds, idle last night, in the battle for first place. Pinky Pirok hit a two run homer for the Gold Crowns in the second inning. Mary Skorich was the winning pitcher and Laura Bishop the loser. The other two league games were postponed. Tonight's schedule:

Parichy vs. Gold Crowns in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets; Rheingolds vs. Rockolas in Rockola stadium, 4200 North Central avenue, and Benda Coals Co-eds vs. Tungsten Sparks in Rheingold stadium, 75th street and Euclid avenue.

Tag Team Match Heads Tonight's Fronton Show

An Australian tag team match between Zack Malkov and Frankie Hart against Charles [Gorilla] Grubmyer and Earl Malone will head the wrestling show tonight in Rainbo Fronton, 4836 North Clark street. Hans Bauer and Johnny Holda have been matched to meet in a supporting encounter to an event between Maurice [the Angel] Tillet and Rudy Hoffman on the mat card in Marigold Gardens Friday.

Haegg Finds Bit of Sweden at Dartmouth

Hanover, N. H., June 8 (AP).—After sniffing the cool, clear air and gazing at the surrounding wooded hills, Gunder Haegg, the sensational Swedish runner who has seven world records to his credit, today compared his Dartmouth training quarters favorably with his homeland.

"This reminds me of the country around Jamtland, my northern Sweden birthplace," Haegg said thru Sig Steinwall, his interpreter and masseur. "I'm sure I will like it here. It's so cool and quiet."

Gunder Wants Solitude.

Steinwall, a former Dartmouth ski coach, added that Haegg desired rest and solitude more than anything else for, he explained, the runner has not had time to become acclimated after his 27 day tanker trip from Sweden to New Orleans.

As soon as Steinwall had Haegg settled in the Dartmouth football coaches' quarters in the Davis fieldhouse, he took him downstairs to view the sixth of a mile board track on which Glenn Cunningham ran his 4:04.4 mile, the fastest in history. Haegg's accepted record for this distance outdoors is 4:04.6.

He'll Train in Woods.

The track, however, held Haegg's attention for only a short time. He tested it with a foot in cautious fashion and then suggested to Steinway that they go for a jaunt in the woods. Steinwall, who knows all of the ski trails hereabouts, led Haegg over a two mile course along the Connecticut river.

"Gunder will start his training tomorrow," Steinwall said. "We plan to have morning and afternoon workouts and all of them will be in the woods, for that is where he did most of his training at home. What he wants most is quiet and plenty of sleep. He thinks conditions here will be ideal."

OPEN INTERCLUB GOLF TODAY AT WESTMORELAND

The North Shore Golf league, oldest of interclub competitions in the game in this section, will hold the first of its three series of 1943 matches this afternoon at Westmoreland, home of last year's winner. Points will be awarded on the basis of one for a win and a half for a tie, instead of the Nassau system formerly used.

Friday will bring the first crowded schedule of the local season. The Chicago District Golf association will hold its annual Champion of Champions tournament, a 36 hole battle among club titleholders, past and present, at Park Ridge. In addition Tam o' Shanter will conduct the first of its four stag events, and Exmoor will hold its annual Guest day.

WALKER 'SOLD' FOR $11,250,000 IN BOND AUCTION

New York, June 8 (AP).—Dixie Walker, the people's choice in Brooklyn, brought the top price today as a billion dollar war bond drive, with baseball as its central theme, got under way with an "auction" of players of the three New York major league clubs.

A total of $100,000,000 in bond purchases was pledged by various individuals and corporations who "bought" the stars and who will sponsor them for the remainder of the season. Ex-Mayor Jimmy Walker, the auctioneer, knocked down Walker for $11,250,000 to the Brooklyn club, a social organization. Floyd [Arky] Vaughan brought a bid of $11,000,000 from Esso Marketers. More than half the hundred million total came from Brooklyn groups.

The sponsors who acquired players in the auction also are pledged to make further war bond purchases during the season according to the performances of the players they bought. A home run, for example, requires a $10,000 purchase, a shutout by a pitcher $50,000.

Iowa Alumni to Honor Memory of Nile Kinnick

The University of Iowa Alumni club of Chicago yesterday circularized all alumni and former students of the university in the Chicago area to secure funds for a memorial to Ensign Nile C. Kinnick, who was reported as lost at sea last week from his airplane carrier. Kinnick was a member of the famous 1939 Iowa eleven which finished second in the Western conference.

Franklin D. Trueblood, president of the alumni club, and the members of the memorial committee which is headed by Judge Michael L. McKinley, are asking a dollar contribution from each club member.

HURLEY SEEKS BIVINS BOUT FOR FRANKLIN

Nate Bolden Proves to Be Hit of Marigold Show.

Lem Franklin is not planning to retire from the ring at the present despite his mediocre showing against Gus Dorazio, Philadelphia heavyweight, in Marigold outdoor arena on Monday, Jack Hurley, his manager, said yesterday.

The manager would like to arrange a match between Franklin and Jimmy Bivins in Cleveland before advising Lem to quit the game. Franklin holds a technical knockout over Jimmy, scored in the Marigold arena before Bivins reached his current high position in the heavyweight ratings.

Prior to the bout with Dorazio, Manager Hurley said Lem would hang up the gloves if he didn't win.

Dorazio's Face Bruised.

Tho Dorazio had a comparatively easy time beating Lem his face was well bruised when seen boarding a train for his return to Philadelphia yesterday. Gus will not be available for a spot on the card headed by Lou Nova and Lee Savold in Wrigley field June 28, but Mayon Padlo, welterweight stablemate of Dorazio, will be ready to return to action on that program.

Padlo was impressive while defeating Tommy James, last year's city Golden Gloves 147 pound champion, in a supporting match on the Franklin-Dorazio card. The contest was stopped in the sixth round and the decision awarded to Padlo when a cut eye Tommy received in the first round endangered his sight.

Criticizes Referee Miller.

The hit of Monday's show was Nate Bolden. Nate appeared in excellent form to conquer Freddy Fiducia, Newark, N. J., 192 pounder, who was 20 pounds heavier than his Chicago light heavyweight rival. He scored nine knockdowns, Fiducia being down once in the sixth and four times each in the eighth and tenth. It was Nate's second straight victory over a full fledged heavyweight and will earn for him an assignment against a suitable opponent in the big show in Wrigley field.

Referee Davey Miller was criticized by Irving Schoenwald, Marigold promoter, for his officiating in the Fiducia-Bolden encounter. Schoenwald thought Miller's action in relieving Fiducia of his mouth guard during the first of four knockdowns the easterner suffered in the eighth round was unfair to Bolden, a local boy.

Women Golfers Do Their Bit

Members of the Women's Western Golf association who met yesterday admire the Salute to Victory trophy, so-called in accordance with the shift in the name from the regular Open tournament which will be dedicated to the women in service this year. Left to right, Ensign Helen McCabe, WAVES; Lt. Paula Amrein, WAACs; Ensign Margaret McNellis, SPARS; Lt. Phyllis T. Young, marines; Mrs. Paul Walker, donor of the cup, and Mrs. Ferdinand A. Bunte, president of the association.

Women's Golf Is Dedicated to Services

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Fourteen years ago, in the summer of 1930, the Women's Golf association held its first open tournament at the Acacia Country club in La Grange, Ill. There was no thought then that many of the juniors who followed that initial event would be wearing the uniforms of WAACs, WAVES, SPARS, and Marines in these times.

That inaugural was called the first Open tournament of the W. G. A., one for which amateurs from private clubs, public links, daily fee courses, and professionals from everywhere were eligible. Today those conditions still hold for the battle to be decided at the Glen Oak Country club from June 28 thru July 2, but yesterday the name of the competition was changed to a wartime designation.

The fourteenth annual tournament will be called the Salute to Victory event, one dedicated to America's women of the year—the WAACs, the WAVES, the SPARS, and the Marines. Announcement of the title change was made at noon yesterday in the North Michigan avenue apartment of Mrs. Paul Walker, who was president of the W. G. A. in that first year, by Mrs. F. A. Bunte, the incumbent president.

Dedication Ceremony Planned.

Dedication ceremonies of the Salute to Victory tourney will be held at 9 a. m. on June 28, the first day of the event, on the west lawn of the Glen Oak clubhouse. An honor guard of WAVES, WAACs, SPARS, and Marines will form a quadrangle around Mrs. Bunte during the welcoming address, and the first foursome to tee off will be an honor quartet composed of representatives of each of the four forces. All four will endeavor to recruit women during the five days of the tournament. Each enlistee will be presented by the Women's Western association with a silver identification bracelet.

The field, which already has been established as a genuinely national one, will vie for a variety of prizes. Heading these are the Edna Walker perpetual trophy, named for Mrs. Walker, past president and founder of the tournament; the Open Pin, to be worn by the winner of the event for a year, and the Marion Miley trophy, a bracelet presented by Mrs. Howard D. Raymond in honor of the late Lexington, Ky., star. The Miley award will go to the player having the lowest combined qualifying score in the Open at Glen Oak, and the association's Amateur tournament, which will be held at the Evanston Golf club from Aug. 9 thru 14.

Aside from the service angle, the Open at Glen Oak promises to be one of the most successful in its history. Mrs. K. T. Piper of the association already has received more than 50 entries from 21 states, the largest state entry ever enjoyed by the W. G. A. The entry fee is $5, the handicap limit 22 strokes. Entry fees for players in the uniforms of the four services are being waived. Mrs. Piper may be addressed at 581 Turner avenue, Glen Ellyn, Ill.

One Service Player Entered.

The only service player thus far entered is Aux. Beatrice V. Martel of the WAACs at Norfolk, Va. She is the former Bea Gottlieb, a competitor in the Women's National at Exmoor in 1933.

Other entrants who have filed are Patty Berg, Minneapolis; Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta, Ga.; Phyllis Otto, Atlantic, Ia.; Mary Agnes Wall, Menominee, Mich.; Margaret Guenther, Memphis, Tenn.; Kay Byrne, Rye, N. Y.; Jane Crum, Orangeburg, S. C.; Ann Casey, Mason City, Ia.; Claire Doran, Cleveland, O.; Sally Sessions, Muskegon, Mich.; Eileen Stulb, Augusta, Ga.; Marjorie Row, Detroit, Mich.; Carolyn Pickering, Anderson, Ind.; Betty Jane Rucker, Spokane, Wash.; Lois Penn, Des Moines, Ia.; Nancy Johnson, Whitewater, Wis.; Nancy Gault, Kansas City, Mo.; Catherine Fox, Glen Ridge, N. J., and Georgia Tainter, Fargo, N. D.

The plans the ladies have made for the tournament are so thoro as to put many a gents' committee to shame. For those who wish to stay near the club accommodations are listed for three hotels, with transportation facilities for each.

Ideally Situated Club.

Glen Oak is one of the most ideally situated clubs in the country. The Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin electric has a station within 100 yards of the clubhouse.

The course will be open for practice rounds on June 23, 24, and 25, and to out of town contestants on June 26 before 11:30 a. m. and on June 27, after 3 p. m.

Qualifying rounds for all contestants will be held at 18 holes of medal play on June 28. Match play will continue thru the 36 hole championship match on July 2. Prizes will be awarded for subsidiary and consolation flights of 16 players each.

Prep Teams Open Playoff Series Today

The City High School league's annual baseball playoffs open today with four quarter-final games which sends the central section against the south and the west against the north. Harrison Tech is the defending champion.

Bowen, south section champion, with a record of 15 victories in 16 games, opposes Kelly, runner-up in the central section, which won 11 of 14 games, on Greenwood field at the University of Chicago. Bowen finished second in last year's playoffs, eliminating Lane Tech in the semi-final round but losing to Harrison, 10 to 4, in the championship game.

Harrison vs. Calumet.

Harrison closed its central sectional race with 12 victories in 14 games and meets Calumet, second place team in the south section, in McKinley park. Calumet won 13 of its 16 sectional games, losing two decisions to Bowen and one to Hirsch.

Lane Tech, the only undefeated team in the playoffs, with 18 straight north section victories this year, takes on Crane in Winnemac park. Crane, the runner-up in the west section race, won 12 of its 16 league games.

Steinmetz, the 1941 league champion, captured the west section title with 13 victories in 16 games and earned the right to meet Taft, second place winner of the north section. Taft won 13 of its 18 sectional games. The game will be played in Norwood Park.

Close Sectional Games.

The sectional races ended yesterday with two games in the north section and one each in the south and central sections. In the north, Senn beat Waller, 4 to 2, and Sullivan beat Roosevelt, 3 to 2. Phillips beat Tilden, 4 to 3, to close the central section race and Fenger edged out Parker, 4 to 2, to capture third place in the south section. It was Fenger's 12th victory in 16 games.

STATE FINALS FRIDAY

The championship game of the state high school baseball finals, rained out in Peoria last Saturday, has been definitely scheduled for 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at 31st street and East avenue in Berwyn. Norm Ziebell, athletic director of Morton High school of Cicero, which will be host to East St. Louis in the title contest, made the announcement.

When an attempt to obtain several neighborhood parks failed, Morton decided to play the game on its home field. As this field has no fence or retaining wall around it, there can be no admission charged, but a collection will be taken up to defray the expenses of the visiting team.

Morton has posted a $300 guarantee to bring East St. Louis north for Chicagoland's second state final in as many years. Last spring when the final game was washed out in Peoria, the contest was moved to Oak Park, where the Villagers promptly made off with the championship.

In opening round contests last Friday, East St. Louis advanced to the finals when Eddie Blake shut out Bloomington, 10 to 0, and Morton scored all its runs in the first two innings to eliminate Peoria Central, 6 to 2.

SCHURZ PACES SENIOR PREP TRACK MEET

Scores 22½, Qualifies 14 for Friday Finals.

Schurz High paced the field in the City league senior track preliminaries yesterday in Key Branch stadium by qualifying 14 individuals in the finals, in addition to winning the pole vault, tying for first in the high jump, and scoring points in two other final events run off yesterday. Schurz took a lead of nearly 15 points by counting 22½. Harrison was second with 7¾, and Lane third with 7½. The junior preliminaries will be held today and finals in both divisions Friday in the same stadium.

Coached by George Topping, Schurz appears to have sufficient material to stave off Phillips' two man threat and capture the team championship for a clean sweep in the City league track activity. Schurz won the indoor title and then led the field in qualifiers in the state meet which Phillips won on the efforts of Claude Young and Ranis Thomas.

Phillips, featuring Young and Thomas, was in second place with five qualifiers, but only tied for fourth place in team scoring with five points gathered on Young's victory in the broad jump. Calumet, Tilden, South Shore, Harrison, and Lane each qualified four.

Two records were broken and one equaled but the marks were not allowed because of the strong wind. Young sprinted the 100 yard dash in :09.8, two-tenths of a second faster than the old mark of :10 set in 1925 and equaled in 1942. Ed Crook of Calumet clipped one-tenth of a second off the old mark of :15.2 in the 120 yard high hurdles and Young returned to match the record of :22.8 for the 200 yard low hurdles. Summaries:

FLIGHT SURGEON VITAL FACTOR IN AERIAL WARFARE

Plays Many Roles, Says Army Doctor.

Brig. Gen. Grant.

Under present methods used by the army air forces the flight surgeon is a combination family physician, psychologist, and father confessor, Brig. Gen. David N. W. Grant, air surgeon of the United States army, said yesterday in a press interview.

Gen. Grant answered questions on aviation medicine in connection with the meeting of the house of delegates of the American Medical association in the Palmer House.

"The flight surgeon, who lives with the pilots and crew members, must spot the boys at their peak of efficiency—before they themselves know they are in danger of cracking up and perhaps never flying again," he explained. "His job is to give them treatment, whether it's medicinal or just rest, and get them back into the air as soon as possible.

Individual Diagnosis.

"The number of hours a man can stand in the air without a rest varies greatly among individuals. For this reason diagnosis of each flyer as an individual is necessary."

In actual practice at the front, the general continued, it's the flight surgeon alone who decides who can and who can't fly. He said flight surgeons in the army are allotted on an average of one to a squadron and they are trained to maintain the closest personal contact with the men in order to gain their confidence and learn their idiosyncrasies.

"The selection of flight surgeons themselves is very important," he said. "They are hand picked all the way up the line, and usually a doctor must serve a year with the air forces before he is appointed a flight surgeon."

Praises Hospital Planes.

Gen. Grant, who has toured air bases in England, North Africa, and recently the South Pacific, declared that 30,000 American casualties have been evacuated from the front by air transport, including all of those in Guadalcanal and New Guinea. He said these planes, which include bomber, ambulance, and cargo ships, never fly higher than 3,000 feet unless forced up by weather or the mountains and that he has heard of only two deaths during such transportation.

Experiments are being made with four-litter helicopters for operating a shuttle service for the sick and wounded between the front and behind-the-lines hospitals, he said, and predicted that a two-litter helicopter would be available for service soon.

PREDICTS DEFEAT OF SICKNESS AID BILL IN CONGRESS

The future of proper medical care in America depends on continued, independent, civilian control of the medical profession and hospitalization, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the American Medical Journal, contended yesterday in predicting defeat for that portion of the Wagner-Murray bill which would provide social security against sickness for the entire working population.

Dr. Fishbein spoke at the luncheon meeting of the woman's auxiliary of the American Medical association at its 21st annual national convention in the Drake hotel. The assembly opened Monday and will close today.

One of the highlights of the afternoon session was the appointment of a national war service committee to coördinate all the war activities of the auxiliary, including the sale of war savings stamps, formation of the doctors' aid corps, nurses' aid corps, health education, and the manning of blood banks.

BUNDESEN SAYS PLUMBERS CAN CURB PARALYSIS

That infantile paralysis may be spread by improper sanitation was disclosed by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the Chicago board of health, yesterday in an address before the National Association of Master Plumbers in the Morrison hotel.

"While it would be premature to say that the contamination of food and drink with human wastes is the principal factor in the spread of infantile paralysis, disposal of excreta is nevertheless something that must be further studied by epidemiologists in view of the experimental results that have recently been reported," he said. "Our principal attack on its spread may be centered on sanitation just as the prevention of typhoid fever and the various kinds of dysentery are today."

A. OF C. LEADER ASSAILS ILLEGAL TAGGING DRIVES

Must Protect Public, Says Chairman.

Tag days for charities must be reduced in number or eliminated for the good of the organizations benefited and for the protection of the public, Charles W. Bergquist, chairman of the Chicago Association of Commerce subscriptions investigating committee, said yesterday after a weekend flurry of neighborhood tag days.

"I am opposed to the principle of tag days as a means of raising funds for charities and I hope they will diminish with the operation of the combined Community Fund and War Fund campaign next fall," Bergquist declared. "The public must be protected against indiscriminate tagging."

Tag Days Limited.

A city ordinance limits tag days in Chicago to those for the Federation of Aged and Adult charities, the Chicago Benefit Children's league and "Have a Heart" day for the Chicago Federated charities and the Chicago Associated charities.

In addition to these three days, the ordinance also provides for Poppy day annually in May near Memorial day. Salvation Army Doughnut day, held yesterday, was an exception approved by the city council tag day subcommittee.

Despite the fact that further tag days may be allowed only by amending the city ordinance, the Jewish National Fund, the Polish National alliance and the Infant Home Day nursery have tagged residents on the north and northwest sides in the last three days. Permits for the first two were issued by a supervising police captain, said Town Hall police. The day nursery event had a permit from the police commissioner's office, according to Rogers Park police.

Charities Merged.

At the Association of Commerce office, it was said that the Associated charities had merged with the Federated group recently on condition that the agencies in the Associated group would obtain Association of Commerce endorsement. This has not been done and the opinion was expressed that few of the organizations in the Associated group would obtain endorsement.

"Altho these 23 agencies have not yet conformed to the pattern of the 175 agencies endorsed by the Association of Commerce committee, it doesn't follow that they have no right to existence. We will welcome their applications for endorsement, with their audited financial statements and statement of aims and purposes," Bergquist said.

ME CONSTIPATED? NO LONGER!
Boy, how fed up I used to get with myself! I just wasn't any good.
I used to use medicinal laxatives. But my constipation came back just the same. Then I found out why—it was due to lack of "bulk" in my diet!
So — I began eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly and drinking plenty of water. That swell cereal got right at the cause of my constipation and corrected it! It helped me "Join the Regulars!" Maybe it could help you, too. Ask for it at your grocer's today. ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek, Michigan.

WAGE BRACKET BECOMES PAY HIKE CRITERION

Regional WLB's to Apply Formula.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

"Wage brackets" will replace "Little Steel formula" as the well-worn phrase of employers, workers, and government officials concerned with wage and salary increases, Robert K. Burns, chairman of the regional war labor board, said yesterday at a press conference.

Burns said that the war labor board's new wage stabilization program developed from a re-interpretation on May 12 by James F. Byrnes, then economic stabilization director, of the executive "hold the line" order of April 8. It is based on the establishment of so called "sound and tested" going wage rate brackets for specific jobs in given areas.

The wage bracket is a range of wage or salary rates reflecting the most frequent minimum and maximum rates for a job in a certain labor market area.

Regional Boards to Decide.

The WLB has granted the regional boards judicial discretion in determining these brackets and in holding wages between the top and bottom rates. They are empowered to approve applications from employers or workers to bring wages or salaries up to the minimum of the bracket and to adjust wages inside the bracket within the restrictions of the Little Steel formula or when necessary to help the prosecution of the war.

Wages or salaries in excess of the maximum rate will not be cut, but no wage increase will be permitted which runs out of bounds of the brackets, Burns explained.

The WLB, with the assistance of the bureau of labor statistics, is conducting the first comprehensive survey of wages and salaries to establish the stabilized wage brackets, he said. Wages and salaries in approximately 75,000 plants, stores, and shops with 7½ million workers will be affected by the new WLB policy in Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North and South Dakota.

1,000 Applicants Pending.

The regional war labor board, Burns said, already has applied the bracket formula for several score jobs in the region and has disposed of 350 applications for wage increases under the new policy. A backlog of more than 1,000 pending applications is being reduced as quickly as wage brackets for the affected jobs are determined.

The RWLB is focussing its attention immediately on compiling data for wage rates in key industries and key job classifications, Burns said. Announcement is expected soon on the brackets for common labor in the Chicago labor market, which will become the basis for determination of differentials for other jobs which are historically related to the basic rate for common labor.

A top range for Chicago labor has been established for tool and die makers at $1.35 to $1.55 an hour. Illustrating how the bracket was determined, Burns said a survey of wages paid tool and die makers in about 40 per cent of Chicago's tool and die shops disclosed that of some 400 workers, the most frequent minimum was $1.35 an hour paid to 32 workers and the most frequent maximum was $1.55 paid to 168 workers. One worker earned as little as $1.12 an hour and one high skilled worker earned more than $2 an hour.

Burns explained that the "stray" rates at the bottom and top are eliminated in determining the stable, tested range. He emphasized that there is no automatic or statistical method of computing the wage brackets. The most frequent rates may not necessarily be selected as the minimum and maximum in all cases because the RWLB in its discretion may select other rates which it believes to be sound and tested.

He emphasized that the wage brackets should not be confused with the most frequent rates or weighted average rates which have been used in the past to determine the basis for wage boosts.

Burns explained that the April 8 order was considered by the WLB so inflexible that it was "unworkable and administratively impossible." The amendment granted the regional war labor boards "judicial discretion" in allowing wage increases to correct substandard wages, maladjustments and gross inequities.

How Brackets Apply.

Explaining how the wage brackets are being used, Burns listed three types of cases to which they apply:

1. Applications for wage increases on the ground that average straight time rates have not reached the level of the Little Steel formula of 15 per cent above Jan. 1, 1941, rates. He indicated the RWLB will be reluctant to apply the full 15 per cent allowance if the resulting wage will exceed the maximum range.

2. Interplant wage adjustments. Increases in wage rates above the minimum going rate generally will not be approved except in "rare and unusual" cases where the employer can demonstrate that war production will be impeded by loss of workers to higher wage plants.

An application will be considered "rare and unusual" if the employ-

Murphy Asks Change in Idle Pay Tax Basis

Francis B. Murphy, state director of labor, yesterday urged that steps be taken to assure that any increased costs in unemployment compensation after the war be borne by the companies responsible for the unemployment. He predicted widespread unemployment when war plants stop producing armaments, and said that unless the new Illinois employment experience or merit rating tax law is revised, war plants with their greatly expanded pay rolls will not bear a fair share of the unemployment compensation load.

Passage of senate bill 398 to amend the experience rating provisions would avoid shifting the load to other employers not involved in post-war layoffs, Murphy said. The bill would restrict employers whose pay rolls have shown large increases since 1940 from getting the full benefit of lowered contribution rates applicable to those who have a record of stable employment.

Seek to Allocate Cost.

"One of the reasons for inclusion of experience rating in the Illinois law was to put unemployment compensation in the state on a sound insurance basis by providing for the allocation of the cost of unemployment to the establishments responsible for such unemployment," Murphy said.

"Reconversion to peace time production is almost certain to cause widespread unemployment. Unless those establishments which have expanded tremendously in the war are required to contribute to the state unemployment compensation fund at a rate reasonably adequate to meet their potential risk to the fund, all 49,000 employers under the act will have to share the costs of future unemployment without regard to relative responsibility."

Potential Liability Raised.

Murphy said 727 employers have expanded their pay rolls more than 100 per cent since 1940. He estimated that these employers have added a potential liability against the fund of $220,797,600. He said that to this figure must be added more than 100 million dollars of benefits potentially payable to eligible returning service men, and the unemployment incident to the operations of employers other than the 727 who have doubled their pay rolls.

The reserve in the Illinois fund was 312 million dollars last Dec. 31, an amount which would be adequate in normal times but not sufficient for post-war unemployment, according to Murphy.

Only Survivor

Henry C. Lytton, dean of State street merchants, yesterday received another honor for his part in making that business thorofare famous thruout the world. In his 96th year, the head of The Hub-Henry C. Lytton & Sons, was presented the "pioneer clock of State street" as the gift of his business associates.

Lytton is the only surviving member of a group of 14 pioneer merchants whom the State Street council recognized 10 years ago as having founded mercantile establishments in Chicago's first century which have grown with the city into her second century.

The clock, made by C. D. Peacock, Inc., oldest firm on State street, is set with 14 porcelain discs upon which are photographs of the pioneers. Members of the presentation committee were Walter L. Gregory of the Palmer House, C. D. Peacock III. of the jewelry firm, R. F. Starr of Marshall Field & Co., Peter Rinkin of Netcher's Boston Store, and Emil L. Audy of Carson Pirie Scott & Co.

ELECTRIC SIGN CURB PROTESTED BY REP. COFFEE

Washington, D. C., June 8 (AP).—Rep. John M. Coffee [D., Wash.] protested to Donald Nelson today against reports that the WPB planned national curtailment of electric sign and display advertising beginning July 1, but a WPB spokesman said there were no such plans.

Coffee wrote Nelson that such orders "are having tremendous repercussions in the extinguishing of small businesses."

"I understand the proposed order empowers the war production board to classify industries according to how essential they are to the war effort." He then asked whether small manufacturers or business men would be heard before such classifications and what formula would be used to determine essentiality.

U. S. REGULATES EVERY ACT, SAYS PLUMBER CHIEF

During no previous war was the economic system of the United States so disturbed as now, T. W. Merryman, president, told the National Association of Master Plumbers' convention in the Morrison hotel yesterday.

"Not only is there an acute shortage in most of the materials we use," he said, "but almost every move we make, both during and after business hours, is either directly regulated or influenced by regulations. Whereas, during preceding wars, business men such as plumbing-heating contractors did their own thinking and ordered their own way of life, others now do most of our thinking for us and we tread unfamiliar paths under guidance thru hampering regulations, restrictions, and commands."

PROFIT SALES PRESS STOCKS LOWER AGAIN

Support Near Close Trims Losses.

New York, June 8 (AP).—Light profit taking depressed stocks again today. Yesterday's decline was resumed at the opening and by noon losses of fractions to more than 2 points were widely distributed. Dealings were relatively quiet, however, and support in the final hour cut materially the size of declines.

Trimming of commitments again was attributed to caution in advance of expected European war developments. Uncertain tax and labor prospects, together with the confusing Argentine situation, helped to accentuate conservatism, brokers said. The most encouraging factor from a price standpoint was the absence of real liquidating pressure. Volume was 1,077,520 shares, against 1,212,820 on Monday.

"Correction" Is Expected.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 0.3 to 51.4. The composite last Saturday touched 52.2, a peak since Nov. 6, 1939, and had climbed nearly 13 full points since last Dec. 1 in one of the sharpest swings in several years. The belief that a "correction" of the long rise was likely added another buying restraint.

In the face of declines in virtually all departments, American Radiator and United Drug registered new peaks for 1943. United Drug gained a point to 13⅜ on reports the company was considering calling its 5 per cent debentures.

CHICAGO LIST DECLINES.

Chicago Stock exchange prices declined yesterday on a turnover of 30,000 shares. SUPERCHARGER MAKER ACQUIRED BY BORG-WARNER

C. S. Davis, president of Borg-Warner corporation, Chicago, yesterday announced acquisition of the McCulloch Engineering corporation, Milwaukee, thru purchase of all its stock.

The Milwaukee company manufactures superchargers for Diesel and gasoline engines, with all production for war use. Robert McCulloch, who founded the company in 1936 thru his interest in automobile and marine racing, will remain as president.

The company will be operated as a self-contained unit, adding a new type of product to the list of items Borg-Warner supplies to automotive, marine, aircraft and farm equipment manufacturers.

North Western to Change Some Schedules Sunday

Schedules of some Chicago and North Western passenger trains operating between Chicago and cities in Wisconsin and Minnesota will be changed, effective Sunday, the road announced yesterday. The Duluth-Superior limited will leave Chicago daily at 6 p. m. instead of 6:15 p. m. The Badger State express will be rerouted at Sparta and Elroy to pass thru Wyville and Camp McCoy instead of Kendalls, Wilton, and Norwalk.

Meat Board Seeks to Halt Beef Output Drop

Asks Reports June 15

Appointment of three subcommittees of the cattle and beef advisory committee to make specific recommendations concerning meat-production and distribution problems, was announced last night after the second closed session of the newly formed war meat board.

The committees will make recommendations in connection with problems described earlier in a statement by Chester C. Davis, war food administrator, and read at the meeting by Lt. Col. Jay L. Taylor, deputy administrator. The committees were:

One of five members under chairmanship of Paul C. Smith of Swift & Co., Chicago, to determine the relationship of the price of slaughter cattle by grades, as reflected by present wholesale price ceilings, and submit a detailed report.

Seek More for Army.

One headed by Art Maurer of the Maurer Packing company, Kansas City, Mo., to recommend additional action to be taken to supply beef requirements of the army and navy, and recommend such ceiling price adjustments as are needed to improve distribution and remove inequities.

One headed by Norris K. Carnes of the Central Coöperative association, South St. Paul, Minn., to report on margins required to feed cattle, based on current costs, recommend policies to be followed by the government to encourage adequate feeding of cattle without feeding to an excessive finish and thru maximum use of pasture and roughage, and to recommend action to encourage cattle marketing.

The board is scheduled to hold its next meeting on June 15, when recommendation from these subcommittees are to be submitted.

Cattle Slaughter Falls

Butchering of sheep and hogs during last month set new all time records for May, but production of beef and veal continued to fall, a report released by the department of agriculture disclosed yesterday. Packers under federal inspection in the month butchered 5,357,261 hogs, the biggest volume since January and the largest for May on record.

The preceding May record was 4,325,000 hogs in 1923. The slaughter in May last year was 4,319,776. During the first five months of 1943 inspected plants butchered 24,247,343 hogs, a record for the period, compared with 23,804,717 in 1924 and 22,373,149 last year.

Sheep Slaughter High.

Packers slaughtered 1,622,078 sheep and lambs, the largest for any month since January and a new May record. The preceding May record was 1,584,000 in 1925. The five months' sheep total also was a record at 7,798,181, compared with 7,731,086 last year.

Only 774,474 cattle were butchered by inspected packers last month, the smallest total since March, 1941, and the lowest volume for May in five years. The largest May total on record was established at 908,000 in 1941, seven months prior to this country's entry into the war. A year ago the May slaughter was 885,153. The five months' total of 4,274,762 cattle, compared with 4,718,623 last year, which is the record.

Only 327,606 calves were slaughtered for veal, the smallest total for any month since February, 1933, and the lowest for a May since 1916. This compared with 470,809 in May last year and with a May record of 600,000 in 1934. In five months of 1943 packers butchered only 1,773,552 calves, compared with 2,295,339 last year and a five months' record of 2,568,000 in 1934.

Hog Prices Slump

The biggest June run in nine years dropped hog prices to new 1943 lows in the Chicago stock yards yesterday. Arrivals totaled 41,000 head, including 19,200 shipped direct to packers. This was the largest day's volume handled here since December, 1940 and the heaviest for June since the drouth year of 1934. Receipts were 22,159 Tuesday of last week and 28,498 a year ago.

Prices fell 10 to 40 cents, with several thousand hogs left at the close carrying bids 45 cents lower.

Talk of the "guaranteed" bottom of $13.75 a hundred pounds was revived in the Chicago market when a few prime heavy butchers sold slightly below the $14 line for the first time this year and reports came in from small markets in Ohio and Indiana of sales down to $13.50. The Chicago top was $14.25. The average for the entire session was down 25 cents to $14.05, lowest since Dec. 16.

Cattle Market Firmer.

The consensus of the trade is that there is nothing to prevent packers from buying hogs below the $13.75 price mentioned several weeks ago by Claude Wickard, secretary of agriculture. The secretary said that the government, if necessary, would come into the market and buy live hogs or sufficient product to maintain a $13.75 price in the Chicago stockyards.

Activity improved in other branches of the live stock market. Most steers and yearlings were bought within a range of $14.50 to $16.50, steady to strong, compared with the preceding day. Heifers also brought stronger prices, while fully steady prices were paid for other classes of cattle.

New crop native lambs were bought as high as $16.50 and best old crop wool stock reached $16.

Dollar Watch Added to War Casualty List

Along with such war casualties as bicycles, alarm clocks, and automobile tires, the inexpensive watch has disappeared from the show cases of Chicago stores, dealers said yesterday.

Where it once was possible to purchase a time piece for as little as 79 cents, the minimum price today is about $9, and watches in any price range are scarce, it was said. Increased purchasing power, the big demand by war workers whose peace jobs did not require a watch, and the conversion of manufacturers to war work accounts for the shortage, dealers explained.

Manufacture of the three most popular American makes of low priced watches was ordered halted in April, 1942, but manufacturers were granted limited extensions until November. Because of the big demand, however, dealers were prevented from laying in stocks, with the result that these makes no longer are available.

Some Swiss makes still are being imported tho not in sufficient quantities to ease the shortage, and prices are higher. Distributors "ration" the available supplies among the retail dealers.

Dealers said watch repairing also is a problem. Loop jewelers and department store spokesmen estimated it requires four to eight weeks for the average repair job, and attributed the situation not only to the shortage of parts but to the lack of repairmen, many of whom have taken skilled war jobs.

People and Events

William Allan Patterson of Chicago, president of the United Air Lines Transport corporation, was elected a director of the Insurance Company of North America, John A. Diemand, company president, announced yesterday. He succeeds the late Joseph Wayne Jr.

Harry A. Tremaine of Hicks & Price, and William E. Henry of the Norris Grain company, have been admitted to membership in the Chicago Board of Trade.

The St. Charles Manufacturing company, St. Charles, Ill., has been awarded the army-navy "E" award. The banner will be presented at the plant on Tuesday.

STANDARD GAS RECEIVER PLAN DENIED BY SEC

Philadelphia, Pa., June 8 (AP).—A motion by a stockholder of the Standard Gas and Electric company, asking the securities and exchange commission to petition the federal courts to appoint a receiver was denied today by the commission.

The New York stockholder described the proposed recapitalization plan as "a gross fraud and injustice on the holders of preferred stock."

BANK PROBLEMS ON MAN POWER TO BE DISCUSSED

Man power problems of banks will head the discussion program of the American Institute of Banking when it opens a two day war time conference at the Drake hotel today, David E. Simms, president, said yesterday. Simms is assistant manager of the Salt Lake City branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco. The institute is the educational section of the American Bankers association.

Speakers and discussion leaders at the first session will include William H. Spencer, regional director of the war man power commission; William Powers, deputy manager in charge of personnel relations for the A. B. A.; Marion G. Rehfuss, of the Corn Exchange Bank and Trust company, Philadelphia, and Dr. William A. Irwin, educational director of the institute.

GROCERS SEEK ONE PRICE TOP FOR EACH FOOD

The Illinois Wholesale Grocers' association announced yesterday it had sent copies of resolutions to President Roosevelt requesting modification of OPA percentage markups, a single ceiling price for every brand of food in a particular community or area, and appointment of a regional committee of wholesale grocers to advise regional OPA office. The resolutions, sent from the association's Peoria headquarters, were adopted last week at the annual meeting in Chicago.

MIDDLE WEST CREATES MOST WEALTH IN 1942

Bank Deposits Rise 2 Billions.

How middle west farms and factories created wealth and poured it into the banks last year in a volume that led all other parts of the nation was disclosed yesterday in compilations made by the treasury department.

A study of the figures revealed that the 7th [Chicago] reserve district had a larger gain in bank deposits than any other district. At the end of 1942 the total deposits of individuals, partnerships, and corporations in commercial and mutual savings banks of the Chicago district were up $2,034,089,000 from the figures a year earlier, at $10,026,303,000 against $7,992,214,000.

San Francisco Is Only Rival.

The only other area that even approached the Chicago district increase was the San Francisco reserve district, which had a gain of $1,953,733,000, with a total of $7,628,627,000 on Dec. 31, 1942, and $5,674,894,000 at the end of 1941. The New York district had only a little more than half as large a gain as the Chicago district, altho its total of deposits was much larger.

Asked what accounted for the huge gain in the middle west, officials of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said agricultural production and industrial output, particularly war production, were the primary factors. John K. Langum, assistant vice president of the bank in charge of research and statistics, said that the 7th district has the largest agricultural output and war production volume of any of the 12 reserve districts.

Gains by Areas Given.

The 7th district includes parts of Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, and Indiana, and all of Iowa.

The treasury reported that deposits rose 749 million dollars in the Illinois portion of the district last year to 4 billion 715 millions, 238 millions in the Indiana portion to 1 billion 46 millions; 192 millions in Iowa to 857 millions, 638 millions in the Michigan portion to 2 billion 319 millions, and 217 millions in the Wisconsin portion to 1 billion 89 millions at the year end.

The gain for all 12 reserve districts was 10 billion 629 millions.

GRAIN FUTURES RISE FRACTIONS IN SLOW TRADE

Grain futures trading on the Chicago Board of Trade was slow yesterday, but demand was sufficient to advance prices fractionally. July oats reached a new peak at 65⅜ cents a bushel.

Wheat was unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel higher at the close. Oats were up ¼ to ½ cent, and rye rose ⅛ to ½ cent. Corn futures were not traded, and cash market trading was quiet.

Wheat futures again marked time and were easy early in the session under scattered commission house selling. Oats were independently firm thruout the day.

'WAGE BRACKET' TO BE CRITERION FOR PAY BOOSTS

Regional WLBs to Apply New Formula.

er shows he is engaged in an essential or locally needed industry as determined by the war man power commission, that he has complied with WMC hiring and labor utilization programs, and has a certificate from appropriate government agencies that loss of workers will impair war production.

3. Intraplant wage adjustments. When wage differentials within a plant are disturbed by the granting of wage increases to eliminate substandard wages, by the application of the Little Steel formula or the application of the longer work week, the RWLB may approve adjustments for workers in immediately related jobs.

The RWLB also is empowered to establish wage rates in defining substandard wages in its area. These rates must be approved by the national WLB.

Others Handle Merit Cases.

Burns said that the wage and hour division of the labor department has been authorized to dispose of applications for individual wage increases based on established promotion, incentive pay, or merit recognition programs.

Altho less delay was indicated in disposal of wage questions before the regional WLB, a bottleneck still exists in undetermined cases before the salary stabilization unit operated by the bureau of internal revenue at 327 South La Salle street.

Porter M. Linder, regional director, said the agency had not received the specific instructions under which the WLB units are operating, and had been unable to clear a substantial number of requests for salary increases in its six state area of jurisdiction. He said the agency already had acted upon wage adjustments clearly within the economic stabilization regulations, but was forced to delay decisions on others pending clarification of President Roosevelt's "hold the line" order.

Clarifying instructions have not yet been issued by the commissioner of internal revenue on allowable salary increases for employés under the agency's jurisdiction—those with salaries of $5,000 or more a year, and employés in supervisory positions regardless of salary or wage level.

Office Workers' Brackets.

Among the first wage brackets determined for the Chicago area by the RWLB wage rate board were the following weekly salaries for 40 hours:

The brackets for the office workers were determined on the basis of data compiled by the Office Management Association of Chicago in a survey of 59 firms in 16 industries with 11,130 employés. Hopewell Rogers, board chairman of the Belden Manufacturing company and a member of the RWLB, dissented from the wage rate board's decision on these rates and favored the adoption of earlier rates based on a study by the national industrial conference board of 30 establishments with 5,300 employés.

The regional board set the following wage brackets for emergency male labor in canning plants, 42½ cents to 72½ cents an hour in Minnesota and Wisconsin, and 42½ to 77½ cents an hour in Illinois and Indiana. These were special rates to attract seasonal labor to the canning industry.

Truckers Ask Raise O. K.

The Chicago area motor transport industry has asked the RWLB to give it special consideration as it did the canners. Motor truck operators have appealed to the board to grant approval for wage increases which would help them retain drivers and other workers. The industry reported that 250 trucks are idle because of the lack of mechanics.

DAY BY DAY ON THE FARM

The FARM by Gail Compton

June 9, 1943.

THE FLOCKMASTER has discovered one labor saving short cut that doesn't pay. In an effort to reduce chores the flock of sheep was bred in the late fall and allowed to lamb on pasture this spring without the usual human assistance. The results have been poor, and this method will not be followed again.

So far there are seven living lambs out of 13 born. There was only one set of twins, and one of these died soon after it was dropped. There still are five ewes left to lamb and these will get close attention from the flockmaster.

He decided last fall that if the ewes were bred for late spring lambing they should be able to get along by themselves in the pasture. Usually at lambing time the flockmaster has to devote all his days and nights to the flock.

Two Casualties in Pasture.

The first lambs born came during the cold wet weather and fortunately were in the barn. Because of this the flockmaster was able to look after them and saved all but one.

Then two ewes had their lambs in the pasture while the men were in the fields working. In the evening the workers noticed that the two ewes looked as if their lambs had come but there was no sign of them. The two lambs were found only after two men searched the entire pasture. Altho normal in every respect, the lambs died of suffocation soon after birth.

After this the losses began to mount. Another ewe had her lamb on the grass and walked off and left it to die. Yet another lamb was too weak to nurse and also died. All of this could have been avoided if the flockmaster had been able to spend his time with the ewes.

Find Ewe Needs Care.

This year, however, the flockmaster is doubling in brass and when weather permits is running the grain drill or corn planter. In addition he has to take care of all the chickens, ducks, and turkeys.

The failure of the lambing season brought home a lesson the men knew already but were hoping wasn't true—that is, the Southdown sheep need close attention during lambing, as do most breeds, and a small farm flock has little chance of proving profitable unless it is possible to devote enough time to it.

Sheep require little work during the rest of the year. About the only time they must be thought of is before breeding and at lambing time. Aside from these two periods they can run free in the pasture and need to be checked once a day to see that they have water and salt and are not bloating from the grass.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

A SHARP hoe and a file or whetstone to keep it sharp are important items to the careful gardener at this season of the year. The periodic rains have proved a boon to the weed crops because they have kept gardens so wet that it has been impossible to cultivate consistently. Persistent work with a hoe at every opportunity during the rest of the season will pay extra dividends in increased production.

The gardener of the sample plots on the Wheaton farm recently extended his potato and sweet corn patch and in doing so had to plow up a sodded area which contained considerable quack grass. Now that this area [about 600 square feet] has been planted, the quack grass is getting the sharpened hoe treatment. By persistently shearing the quack grass shoots just below ground level the troublesome roots can be starved.

The same sort of cultivation will eliminate bindweed, or wild morning glory, another pest which has received considerable encouragement by this spring's weather. If allowed to mature, it can cover and smother many garden crops.

ASSOCIATED GAS.

Can you provide a report on the status of the Associated Gas and Electric company?—C. S.

Answer: Associated Gas and Electric company, top holding company in a one-time "billion dollar" public utility system thru its control of the Associated Gas and Electric corporation, is undergoing reorganization. Both the company and the subsidiary filed petitions for reorganization under the federal bankruptcy law in January, 1940.

Altho several plans for reorganization have been proposed, none has been adopted as yet. As recently as March, 1943, a new plan was recommended by the general protective committee, representing holders of fixed interest obligations of the company. The committee proposed the formation of one new top holding company to take over, "in behalf of creditors," the remaining assets of the Associated Gas and Electric system.

Reorganization proposals advanced thus far suggest that holders of the various classes of stock of the company will not participate in the reorganization.

The securities and exchange commission, in an order effective Aug. 15, 1942, removed the company's class A stock from listed trading on the New York Curb exchange and the Los Angeles Stock exchange. The order also removed the common and the $5 preferred stocks from unlisted trading on the New York Curb exchange.

MONEY FOR INCOME TAXES
DUE JUNE 15
Higher living costs and larger pay roll deductions may make it difficult for you to pay the 2d installment of your Federal Income Taxes on June 15th. If so, get the cash you need from Commonwealth. Our monthly rate is only 3% on balances of $150 or less, and 2½% on that part of the unpaid balance over $150, which makes the cost quite moderate for short term loans. Repay us in convenient installments . . . it is decidedly more convenient and far less burdensome than making a large lump-sum payment, and besides, you can rid yourself of other troublesome bills at the same time. Get any amount, $20 to $300.
